The Soviets and Your Furnace!

A citizen halted me on the street, saying, "I never liked the English anyhow and it sure amuses me to see them squirming because Iran has nationalized their oil, just as the British have nationalized their steel."

"You got an oil furnace by any chance?" I asked.

"I have, now you mention it," he said.

"If it's a cold winter," I said, "you may not think so well of the Iranians."

America's old habits of isolation and sufficiency still dominate our thinking. That the problem of Iran's oil and the British refinery on the Persian Gulf fits into the pattern of Soviet aggression never seems to occur to most of those who seem to enjoy what mistakenly seems to be merely the discomfiture of the British Labor Government.

The Middle East is a vast area of almost 4,000,000 square miles. It includes the Arabian Peninsula governments as well as Egypt, Hashemite Jordan, Arab Palestine, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Israel, Syria and Turkey. Only the "Fertile Crescent," lying between the mountains and the Syrian Desert, plus the Nile Delta, is good land. The capacity to sustain life is low. It is roughly twice the area of India, yet supports about 70,000,000 persons, about one-sixth India's population.

Not Just Oil

Its chief importance is strategic—not just oil.

It was not until Napoleon reached Egypt that the British really became fearful. The late German Kaiser knew that if a great world power could obtain control of the Middle East that power could laugh at the seapower nations of Great Britain and the United States. We remember Lawrence of Arabia as a sort of romantic movie-story character when in reality he was engaged in the great and desperate effort to hold that region for the Allies.

Hitler moved for it. A sorely beset Great Britain flung all she could to Montgomery so that he drove Rommel from the gates of Egypt and prevented him from fanning out and occupying it and other areas already about won over to the Nazis. We, too, moved into Africa.

Now, the Soviets press toward it. Possession of that great area means more than oil.

That's why we properly supported Greece and Turkey in these recent years.

The Soviets, once we were involved with the Chinese and split by the MacArthur controversy, stepped up the pressure in Iran, needled the nationalism there to great extremes.

If we widen the war, according to the MacArthur policy, we may expect that Soviet pressure to break out elsewhere. There was Soviet gold behind the fighting along the Israeli-Syriar border.

If we bog down in China the Soviets would then know they could launch an attack in Europe and into the Middle East with likely success.

Oil

So, it is not just a British problem. Oil from Iran powers British planes and trains and most of the trains and factories of Western Europe.

The United States imports about 3 million barrels a month from the Middle East. Fortunately most of our oil—and we use 6 million barrels each day of the world's daily production of 10 million barrels—come from Colombia and Venezeula—and for example, a short month, we imported 9 million barrels from the Caribbean producers and 2.5 million from the Middle East.

Loss of Iran's 100,000 barrels per day would be a catastrophe to Western Europe—and the Atlantic Pact. The heavier burden would fall on us and our own consumers.

The Soviets don't yet want war. Why shouldn't they? They want us involved more deeply in China, and they then want Europe's economy to break through lack of oil. The strain would grow greater on us to supply our own and our Allied needs.

Our home furnaces may not glow so warmly next winter.

The oil of Iran means much more than just a British dilemma. It is a part of the Soviet pattern, stepped up while we quarrel over whether to fight MacArthur's idea of war or not. They know Congress is impotent and split. If they can manage to have the great industrial power of the German Ruhr fall in their hands by halting Iran's oil it will be worth more than winning many battles.

Federal Tax On Sweets Considered

Study Soft Drinks, Ice Cream Sources

WASHINGTON, May 13—(INS)—A Federal tax on candy, soft drinks and possibly ice cream is under consideration by House tax writers who are seeking new revenue sources to foot the staggering defense bill.

The tax-drafting House Ways and Means Committee takes up Monday President Truman's proposal for higher excise levies on tobacco products, including a three-cents-per-pack boost on cigarettes.

Later in the week it is expected to reach a decision on applying taxes to items not now subject to excises.

Authoritative sources said the Committee's staff of experts has suggested to the 25-member group these possible levies:

Soft Drinks—A tax of one cent on each bottle of 16 ounces or less to bring in $280,000,000 a year.

Candy — A tax calculated to bring in $230,000,000 on bars costing five cents or more.

The soft-drink tax, if imposed, would be applied to drinks served at soda fountains as well as in bottles.

No tax proposal has been submitted to the Committee on ice cream, but members said privately if a levy is voted on the other two items it may also be imposed on this commodity.

The taxes would be paid by the manufacturer, who would be permitted to pass them on to consumers in the form of higher prices.

Rep. Eberharter, Democrat, said he will sponsor an amendment to the tax bill now being drafted by the Committee to impose a one-cent tax on soft drinks. It was understood another member will offer the motion for a tax on candy.

Two Children Perish, Three Hurt in Fire

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13—(INS)—Two babies burned to death, their mother was in critical condition and two other persons received serious burns when fire swept through a cottage in the Presidio Officers' quarters before dawn Sunday.

The two victims were the young children of Capt. and Mrs. Ellus G. Burns—Peggy, nearly 2, and Graham, not quite 2 months old. Their older brother, Tinker, 5, was reported in 'fair" condition.

Mrs. Nancy Burns, 27, the children's mother, was in critical condition at Letterman General Hospital on the Army reservation. She and her older son were rescued from the blazing building by Capt. Loran A. Pace, who received first and second-degree burns on the face and hands.

Pace and his son, Vernon, 20, who occupied a duplex apartment in the same cottage where the fire broke out, said the heat from the blaze was so intense it was impossible to go back into the Burns' apartment to rescue the two babies.

Capt. Burns, attending special service adjutant's school at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., was notified of the tragedy and was reported preparing to fly immediately to San Francisco.

Iran Leader Voices Fear Of Assassins

BY MICHAEL CLARK

TEHRAN, May 13—Declaring himself to be in imminent danger of assassination Premier Mohammed Mossadegh Sunday took refuge in parliament building with the avowed intention of remaining in that sanctuary until nationalization of the Iranian oil industry had been completed.

At the end of an impassioned speech before the Majlis (lower house), the aged Premier, overcome with emotion, fainted and fell to the floor. A number of deputies rushed forward while others, stunned, remained silent in their seats.

Mossadegh

Mossadegh was carried from the assembly and taken to the "opposition room," a Chamber set aside for use of the extremist National Front of which he is founder and leader.

Summoned from his dispensary, the parliamentary physician immediately administered tincture of valerian. Mossadegh's pulse was reported back to normal at 1 p. m.

When the session was over, a group of his friends brought Mossadegh news that the deputies had selected five of their number to serve on the joint Majlis-senate liquidation committee which, under the oil nationalization law, must take over the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company in the name of the state. Greatly elated, the premier embraced the messengers of good tidings one by one.

Later, through his intimate associate, Hussein Makki, Mossadegh declared: "The late oil company (meaning Anglo-Iranian) is resolutely determined to destroy me. Therefore I cannot go home or return to my office but must remain here until oil nationalization becomes an accomplished fact."

It was announced Sunday afternoon that two rooms in the Majlis were being hastily prepared for Mossadegh's occupancy, one as his office, the other as lodgings.

The Premier's speech, which

Marshall Returns For Seventh Day

By JAY WALZ

WASHINGTON, May 13—The Senate inquiry into the administration's conduct of Far Eastern affairs is expected to reach the end of the first round Monday.

But whether 10 days of questioning, first of General of the Army, MacArthur, on the one side, then of Secretary of Defense Marshall on the other, has turned congressional thinking on the basic issues could only be pondered Sunday by leaders on Capitol Hill.

Sunday night, W. Averell Harriman, special assistant to President Truman, staunchly defending the view of the Administration and Gen. Marshall, charged in a radio debate that Gen. MacArthur had never shown "how, or at what cost, or when" war, fought along broader lines, could be won.

Sen. Bridges, Republican, New Hampshire, an Administration foe, denied this. He said Gen. MacArthur had presented "the only positive program for China."

Gen. Marshall, who has already undergone six straight days of interrogation, will probably finish his testimony about noon Monday, it was indicated. In any event, he plans to be in Lexington, Ky., Tuesday to be honored by the Virginia Military Institute, his alma mater.

RUSSELL GETS FACTS

Sen. Russell, Democrat, Georgia, who is chairman of the investigating (foreign relations and armed services) committee, has voiced no conclusions about developments so far, but wants all the facts revealed.

"If lengthy examination is required, we will have it," he told a reporter. Sen. Connally, Democrat, Texas, who is chairman of the foreign relations committee, said he thought the hearing would "run for a long, long time."

The prospect is that, if members of the committees complete their questioning of General Marshall Monday morning, Frank Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, will follow. Other joint chiefs are also expected to be called. These are: Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff; Adm. Forrest Sherman, chief of naval operations, and Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, the Air Force chief of staff.

Secretary of State Acheson, himself a center of controversy in the Far East dispute, will, in all probability, follow the military spokesmen to the witness chair.

TWO TOP ISSUES

Sen. Johnson, Democrat, Texas, a member of the inquiring group, said Sunday the investigation so far had shown two main issues to be dominant in the controversy.

"1. The method employed in relieving General MacArthur from his command in the Far East.

"2. Which course—Gen. Mac-

Britain Alerts 'Chute Aces For Overseas

LONDON, Monday, May 14—(U.P.)—Britain has alerted its crack 16th parachute brigade—the self-sufficient emergency combat force—for possible duty overseas within the next few days, it was reported Sunday.

The alert orders cancelled unfinished training exercises and recalled men absent on Whitsunday leaves to the Aldershot Airborne Training Center. Reports that the men were being issued tropical uniforms and receiving inoculations for yellow fever could not be confirmed.

London's early morning newspapers carried the report of the alert alongside dispatches reporting Premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran had taken refuge within the Iranian parliament building in Tehran.

A spokesman for the British war office said the brigade was not yet under orders to travel and "not necessarily" leaving the country.

The brigade, 3,000-men strong, is a self-contained group made up of airborne infantry, artillery, engineering signalmen and medical aide men.

Royall Changes Mind, Says Gen. MacArthur Is Wrong

NEW YORK, May 13—(AP)—Former Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall said Sunday he has changed his mind and now thinks Gen. MacArthur is wrong in his Far East policy dispute with President Truman.

Royall told a communion breakfast his first impression was that MacArthur was "entirely correct" in his view that U. S. planes should bomb Manchurian bases.

Kenneth Royall

"At that time," he said, "I did not feel any material danger of war as a result of the bombing. However, as I listened to both sides I changed my opinion for two reasons:

"One, the Korean War was apparently the first step in a larger plan to Communize all of Asia. Second, if we were to bomb Manchuria I thought there would be a retaliation against Japan, at least, and that under the Russo-China treaty any involvement with Japan might necessarily lead to World War III."

The former cabinet officer said he now agrees with Defense Secretary Marshall "that we should not bomb Manchurian bases unless we are threatened with being thrown out of Korea, which I doubt, or unless there is some attack by the Chinese on some territory outside of Korea."

Royall discounted the proposed use of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist troops against Red China's forces.

"They (the Nationalist troops) were never any good," he said. "We sent millions of dollars in aid to Chiang Kai-shek; his army was three times the size of the Communists, but he so lacked the confidence of the people and his troops were so poor the Communists beat him back."

The MacArthur-Truman controversy, Royall said, might be the turning point in avoiding another world war because it has "convinced the Russian leaders that America as a whole is determined to fight Communism."

Fair, Warmer Two-Day Menu

Fair skies and warm weather are forecast to bring Atlantans out to the parks and playgrounds Monday and Tuesday.

The temperature Monday is expected to rise from an early-morning low of 54 to a day's high of 82. Tuesday's high is expected to be 84, with a morning low of 58.

Husband Slain, Kills Her Dad

CHASE CITY, Va, May 13—(U.P.)—An elopement ended in tragedy Sunday as a distraught father shot and killed his son-in-law in a drunken rage and was shot to death by his daughter.

Police said the double slaying occurred at a rural farm house near this small tobacco town in southern Virginia as farmer H. T. Salmon, 52, sought to wipe out "everybody concerned" with the elopement of his daughter, Isabel, 24, and her fiance, Edward Farrar, 24.

J. T. Blackwell, 21, husband of Salmon's 16-year-old daughter, Frances, was killed by a shotgun blast, police said, as he tried to prevent the farmer from carrying out his threat to shoot the wedding party.

GEORGIA VISITOR

Isabel shot her father with a .22-caliber rifle as he hunted the others, officers said.

Salmon reported the disappearance of both daughters two weeks ago and said he feared they had been abducted. The newlyweds, with Frances and Richard Dix, 35, had returned home happily only Saturday night.

Commonwealth's Attorney M. C. Dortch said Salmon had been drinking heavily since the group returned from the two-week wedding trip to Georgia. Sunday, Dortch said he learned, Salmon obtained a shotgun and threatened to kill the girls, Farrar and Dix.

Blackwell picked up a rifle in an effort to stop Salmon, Dortch said, but a blast from the shotgun tore away the top of his skull.

RAN AROUND HOUSE

The girls said their father then ran around the house hunting the others. Isabel said she slipped into the house, got the rifle and shot her father in the back as he stood in the front yard.

The blonde Frances and brunette Isabel ran to a neighbor's home in a state of hysteria and the neighbor notified police.

Farrar and Dix gave themselves up and were jailed in near-by Boydton on the abduction warrant sworn out earlier by Salmon. Dortch said they probably would be released, since the girls told him the elopement had been planned and they voluntarily went on the trip.

Sixth Round Wage Hike Pressure Alarms Capital

By LOUIS STARK
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, May 13—Mounting pressure by organized labor for what in some cases would be a sixth "round" of wage increases since the end of World War II is causing some apprehension among government officials.

The Wage Stabilization Board is for the present holding the dam against a spate of new wage increases. However, expiring wage contracts and voluntary wage agreements already completed but not Government-approved threaten to break through the barrier erected by the old wage stabilization board last January.

Both labor and industry are eyeing the Wage Board anxiously. If the Board should decide upon a substantial change in policy it is assumed that all contracts would be revised.

Such a change in policy would be effected in one or more ways: It might take the form of increasing the 10-percent wage adjustment now permitted over the base period of January, 1950.

WAGE BOARD PROBLEMS

If the Wage Board permits the so-called "annual improvement factor," which is found in some agreements, to extend to many or all industries it would unbalance many wage relationships. Those employees whose contracts lack such improvement factors would clamor for them.

Since the Defense Production Act expires on June 30, and escalator clauses up to that date have been approved by the Wage Stabilization Board, the question will arise: what about those employees in industries who do not have escalation?

It is being suggested that since escalation means a piercing of the ten percent allowance ceiling the wage stabilization authorities will be unable to prevent escalation clauses from leaping to those industries which lack it by June 30.

Another hole may be bored in the wage freeze dam by Wage Board concessions on "fringe" issues such as vacations and holidays with pay, pensions, insurance, sick leave and such items.

WAGE ROUNDS

Wage increases by "rounds" is not considered by some government economists as an exact method of measuring wage adjustments. It is a term which has come into general use as an approximation of what has been happening in the wage field.

Some industries have had five wage boosts since the end of

Rollins College Head Is Fired; 19 Reinstated

Dr. Wagner

The Board simultaneously announced the immediate appointment of art professor Hugh F. McKean as Acting President of the exclusive little institution.

Wagner's dismissal was unanimously approved at a meeting of 11 trustees in New York last month, trustee H. George Carrison announced at a meeting of some 100 faculty members and townspeople.

"The trustees voted to terminate Wagner's stay at Rollins because one paramount fact became increasingly evident the last month of his administration," a statement by the trustees said. "That was that his services in behalf of the college have not contributed to the best interests of the institution."

The trustees also reinstated the 19 permanent faculty members whom Wagner fired two months ago.

The board said it had approved Wagner's recommendations to fire one-third of the Rollins faculty because of his claims that enrollment would drop sharply as a result of the national emergency and because of the little school's desperate financial condition.

"An expectation of such a drastic drop in enrollment is not at this time justified," the board said. "(And) we want to make it a matter of public record that the college expects to complete this year's operations with an operating surplus of over $134,000."

McKean, who has taught art at Rollins for 20 years, said he would serve as president without pay. Appointed as his two administrative assistants at the same board meeting were Alfred J. Hanna of the history department and John M. Tiedke, college treasurer and

U. S. Ships Take ROKS From Trap

UN Patrols Probe For Massing Reds

TOKYO, Monday, May 14—South Korean forces fought a stubbornly resisting enemy on the eastern front in Korea Sunday while in the west and center, patrols ranged out ahead of the United Nations lines, seeking Chinese and North Korean invaders concentrating for an expected resumption of their shattered Spring offensive.

Reinforced United Nations forces, backed by airplanes and artillery, drove the enemy from bunkers north of Uijongbu, Eighth Army headquarters said Monday morning, but except in the East only platoon and company strength units were in contact. On the left flank of the Allied line, enemy resistance stiffened along the Soyang River in the Inge sector. A daylong attack by an estimated 700 enemy from 2:30 a. m. to 8 p. m. northeast of the town forced UN troops to withdraw to "predetermined positions," army headquarters said.

In a daring amphibious operation, U. S. and South Korean warships took off a short party of the South Korean navy surrounded by the enemy near Kansong, north of the 38th parallel on the east coast.

An ROK navy blockade ship of UN Task Force 95 brought its guns to bear on the Communists and then slipped in close to shore to evacuate the South Korean force. The U. S. destroyer Orleck pumped 150 rounds of five-inch shells into the enemy at point-blank range, dispersing the encircling troops.

The naval announcement gave few details of the operation and failed to disclose the mission of the naval shore party. On previous occasions, however, South Korean marines have frequently landed from the sea in the enemy rear and sometimes maintained themselves for considerable periods, operating with Republican guerrillas of the Communist communication lines. Naval headquarters operations reports have

$23,000 Home Given Blinded Iwo Veteran

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

LAKEWOOD, N. J., May 13—(AP)—Ray Marine, a former marine who lost his sight in the battle for Iwo, stood Sunday with his seeing-eye dog and his bride-to-be on the threshold of his new $23,000 home—a gift from friends in Lakewood and environs. The gift has been five years in the making.

Ray Marine couldn't see his new one-and-a-half-story, cedar-paneled home, but he could feel it and smell its aromatic newness. And he listened intently as Mary Jane Shafto, the future Mrs. Marine, described it in detail.

Miss Shafto, a nurse, lives next door to the veterinarian who treats Marine's dog. It was on one of the veteran's visits that they met. Sunday they stood hand in hand as civic leaders presented the deed to them and gave them the keys.

The blind veteran choked a bit as he said: "We hold here in our hands what couldn't be held in a Communist nation. You ask what we are fighting for. Well, here—" and he held up the deed and the keys. "Thanks from the bottom of our hearts."

Marine and Miss Shafto were surrounded by town notables, church dignitaries and members of the building trades—all of whom had contributed money, time or labor to make the gift possible.

Body of Missing ABC Newsman Found in Norwegian Waters

OLSO, Norway, May 13—(AP)—The body of Lyford Moore, 40, American Broadcasting Company correspondent who disappeared in Oslo last December, was found Sunday by a police patrol boat in inner Oslo fjord.

Prof. Georg Waaler, head of the Norwegian medico-legal institute, said the body's identity was established by fingerprints.

It showed no signs of death by violence, Waaler said. Further investigation into the cause of death will be made, he added.

The body was found floating in the water near the western shore of the fjord just south of the city.

Remains of Moore's clothing still were on his body, but the pockets were empty. No documents or money could be found.

Moore's disappearance had baffled Oslo police. He had come here with a party of United States Air Force men from Germany who were making an exchange of Christmas gifts between Norwegian airmen and American airmen in North Africa.

Moore was assigned as ABC news manager in Berlin and had been there with his wife and two children since 1944.

He was last seen when he left a restaurant in Oslo's downtown dock area on the night of Dec. 10. Four days later, the American embassy here announced he had disappeared and asked Oslo police to conduct a search.

A reward of $2,800 was offered for information leading to his discovery. Daniel O'Connor, a Washington attorney, was sent here by Moore's family to join in the investigation.

The Oslo harbor was dragged and an intensive search was conducted, but no trace of the missing newsman could be found.

O'Connor then said the principal theory was that Moore had been killed in an accident but that he personally felt there was a strong possibility of murder.

Moore worked on the Detroit Free Press before entering radio news work in Spokane, Wash. During the war, he was with the Office of War Information. Later he joined the British news agency Reuter, which he left for ABC.

UN Gets Aid Plan For Backward Areas

Program Costing Billions Proposed by Committee

By WALTER SULLIVAN
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 13—A bold and comprehensive blueprint for development of the backward areas of the world, drafted by a special committee of experts at the request of the United Nations, was made public here Sunday.

It made extensive proposals for action by under-developed countries, by industrialized countries and by the United Nations. Outstanding among the latter were the following recommendations:

1. To triple present loans of the Internationational Bank for reconstruction and development so that within five years they reach an annual level of $1,000,000,000.

2. To establish an "international development authority" which would make grants-in-aid to under-developed countries at an eventual rate of about $3,000,000,000 a year.

ECONOMIC COMMISSION

3. To create an "economic commission for Africa," to match similar United Nations commissions for other areas.

4. To study the possible formation of an International Finance Corporation which would make equity investments and lend to private enterprises in under-developed countries.

Monday the 18-nation Economic, Employment and Development Commission will begin a session that is expected to run for about two weeks. The primary item before it will be this proposed program. The membership of this Commission includes all the great powers.

It will add its comments and recommendations. Then the report will be considered by the Economic Committee of the Economic and Social Council. The latter meets in Geneva during July. Finally the Council itself will take it up.

The proposals made Sunday by the five-member committee are in some respects similar to those made in March by the International Development Advisory Board, headed by Nelson Rockefeller. Both reports, for example, cited the need for an International Finance Corporation to make equity investments since the International bank cannot do so.

MEMBERS OF COMMITTEE

The members of the United Nations committee were chosen by Secretary General Trygve Lie at the request of the Economic and Social Council. They were:

W. Arthur Lewis, professor of political economy at the University of Manchester, England; Alberto Baltra Cortez, professor of economics at the National University of Chile; D. R. Gadgil, director of the Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics at Poona, India; George Hakim, counselor of the Lebanese delegation in Washington; and Theodore W. Schultz, chairman of the economics department at the University of Chicago.

Lie linked their blueprint with his "twenty-year program for achieving peace through the United Nations." Indicating his special interest he personally wrote the preface. He noted the report expressed the unanimous view of the five experts. The five acted on their own responsibility, rather than as government representatives, and this was reflected in the boldness of their approach.

They noted that in many parts of the world economic progress has been blocked by a ruling class seeking to preserve its privileges. Often "painful readjustments" are necessary.

"Ancient philosophies have to be scrapped, old social institutions have to disintegrate, bonds of caste, creed and race have to be burst, and large numbers of persons who cannot keep up with progress have to have their expectations of a comfortable life frustrated. Very few communities are willing to pay the full price of rapid economic progress," the report said.

"In our judgment," it continued, "there are a number of underdeveloped countries where the concentration of economic and political power in the hands of a small class, whose main interest is the preservation of its own wealth and privileges, rules out the prospect of much economic progress until a social revolution has effected a shift in the distribution of income and power."

It said that rapid economic progress was not responsible until all levels of society, from politicians to priests, from engineers to journalists, were willing to purge privilege from their society.

Mother's Day Taxes Wire Service Here

Mother's Day sentiment took over Atlanta's telephone and telegraph lines Sunday causing delays up to six hours in long distance calls to some points.

Both Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company and Western Union Telegraph Company reported message traffic noticeably higher this year, much of it originating in Army camps.

Spokesmen for both companies said Mother's Day had replaced Easter as the nation's second most communicative holiday. Christmas leads in holiday-message traffic.

Southern Bell which employs 340 persons on an average Sunday had 740 on the job Mother's Day. They handled a record number of 20,500 outgoing calls. Last Mother's Day outgoing calls here totaled 19,000. On an average Sunday the total is about 12,000, spokesmen said.

Longest telephone delays—attributed to large numbers of calls from members of the Armed Forces—were to distant cities. A three-to-six-hour delay was quoted from Atlanta to Houston, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Western Union, too, supplemented its annual Sunday work force to move Mother's Day messages, gift, flower and candy orders and singing telegrams. Statistics on Western Union operations were not available Sunday, but spokesmen estimated traffic to be well above that of last year.

Juvenile Court Sets Trial of Teen-age Trio

CHARLESTOWN, R. I., May 13. (UP)—Three teen-age girls, who ellegedly forced a handsome Providence man at knifepoint to have sexual relations with one of them, will appear in Juvenile Court Monday for disposition of their unusual cases.

It was not known whether Everett F. Amaral, 21, would appear at the hearing in Providence to face the girls he has accused. State police said the hearing would be closed, since the girls were juveniles.

Everett Amaral

The girls, two said to be from Fall River, Mass., and the other from Newport, R. I., will be charged with being wayward children, State police said.

When arrested Thursday, they were charged with lewd and obscene conduct and being disorderly persons. At the time they gave their ages as 21, and therefore were ordered held for criminal court. A Juvenile Court hearing was arranged when their true ages, under 18, were learned.

Amaral was going fishing when he picked up the girls as they hitchhiked. He said one of them drew a Boy Scout-type knife and ordered him into the back seat with the other two girls as she drove.

"When they told me what I was going to have to do, I told them I didn't want to. They said, 'You'll have to,'" Amaral said. "I decided it was very dangerous to argue . . . I was afraid that knife would come through me at any time."

The girls drove to Pawcatuck, Conn., later and stopped in front of a drugstore. They told Amaral to go in and buy them some peroxide. It was then he telephoned police.

Pravda Scores Soviet Exective For Neglect of His Aged Mother

MOSCOW, May 13—(AP)—Pravda told off a Soviet industrial executive in no uncertain terms Sunday for neglecting his mother.

Sunday was Mother's Day in the United States, but the Russian calendar includes no such day.

The paper, organ of the Communist party, told Alexei Vorobiev that Soviet society would not tolerate his unwillingness to assist his aged mother or interest himself in her fate. Vorobiev is chief engineer at Moscow's business machine factory.

Pravda declared that by going to court recently in an effort to prove he could not afford 200 rubles ($50 at the official rate) a month for his mother's support, Vorobiev had been guilty of a disgraceful action.

The paper condemned him further for having no relations with his mother, for not visiting her in a hospital when she was ill and for otherwise ignoring her existence.

It said Vorobiev evidently had forgotten that in such cases such attitudes cease to be a "personal" matter and become public problems. Vorobiev can get mad about the criticism if he wants to, Pravda concluded, but it would be better for him to recognize his mistake, now that it has become public property and become a real son to his mother.

Negroes Urged To Boost Help To Tuskegee

Special to The Constitution

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala., May 13—Reminding his audience that the time is about at hand when more support must come from Negro people with moderate means to preserve Tuskegee Institute, Atty. Nathaniel S. Colley, of Sacramento, Calif., spoke for his 10-year reunion class at Tuskegee Institute during the weekend.

"We delude ourselves if we think state support will continue unabated if and when Negroes are admitted to Auburn and the University of Alabama," he said.

Supporting his belief that there will always be a place for Tuskegee Institute and other such institutions with a tried and proven record for practical training, Colley gave these reasons:

"This school is a shrine to the memory of Booker T. Washington and his philosophy of education and its traditions and heritage may not be transplanted elsewhere."

Alumni Fear for Piedmont If Trustees Fail to Act

By BILL ALLEN

DEMOREST, May 13—Piedmont College may face its next school year without students or faculty if the board of trustees refuses to study findings of an alumni committee and follow up with an investigation of its own.

That seemed to be the consensus of opinion Sunday of more than 150 graduates of the mountain college—long embattled over funds accepted by President James E. Walter from the Texas Education Association.

Students and faculty banded together last November in protest against the TEA money administered by former American Firster, Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, (ret.).

The alumni withheld texts of the investigating committee's reports. The chairman of the alumni committee, Dahlonega high school principal J. P. King, said the alumni "want the trustees to have this information first. They must be considered first in anything serious like this."

Releasing a statement on the alumni meeting, said to have been the biggest in the history of the 60-year-old institution, King and Miss Helen Gillespie of Atlanta reported they had "heard every conceivable side of the terrible situation" which resulted in the firing of three faculty members for "insubordination and noncooperation."

"We only plead," King said, "for the trustees to study the findings of our committee, and follow it with a probe of their own, between now and June 2, their annual meeting date."

Miss Gillepsie said the investigation by the alumni "touched on both sides and every source of the trouble at Piedmont, and it merits sober consideration by the trustees."

Hoyt E. Bowen, English instructor whose contract was not renewed by President Walter, presided over the alumni meeting.

Bowen offered to resign from the alumni presidency which he has held for two years, but was endorsed by the alumni meeting.

He told newsmen that "students who requested the trustees' attention three times may not return, and not many of the faculty have signed their next year's contracts."

Bowen told newsmen he believed "the report from the alumni direct to the trustees without prior publication may bring consideration from them before their annual meeting."

"I believe," Bowen commented, "they are misinformed on the terrible situation existing between the president and others here."

One alumnus said little Piedmont "never seemed so gloomy."

At the same time, he fired college treasurer David Eddy for "insubordination and non-co-operation." All three opposed acceptance of the TEA funds and Gen. Moseley's appearance at Piedmont.

The TEA was instituted by Texas oil millionaire George W. Armstrong, who offered Jefferson Military College in Mississippi $50,000,000 to teach "the supremacy of the white race." Armstrong chose Gen. Moseley to administer the funds.

But Bowen says that the funds "are not contracted, and could be stopped any minute by Moseley if he became dissatisfied with the school."

Tot Raped; Truck Driver, Sitter Held

MIAMI, Fla., May 13—(AP)—A 38-year-old truck driver was jailed Sunday following the raping of a four and a half year old child.

Deputy Sheriff E. E. Sistrunk identified the trucker as Noah B. Whidden. The officer said no charges had been filed pending an investigation.

The child was reported in "fair" condition at Jackson Memorial Hospital. Doctors at the hospital said the child had been raped.

Sistrunk said Whidden called at the child's home to give the baby sitter a ride in his car Saturday night. Unwilling to leave her charge alone, the baby sitter took the child with them.

The baby sitter, 24 years old, told police and sheriff's deputies that she pleaded with the trucker not to molest the child, Sistrunk reported. Despite her story, she was held in jail as an accessory, the deputy said.

Charges probably will be filed when the investigation is completed, Sistrunk added.

UN's Success Held Obviating Need of Bombing Manchuria

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, May 13—Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander of the Eighth Army in World War II, declared Sunday night the United Nations' advantage in Korea has become so tremendous that he would oppose bombing north of the Yalu River.

Asserting that there has been "a very delicate balance between peace and war in the deliberations in the Kremlin," the general said:

"I would not disturb that balance so long as the Soviets do not change the picture. Russia has vital interests in Manchuria, and they must have promised Mao something."

Participating in a nationwide radio broadcast sponsored by the Committee on the Present Danger, General Eichelberger, who formerly served under Gen. Douglas MacArthur, declared that the firepower of United Nations infantry-artillery-tank teams "has been tremendously stepped up and the effect in Chinese casualties has been devasting."

The strong action taken in Korea has "slowed down the Russian timetable." But the danger remains very great, he declared, in stressing the importance of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's role as commander of North Atlantic Pact armies in Europe.

The creation of this West European force under General Eisenhower "must increase the doubts in the mind of Stalin," General Eichelberger said.

"If we back him up from here," he declared, "I have faith that he will succeed. Never, even on the day of the landing in Normandy, has so much of the future of the world been wrapped up in the success of the mission of one man . . . I wish America really knew this."

Tracy S. Voorhees, former undersecretary of the treasury, who shared the broadcast with the general, said he understood that the ratio of battle casualties in Korea now stood at "some 30 Chinese to one American and in some engagements 60 to one."

Grant also transferred from a moving car to a plane above him and stunted on "bat-wings" from 10,000 feet until he opened his parachute 500 feet from the ground. The ex-paratrooper, 30 years old but "aging fast," says this is his last season of parachute jumping. He has a broken back from a combat jump with the 82d Airborne Division and has suffered broken ribs and ankles in other jumps.

Milk Halted By Strike In Chicago

Mayor Summons Idle Drivers

CHICAGO, May 13—Mayor Martin H. Kennelly intervenes personally Sunday in an effort to end a two-day milk delivery stoppage that rapidly was drying up the supply for 3,600,00 Chicagoans.

Thousands of householders jammed dairy distributing plants to buy available milk at the source, waiting two and three hours in line for sales under an informal rationing system.

Later in the day some dairies reported that lines were getting longer, apparently as stocks families had bought early for the weekend ran out.

CHILDREN NEED MILK

"I've got 10 kids at home," one man shouted at a Dean Dairy Company plant. "I need milk." Dean said it still had milk and was allowing 2½ gallons to the customer.

Industry sources estimated that a milk famine would extend over large areas of the city Monday, except for emergency supplies to hospitals, institutions and military installations.

Kennelly summoned representatives of two AFL unions and the major dairies to his office for another try at settlnig a wage and hour dispute.

The mayor reported some progress in conferences. One development was an offer of the dairies to submit to arbitration. The unions had not yet responded to the offer.

QUIT WITHOUT WARNING

Some 4,800 members of Milk Wagon Drivers' Local 753 went on strike without warning Saturday, halting wholesale deliveries. Most dairies then stopped home deliveries in what the union charged was a "lockout."

About 2,500 inside workers, members of Local 754 of the Dairy Employees Union, also were involved in the dispute. Companies said workers went on strike, but the union said they were locked out.

OXYGEN IS USED IN ATTEMPT TO REVIVE MAKOKO

Efforts to Save the Beast Met Failure

RESCUE EFFORTS FAIL

Bronx Zoo's Gorilla Slips Into Moat Water, Drowns

NEW YORK, May 13—(AP)—Makoko, 14-year-old gorilla, drowned in a moat at the Bronx zoo Sunday. More than 1,000 persons witnessed the tragedy—and the heroism of a keeper of birds who plunged in to try to rescue the great ape.

But Makoko's 440 pounds were too heavy for George Scott, the bird man, to haul out of the water.

Great apes cannot swim.

Makoko had ambled to the edge of the moat in mid-afternoon and, as 1,200 persons watched, lost his footing and slipped into the water.

The moat is more than six feet deep and 12 feet wide, built to protect both the animals and the public.

Makoko, one of the zoo's principal attractions, was in the water about 10 minutes before Scott, with the aid of six keepers from the great apes' house, could haul him out.

His death came on the eve of a jungle honeymoon planned for him in the Bronz by zoo officials.

Working in teams, the keepers and police emergency squads gave Makoko artificial respiration and eight tanks of oxygen in a two-hour effort to revive him.

Makoko had been in the zoo since September, 1941.

He was captured in French equatorial Africa when he was a 28-pound 4-year-old.

The young orangutan was rescued.

A zoo spokesman said there was no way of calculating Makoko's value.

Only 35 adult gorillas are known to be in the United States and Makoko's value was enhanced by his having been chosen for an attempt to mate him.

Captive gorillas have never been bred successfully.

Army Seeks Huge Outlay In Buildings

WASHINGTON, May 13—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall plans to ask Congress for several billions of dollars—possibly six to eight billions—to use on a gigantic military building program.

A spokesman for the House Armed Services Committee said Sunday it is expected the Defense Department will send up this request shortly and that hearings will begin about the end of this month.

This official, who may not be quoted by name, described the program as the largest proposal of its sort in this country's history.

He said it includes new installations and expansion of existing installations in every state in the Union and at overseas bases. It is a long-range program that would require several years to complete.

Such a program, involving huge outlays of materials and labor, probably is one of the reasone for repeated warnings from the Administration that the full impact of rearmament on domestic economy has not yet been felt.

Further, it could foreshadow the possibility of a future expansion in the size of the armed forces, now nearing the 3,462,000 goal set for June 30.

As an aftermath of the outbreak of the Korean War, Congress authorized an emergency military building program of $1,600,000,000. This was in addition to a program of nearly $600,000,000 approved earlier.

Grounded Ship Looks 'Like Goner'

LOUISBURG, Novia Scotia, May 13—(UP)—A rescue ship stood by the grounded freighter Dufferin Bell Sunday night as 36 crew members defied orders to abandon ship and made efforts to save her.

Despite heavy seas and thick fog, crew members still aboard the Dufferin Bell told the rescue ship Edward Cornwallis they would make "every possible attempt" to get the stricken freighter to port.

The Edward Cornwallis was standing by a half-mile from the Dufferin Bell, where she smashed into a jagged reef of a "shipping graveyard," six miles southwest of here Sunday morning.

The Dufferin Bell's loyal crew members also turned down help offered by fishermen who put out in motorboats to pick them up in case they were forced to abandon the vessel.

A large hole was ripped in her hull and two holds were flooded. Four feet of water washed over the engine room deck as the crew labored to repair the damage.

Line officials said the crew was in on danger because the ship was stuck in a cove only a few hundred yards off shore and because there were many ships in the vicinity.

The Dufferin Bell is owned by the Picbel Shipping Company of Halifax, and was chartered by the Allied Steamship Lines, Ltd., a company associated with the Montreal Shipping Company.

AT SUNDAY'S AIRSHOW—Betty Skelton, 24-year-old Feminine International Acrobatic Champion, who will try for a new light-plane altitude record May 19, posed by her 12-foot, 85-horsepower Pitts biplane before taking off Sunday to fly aerobatics for Civil Air Patrol Squadron One's 1951 Airshow at the new Fulton County airport, a mile west of Adamsville. Approximately 25,000 persons watched Miss Skelton and other professional stunt pilots climb, dive, roll and loop their specially built planes in a dozen other acts. Adamsville, just north of the airport, was in a traffic-turmoil as thousands of cars streamed through on their way either to the airshow, a Church of God singing convention or a Negro "all-day sing-and-picnic-on-the-ground" nearby.

Party Leaders Can Hit Crime, Says Kefauver

WASHINGTON, May 13—(AP)—Sen. Kefauver, Dem., Tenn., said Sunday Democratic and Republican national leaders can do a great deal toward getting rid of state and local political figures who have aligned themselves with the underworld.

"They could take particular care to see that the people they are dealing with in the various cities are upright, honest citiezns and not underworld characters," said the former chairman of the Senate Crime Investigating committee. He added:

If they find they are not the proper kind of people they could refuse them patronage and recognition, and of course that would be a terribly big blow to their operations."

Kefauver, interviewed on the Gannett News Service radio program, declined comment on the case of Ambassador William O'Dwyer, noting that "conflicts in his testimony" to the Crime Committee are being studied by grand juries in Manhattan and Brooklyn, as well as by Irving Saypol, U. S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York.

The Crime Committee has charged that O'Dwyer, while mayor of New York, contributed to the growth of organized crime by failure to prosecute big time racketeers and in some cases impeding prosecution. O'Dwyer now is Ambassador to Mexico.

'Wool-Woman' At Klan Meeting

"Aunt Beulah" Waller, 80-year-old self-styled wool-woman from Peach County, shared the spotlight during the weekend with the Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan of the Carolinas at a cow-pasture gathering at Conway, S. C.

Thomas L. Hamilton, dressed in the green garb of his post, told some 2,000 white-robed Klansmen "the lid will stay on in Henry County." He explained that the Klan is not ready to expose the "gangster rackets" he said existed in the county.

"Aunt Beulah," from Echecoonee and billed as the oldest Klanswoman in Georgia, spoke briefly, emphasizing her "trust in the Lord."

Stronger Inflation Curbs Needed, Officials Warn

WASHINGTON, May 13—(UP)—The government's two top economic officials warned Americans Sunday, on the first dollars-and-cents beef price ceilings, not to be "complacent" about inflation just because some prices may come down slightly.

Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson and Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said even though there are no shortages as yet, the nation must intensify rather than relax its controls program. They said steps taken to control wages and prices are essential to a stable economy.

Starting Monday, all cuts of beef and all grades will be put under dollar and cents ceiling prices in all retail stores across the country. While the general level of beef prices probably will remain unchanged, the action is the first step toward rolling them back about 10 percent by Oct. 1.

Sen. Harley M. Kilgore, Democrat, W. Va., noted in a broadcast over West Virginia stations that cattlemen and meat packers are making a "bitter attack" on the beef price program and "frankly admit they do not want any controls on meat."

But he predicted Price Administrator Michael V. DiSalle will take steps to rollback the cost of other essential items if he is successful in his fight to rollback meat prices. Kilgore observed that meat now is selling at 152 percent of parity "and 100 percent is supposed to be a fair figure."

Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins, Republican, Ohio, countered that the Administration's food price control program is a "fake" and will make shortages and black markets "inevitable." He also struck out at the President's request for authority to pay subsidies to farmers and food processors.

Johnston, who appeared with Wilson on a National Broadcasting Company television show, complained that "everyone wants the other fellow stabilized first." Business wants wages put under controls before prices, he said, and labor wants just the opposite.

"I don't see it that way," he said. "We must do the job together."

Johnston and DiSalle told 90 prominent industrialists the same thing Saturday at Hot Springs, W. Va., where the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council met in connection with a three-day conference on the mobilization program.

They lectured the businessmen at a two-hour session, asserting that the beef price order and all other controls are as essential to Lig business as they are to the small wage earner. As long as the cost of living goes up, they said, wages will follow.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan goes before the House Agriculture Committee Tuesday for questioning by farm state Congressmen opposed to the price rollback. Brannan thus far has declined to say whether he opposes it and Chairman Harold D. Cooley, Democrat, N. C., said the committee will insist that he take a definite public stand.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, Republican, Ohio, said meantime that the entire mobilization program is threatened by the Administration's decision to let the 18-man Wage Stabilization Board settle wage contract disputes as well as fix wage ceilings.

He indicated he will demand sweeping changes in the Board when the Senate takes up legislation to revise and extend the economic controls law due to expire June, 30.

Defense Production Administrator E. T. Gibson said on the same program that the time is just now approaching when home-front Americans will be "asked to pay the price for defense."

U. S. Helicopter Takes Spotlight From Reds

VIENNA, May 13—(INS)—A bright yellow U. S. Air Force helicopter stole the show from the Communists in Vienna Sunday.

Only 10,000 persons were estimated to have watched a series of Communist sports and entertainment attractions staged as part of a three-day Whitsun rally, but 25,000 waited for the helicopter to make its three scheduled landings in the heart of the city.

The helicopter, the first Vienna has ever seen, touched down on a square in front of City Hall, in the Schonbrunn Palace courtyard and on a street near the Votiv Church.

SERVICES' WEEK

Depot Slates Open House Thursday

A glimpse of "the 1951 soldier—how he works, plays, and lives" will be offered Atlantans Thursday, when the Atlanta General Depot opens its gates to the public.

The Navy and the Air Force will shine on two other days, as armed services in the area observe Armed Forces Week.

Dobbins Air Force Base will hold an open house and static display of aircraft from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. Saturday, and the Naval Air Station will welcome visitors at its open house Sunday.

Next Friday, official "Armed Forces Day" in Atlanta, will highlight a full week of special observances by civic groups and military installations.

Thursday's depot open house will include an afternoon concert by the Third Army Band, a 3:30 p. m. parade on the depot grounds, and a review of troops of the Ordnance Automotive School.

Army, Navy, Marine, Air Force, Coast Guard, Organized Reserve, National Guard units, veterans' groups, patriotic organizations, and schools will participate in the Atlanta Armed Forces Day parade, Friday.

The parade will step off at 2:30 p. m. from Baker and Peachtree streets. The line of march will be Peachtree to Whitehall, terminating at Garnett St. Brig. Gen. Carl T. Sutherland will be parade marshal.

Russian Take Back Award to Composer

MOSCOW, May 13—(AP)—Moscow papers announced Sunday that a Stalin prize awarded to Composer Herman Zhukovsky for his opera "From the Depths of the Heart" has been revoked.

The prize committee asked the Council of Ministers to take away the prize on Friday after a storm of criticism hit the opera, which concerned life on a Ukranian collective farm.

Prime Minister Stalin and members of the Politburo saw it after it won the prize. Two weeks later Pravda ripped it to pieces and said it was full of flaws. The prize committee agreed the criticism was just.

352 War Dead Arrive Today

OAKLAND, Calif., May 13—(UP)—The bodies of 352 Americans who lost their lives as a result of the Korean War will arrive here Monday aboard the East Point Victory.

In a solemn procession, the bodies will be taken to a chapel on the Oakland Army Base where chaplains of three faiths will read simple services.

The bodies then will be furnished with military escorts and sent to a point of burial designated by each next of kin.

TWO MEMORABLE DAYS

Happy School Patrolmen End Washington Sojourn

By BILL DIEHL

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13—An exhausted but happy brigade of Fulton County school patrolmen Sunday wound up an unforgettable two days of sight-seeing and fun-raising and trudged wearily back to their two special trains for the return trip to Atlanta.

They were still wearing the smiles and waving the Confederate flags that had captured the heart of the nation's capital. But their breakneck pace from one end of Washington to the other left them just a little wilted around the edges.

All the 2,900 Georgia patrolmen except the Fulton County contingent arrived in Atlanta Sunday morning.

They had seen sights which heretofore were simply shadows on a newsreel screen. They had visited buildings that were once just names on the pages of a history book. They had seen everything from the United States Constitution to the mammoth capital zoo.

But one of the most memorable and touching scenes on the whole trip was one that they themselves had created. It was when they sat in the impressive white-marble Arlington Amphitheater Sunday morning, listened to their congressman, James C. Davis, describe the historical background of that sprawling cemetery of heroes, and then paid homage to God, only a few feet from where the rigid guard went through its changing ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Before them on the platform sat the congressman's wife, mother and daughter, Sheriff A. B. (Budd) Foster, Chief Neal Ellis, the Rev. Clarence Sessions and the Rev. Bill Allison, who conducted a brief but effective Sunday School program in the open-air, round theatre, and County Commissioner Jack Towns. It was Towns who delivered the closing benediction prayer.

Out among the children were School Superintendent Paul West and his wife, several PTA officials and 29 county police officers. Several spectators and tourists slipped quietly into the amphitheatre and sat through the meeting.

During their two-day stay there were few Washingtonians who weren't aware that they had been invaded by the Atlanta and Fulton County delegation. Saturday night at the ball game, the 2,900 Crackers cheered Washington's Senators to victory over the Boston Red Sox. They met several of their favorite baseball stars.

Evonne Sims and Jermine Lynne exchanged comments on some of the Humphries School boy patrollers with Virginia Pritchard, Evelyn Green, Patricia Gantt and Barry Smith.

On the girls' train, Sheila Dunn, May Ellen Kay, Nettie May Fuss and Pat Derrick spent several quiet minutes composing notes for their boy friends from Central School.

The Harris School girls, Virginia Morris, Sonja Curry, Carol Pless, Annette Barfield and Gay Sheffield, sang school songs as they waited to get into the diner.

In one car, Mrs. Mildred Carver, Rock Springs teacher, exchanged excited comments on the trip with Mrs. Jane Newson of College Park School. . . . Ben Hillers, Betty Roberts, Nancy Berry, Juanita Roberts and Patsy McWilliams bemoan the fact that Monday is a school day again.

A few miles behind on the boys' train, Police Officers Cotton Gim and P. H. Mitchell discussed their parade prize with Cascade Heights Patrollers Alfred Lee, James Todd and Marshall McDuffie. . . . The Fulton County and Atlanta marchers won the prize for "Best Appearing Patrol" from almost 50,000 other school children.

EAT LIKE HOPALONG

Dozier Flemming of Morgan Fall School told his buddies, Carroll Brown, Jr., James Boyd, Buddy Vines and Neil Gore, "If you want to be like Hopealong, you want to be like Hopalong, you

Jerry Brown of Center Hill School showed off his wild pink shirt to school chums, Richard Cantrell, Jack Peyton and Ronald Wood. . . . The quietest cars on the train were occupied by the Negro students. . . . Lula Mae Adams, Helma Arnold and Catherine Robins of Ben Hill Negro school seemed to agree that the baseball game was the biggest treat of the trip. . . . Jimmie Young, Charles Thornton, Edward Brown and Norma M. Dillard Harper of the Anderson Park Negro school tumbled into their seats and started making up for lost sleep. . . .

In the dining car, four county officials enjoyed their meal unmindful of the fact that their Negro waiter contributed $1,000 to the Washington trip fund.

Behind them, as the train pulled out, were the echoes of the happy cries and screams of these sleepy-eyed school children. . . . They watched as the needle-like Washington Monument slowly faded until it was only a thin line on the horizon and then it was finally gone.

The holiday is over. School books await them Monday. These have been glorious days. They will remain memorable ones in the minds of these glad youngsters for many years to come.

AFTER DEATH HURTLE—HINTON, W. Va., May 13—This car struck a railroad tie barrier, hurtled 150 feet over two railroad tracks and then bounced 30 feet in the air, landing on top of the roof of a railroad shop. The driver, Emmet Wyant, of Hinton, was killed.

8 Killed In Georgia Road Traffic

The State Highway Patrol Sunday night listed eight persons dead in highway traffic on Georgia roads over the Mother's Day week end.

Two men, identified as Pfc. Linwood D. Harrison and George Prickett, a civilian, were killed late Sunday in an accident in South Georgia, the Patrol said. Details were not immediately available.

George F. Davis, a 40-year-old Negro from Nunez was killed eight miles west of Swainsboro at 7 a. m. Sunday. Police said Davis was riding as a passenger in a car which went out of control and overturned.

Four other Georgians and a soldier from Fort Bragg, N. C., lost their lives in Saturday traffic.

Bennie Forrest Martin, 41, of Buford, died at Grady Hospital of injuries received Saturday night when his car crashed down a 25-foot embankment on the Buford Highway near the DeKalb-Gwinnett line.

Lee Anderson, 49, of Blairsville, died in a truck-automobile collision on State Highway 5 near BallGround .The Fort Bragg soldier, whose name was withheld pending notification of next of kin, was killed near Elberton when the auto in which he was riding overturned on a curve and rolled down a 40-foot embankment.

Mrs. Otie C. Adams, 62, of 1134 St. Augustine Pl., N. E., was killed when the car she was driving overturned at Cedar Creek on the Hawkinsville-Abbeville Highway. Funeral services for Mrs. Adams were held Sunday at Spring Hill with burial in Westview Cemetery.

Three-year-old Ronald Wayne, of Vienna, was killed when struck by a truck. Police said Ronald darted from behind a parked vehicle into the truck's path. No charge was made against the driver.

Arrestee Shot By Policeman

An Atlanta policeman Sunday said he was forced to shoot a Negro prisoner in the leg when the Negro took the policeman's blackjack and hit him with it and then picked up a brick.

Officer C. Dixon identified the Negro as Wylie Jones, 22, of 116 Arcade Circle, N. W.

Dixon said he arrested Jones on a public indecency charge early Sunday morning and had taken him to a call box at Mitchell and Davis Streets, S. W., when his prisoner jerked loose and ran into Miller's Alley. The officer said he gave chase and that Jones stumbled and fell and lay as if hurt.

But when he tried to help his prisoner up, Dixon reported, Jones grabbed him by a leg and tripped him, got his blackjack and hit him. Dixon said he connected with a haymaker which floored Jones, but that the Negro came up with a brick.

When Jones ignored an order to drop the brick, Dixon said, he shot him.

Jones also was charged with assaulting an officer and resisting arrest.

business manager, Tiedke said he, too, would serve without pay.

"The notices of dismissals to the faculty will be rescinded as soon as possible," the board announced. "The faculty will remain substantially unchanged after the reinstatements."

The board's announcement said the 11 trustees had voted unanimously for Wagner's ouster. The 11 members, it pointed out, constitute a majority of the board. Wagner recently claimed that the New York meeting was illegal because the full board had not attended.

"The announcement was withheld until this date to permit President Wagner to be relieved of his responsibilities at Rollins College with personal dignity," the board said.

WAGES

World War II and some perhaps three. Government workers (Federal, state and municipal) have had but two wage increases.

One industry may grant in two adjustments the equivalent of what others give in three "rounds" or vice versa.

Non - government economists, like Prof. Sumner Slichter, of Harvard, stick to the use of "rounds" in disbursing wage policy.

Lurking in th background is the dispute over the form of action to be taken by the Wage Stabilization Board. Industry insists that general regulations applicable to all wage cases be promulgated. Labor wants to approach the task by the case-by-case method used by the War Labor Board in the last war.

SCHLICTER'S VIEWS

Prof. Slichter is one of those who believe that the nation is on the verge of the sixth "round." He is impelled to this conclusion by the fact that negotiations have already started or are about to begin in such industries as electrical goods, rubber, women's garments, paper and copper.

If the sixth "round" were granted, Prof. Slichter estimates that it would add directly $10,000,000,000 or more to the annual payroll.

With the expected increase of about $11,000,000,000 resulting from the rise in employment and from longer working hours, he estimated that total expansion of payrolls by the second quarter of 1952 ought to be about $21,000,000,000 as an annual rate, above that of the second quarter of 1951.

This estimate is less than forecast recently by the Joint Congressional Committee on the economic report which figured a rise of $23,500,000,000 in the annual rate of wages and salaries between the second quarter of 1951 and the second quarter of 1952.

It is this strong threat to the Government's anti-inflantion program that is keeping some members of the Wage Stabilization Board awake nights in figuring out proper wage policies.

KOREA

placed the Orieck off Kansong since the midle of the past week.

Farther south, in the wedge north of the parallel held by South Koreans inland from the Japan Sea, Korean Republican troops faced heavy fire from an estimated enemy regiment drawn up southwest of Inje in the hardest combat of the day. Communists on the north bank of the Soyang River fought with rifles and automatic weapons.

Along most of the front there was little contact as the Communists brought up troops and supplies for an attack, and UN forces dug in behind their far-reaching patrols to meet the blow—the "second phase" of the offensive which cost the enemy 70,000 casualties when it broke under massed artillery fire north of the Korean capital at Seoul last month.

Fighters and bombers of the Fifth Air Force, Navy Skyraiders and Corsairs from the carriers Princeton and Boxer and British Seafuries and Fireflies from the light carrier Glory, rained bombs, rockets, jellied gasoline and machinegun bullets on areas where the enemy was dug in along the front or massed in rear areas for the prospective attack. Land-based planes flew more than 500 sorties up to dusk Sunday, with 100 still in the air or taking off for night interdiction missions over the Communist supply line.

Fifth Air Force planes hit troop concentrations from northwest of Seoul to west of the Hwachon Reservoir in Central Korea. Carrier-based aircraft flew more than 200 sorties, clearing the way for ground troops near Inje and Pupyong in the east and attacking the enemy dug in near Pochon, northeast of the capital.

When or where the enemy's expected blow might fall was still in doubt. The heaviest movements of the last few days appeared to be toward Central Korea, where mountainous terrain offers some advantage to the non-mechanized Communist forces.

But Sunday heavy concentrations were noted also in the West, a possible indication the enemy might be preparing to renew the costly fight for Seoul.

DEBATE

Arthur's, or the Administration's—is best for our fighting men in Korea and the security of our nation."

President Truman relieved Gen. MacArthur of command in Korea and Japan on April 11, after the General had openly disputed the Administration's handling of the Korean War. He has pressed for more aggressive tactics, including the bombing of Communist China bases in Manchuria and on the China mainland, the blockade of Communist China ports, and the use of Chinese Nationalist troops now held under Chiang Kai-shek's command on Formosa.

"APPEASEMENT"

Before the Senate Committee, the former Far East Commander accused the Administration of having no policy with regard to Asia, and declared there was no hope for bringing the Korean War to an end through "appeasement" of the Chinese Communists.

Gen. Marshall as the first Administration spokesman on the Hill was quick last week to retort that Gen. MacArthur's proposals would involve a risk of beginning World War III, since Soviet Russia might thereby be brought into the conflict.

The Secretary of Defense took the view that Russia was the principal antagonist of the United States. Gen. MacArthur submitted that Communism, of whatever nationality, was the country's foe, and that American forces must fight it wherever it shows aggression.

Gen. MacArthur has insisted that the present course of "limited war" could produce only a stalemate in Korea, with United Nations casualties mounting to no purpose. Administration sources, including Gen. Marshall, have contended that the Communist Chinese could not indefinitely afford to suffer casualties at their present rate.

HARRIMAN TALKS

Harriman in his debate with Sen. Bridges said the Korean War might end "next week, the week after, in a month or in two months." He made clear, however, he was not making a prediction.

Bridges, who is a member of the Senate Inquiry committee, replied that it may be a long time before the war can be ended if American troops have to go on fighting "with at least one hand tied behind their backs." He said Gen. MacArthur, in calling for a broader base for counter-action, had presented "the only possible program" for winning the war.

Harriman contended that the Administration was "being consistent" in trying to limit the war to Korea without involving the country in a more general war.

"General MacArthur has said that in his opinion the war can be brought to a conclusion, but he has not yet told us how or at what cost, or when," said the presidential aide.

The New Hampshire Republican derided the testimony of Gen. Marshall to the effect that UN troops could eventually kill enough Chinese Communists to discourage them from keeping the fight going. He said Gen. MacArthur's was the "only positive approach" to the problem.

Sen. Sparkman, Democrat, Alabama and member of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations, said on another radio program that he "believed that the Chinese Communists are under the direct control of Moscow," while Gen. MacArthur, according to Sparkman, had stressed that "Communist China acted as an independent nation" when it entered the fighting in Korea.

Sen. Flanders, Republican, Vermont, drew a comparison between the war in Korea and the Capitol Hill hearing investigating it.

"There seems to be no way to terminate it (the hearing)," he added. "Our questions are leading us into fields that are vague, indefinite and purposeless."

Sen. Gillette, Democrat, Iowa, also expressed some doubt as to the direction that the investigation was going. "I'm afraid we are getting far afield because Senate committees are not a high board of strategy and we're not competent to pass upon how to fight a war, even if we have the authority—and that's doubtful," the Iowan commented.

Free Musical Programs End Festival Today

The 14th annual Chamber Music Festival sponsored by the Music Department of the University of Georgia will wind up Monday with three free musical programs in Atlanta.

The three-day festival opened in Athens Friday and this year is the first time portions of it will be held here.

A Hindesmith program by the Atlanta division of the university will be played at 11 a. m. in the recital hall at 24 Ivy St. Warren Little and William Johnson, faculty members, will open the program with Hindesmith's "Sonata for Flute and Piano." Frances Hughes, Atlanta soprano, will sing a group of Hindesmith's songs. She will be accompanied by Tom Brumby, resident head of the Atlanta Division Music Department. Robert Harrison of the faculty in Athens, and Hugh Hodgson, head of the university's music department, will play the composer's "Sonata for Violin and Piano."

Second of the three programs will take place at 4 p. m. at Hodgson's residence, 1311 W. Pace's Ferry Road. Harrison and Hodgson will play Edmond Rubra's "Sonata for Violin and Piano," and the University of Georgia trio will perform Ravel's "Trio in A Minor."

Closing program, a concert by the Woodwind Ensemble from the University of Michigan, will take place at 8:30 p. m. in the recital hall at the Atlanta Division. The ensemble will play works of Beethoven, Niblock, Ibert, Hindemith and Poulenc.

Admisison to all three programs is free. A luncheon wil be held at 1 p. m. at the Atlanta Division.

IRAN

lasted half an hour, was replete with sinister allusions, mystical portents and patriotic fervor. The origins of his rise to power, he said, went back to a dream he had once had in which a radiant presence appeared to him while he was ill, saying, "Go, cast off the chains binding Persia's feet." Whereupon he had risen from his bed and returned to the Majlis.

The meaning of this dream had become clear to him when nationalization of Iranian oil was proposed, he explained. Consequently he had taken the lead in drafting the nationalization bill and rushing it through to adoption before the "dark forces" had time to thwart the people's will.

"DARK FORCES"

He declared the nationalization bill had been passed in the nick of time, for on the very day of its adoption by the Majlis a "certain person" (a reference to former Premier Sayed Zia Edding Tabatabai) was conferring with the Shah and would have become Premier had not Mossadegh, responding to the call of the Majlis, assumed the burden of office thus confounding the enemies of Iran.

Urging the deputies to appoint five members of the liquidation committee without further delay, Mossadegh warned that dark forces were still at work.

"Recently as I was leaving my office," the Premier said, two women, one holding an infant child in her arms, threw themselves in front of my car and at once I noticed two men standing near and suspiciously awaiting an opportunity with evil designs against me. Repressing my compassion for the women and the child, I ordered my chauffeur to drive on. Then I was convinced of the truth of warnings I had received from some of my friends who said my life was in danger. Yes, fell hands were intent on my destruction."

Lack of Early Planning Costly to City, Says Otis

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Lack of expert planning is responsible for most of Atlanta's growing pains, Robert R. Otis, former chairman of the City Planning Commission, warns.

Otis has just released a 27-page history of planning efforts from 1909 through 1932. He urges that expert national city planners be employed immediately to save "much money and avoid hodge-podge development," and predicts a population of 1,000,000 for metropolitan Atlanta by 1965.

Press Huddleston, former member of The Constitution staff, former councilman, alderman and mayor pro tem, has written an introductory to the work. Huddleston praises Otis for his interest, indefatigable work and sacrifices to make Atlanta a "more nearly perfect city," and says the booklet Otis has released will be a "real service in planning our city."

22-YEAR DIARY

Otis calls his work a diary of some 22 years of effort to secure a comprehensive city plan for Atlanta. He says it is written in the hope "that it may simplify such aims for the future of Atlanta" and other cities.

The work opens with a brief picture of the development of Atlanta's leading thoroughfares from Indian trails and cattle paths into a towering, progressive, business area. He lists Peachtree, Whitehall, Broad, Forsyth, Pryor, Decatur, Edgewood, Alabama and other streets in that category.

The work tells of the first effort at actual planning by former Mayor Robert F. Maddox in 1909, and of Haralson Bleckley's plaza plan for parks over the railway chasm in the downtown area.

VOLUNTEER GROUP

He relates incidents leading up to the establishment of the first Atlanta Planning Commission by former Mayor Asa Candler in 1917, listing the names of many leading Atlantans of that day. The first group, he says, was a volunteer body without legal standing. It was in reality a viaduct commission and was composed of 24 members selected by the City, Fulton County and the Chamber of Commerce.

Former Mayor James L. Key appointed the first legal commission in October, 1920. The mayor was ex-officio chairman. Otis was vice-chairman and also was the active chairman. That group began seriously to plan and Otis contends if its recommendations had been followed fully, Atlanta would have saved millions of dollars and avoided many mistakes, some of which will cost great sums to correct. He relates that H. D. Cutter was the first engineer and Raymond W. Torras, retired engineer-secretary of the commission, was assistant. Torras later succeeded Cutter.

He refers to the Beeler Transit Report, the first planning report, and insists that many of Atlanta's present traffic headaches would have been mitigated if recommendations of the reports had been followed.

FIRST VIADUCT

Otis tells about the construction of the first viaduct—Whitehall St. — in 1901 from funds loaned the City without interest by John W. Grant, and says it was the forerunner of the maze of viaducts, underpasses and bridges which now exist in Atlanta.

Mayor Hartsfield and W. S. Hackworth, president of the N. C. & St. L. Railway, are credited with the park plaza which was built over railway tracks from Whitehall to Pryor sts. He gives both "special credit" and says they contributed to civic beauty and development.

Special praise is given Walter S. McNeal, whom Otis notes has served faithfully for almost 30 years on either the planning or zoning commissions of Atlanta and Fulton County. But the list to whom Otis pays especial tribute is the roll call of newspapermen, professional and business leaders and others whom Otis says gave selfless service in the effort to further the development of the community.

Otis probably has been interested in planning in Atlanta longer than any living individual. He has striven, Huddleston points out, "to make Atlanta a more nearly perfect city and had followed its development step by step."

In addition to his interest in planning, Otis has served as president of the Atlanta, the State and the national real estate boards. He also served as president of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers. In World War I, he acted as regional adviser of five Southeastern states to the War Industries Board which was under Bernard M. Baruch. Otis still is active officially on the boards of the Atlanta Historical Society, the Georgia Historical Society, and the Society for Georgia Archaeology. Those are only a few of Otis' activities, Huddleston says.

GRADY HOSPITAL ROUNDUP

Train Smashes Auto Here; Jenkins Saves Ambulance

A diesel streamliner smashed an automobile and nine persons were injured in a head-on automobile crash Sunday as the Atlanta area's accident toll soared to 24.

R. D. Puckett, 17, of Adamsville, was admitted to Grady Hospital Sunday night with both legs believed broken after a Central of Georgia streamliner ploughed into his car at the McDaniel Street crossing between Peters and Whitehall Streets, Officer G. O. Head reported. The car was hurled an estimated 75 feet.

Head, who drove the Grady ambulance, which picked up Puckett, said the ambulance was almost hit by a second train close behind the streamliner on another track but that Police Chief Herbert Jenkins flagged it down just in time.

FOUR GEORGIANS HURT

A head-on auto collision one mile south of Jonesboro late Sunday afternoon hospitalized nine persons. Four of the injured were Georgians, the other five a family from Illinois en route home after vacationing in Miami.

The injured Georgians, who were in a car headed south, are Freddie Mae Hayes, 15, of Stone Mountain, head and knee injuries; Pvt. Benjamin H. Smith, 19, of Thomson, chest and arm injuries; Walter K. Morris, 19, of Americus, arm lacerations, and Lillie Belle Smith, 16, of Decatur, arm and leg injuries.

Members of the Centralia, Ill., family were listed at Grady Hospital as Charles Albert Treffert, 68, face lacerations; Ida Treffert, 61, face lacerations and possible chest injuries; Howard M. Treffert, 31, fractured knee, lacerated nose and injuries to neck and shoulder; Eula Creed Treffert, 28, nose and arm lacerations, and Cheryl Ann Treffert, 3, face bruises and injury to right leg.

ATLANTANS INJURED

Two Atlantans were hurt in a collision at Ponce de Leon Avenue and Lullwater Road, N. E., police reported. Patrolmen said a car driven by John Jackson, Jr., 26, Negro, of 65 Howell St., N. E., rammed an auto driven by J. A. McLain, 63, of 109 Thomas Rd., Decatur.

Jackson was treated for lacerations of the head and mouth. McLain was treated by a private doctor for chest and back injuries, police said. Jackson was charged with improper brakes and not having a dirver's license.

Howard H. Gilbert, 69, of 161 Hunnicutt St., N. W., was treated for lacerations and abrasions he suffered when hit by an auto at Georgia Ave. and Grant St., Grady records showed.

Clyde A. Coppeak, 29, of 142 Baker St., N. E., was treated for face injuries he suffered in an accident near 131 Whitehall St., Northeast.

FALLS FROM CARS

Two four-year-old children fell from moving cars, according to Grady reports. Frances Virginia Creech of 5551 Forrest St., Chamblee, suffered a head injury and Linda June Ward of 1883 Cambria Ave., N. W., was treated for face abrasions.

Two boys were hit by baseballs —Claude O'Neal, 12, of 143 Whitefoord Ave., N. E., hit on the right leg, and Joel Franklin Anglin, 13, of 133 Memorial Dr., S. E., hit on the right thumb.

Sara Jean Bishop, 21, of 1140 Crescent Ave., N. E., caught her hand in a machine at a bakery and eight-year-old Jane Warwick of 237-B East Lindmont Ct., N. E., was hit with a golf club. Edith Medici, 32, of a Sizemore Ave. address stuck a can opener in her right hand.

Ronald Bowen, 8, of 677 Gaston St., S. E., was bitten by a snake when he looked for a ball he lost in weeds.

Indiscriminate swallowing got two Atlanta youngsters into trouble. Nellie Mae Kile, 9, of 222 Pine St., N. E., was treated after swallowing a quarter, and Brenda Prichard, 2, of 1412 Gun Club Rd., N. W., was brought to Grady when her mother became afraid the child had swallowed an "object unknown."

The Association is composed of members from Emory, Agnes Scott, University of Georgia, the Atlanta Division and Georgia Tech.

Four Teenagers Injured in Crash

Four Atlanta teen-agers were hurried to Grady Hospital late Sunday night after their car careened down a 25-foot embankment and into a creek, police said.

The crash occurred on Peyton Road, S. W., one and a quarter miles off Gordon Road, Officers C. O. Anderson and W. E. King reported.

The injured were listed at Grady as Sandra Brown, 14, of 1296 Sells Ave., S. W., broken left arm, face lacerations and abrasions; Ronnie James, 15, of 662 Cascade Ave., S. W., head injury; Gay Palmer, 14, of 856 Gaston St., S. W., lacerations and bruises, and Harold Lambert, about 16, of 1700 Alvarado Ter., S. W., cut on the throat.

USED HAMMER

Boy Kills Woman, 81, For $2 Loot

UTICA, N. Y., May 13—(U.P.)—A 16-year-old Kirkland, N. Y., boy admitted Sunday that he had hammered to death 81-year-old Mrs. Jennie Neff and robbed her of $2.

State police said they had arrested Arthur Hill on a charge of first-degree murder and were holding him for arraignment Monday morning.

Police said the youth freely admitted slaying Mrs. Neff by striking her several times over the head with a blunt claw hammer. The boy told police he hurriedly snatched the money, threw away the bloody weapon and fled the Neff farmhouse, located between Hamilton and Randallsville.

Police would not confirm robbery as a motive for the killing and said they were withholding details pending further examination.

Troopers said Hill killed the elderly woman last Thursday, but owing to the fact Mrs. Neff had lived alone since the death of her husband in 1925, the slaying was not discovered until Sunday.

Mrs. Neff, who was described as being active in church affairs, made a meager living by the door-to-door peddling of vegetables raised on her small farm.

Woman Held, ChargeProbed

A 49-year-old Atlanta woman Sunday was quoted by police as claiming three Negroes dragged her from a car, forced her under a nearby house and attempted to rape her.

Investigating officers reported finding the woman and her husband, who she said was also in the car, "very drunk."

Patrolman who answered a call early Sunday morning to a Washington St., S. W., address said the woman told them that when her husband's car stopped, the Negroes offered to "push it off."

When the car failed to start after a short push, she was quoted as saying, the Negroes pulled her from one side of the car and her husband from the other. She said they led her, officers reported, to a house, dragged her under the house and attempted to rape her but she fled screaming.

The patrolman said her dress was torn but that there was no dirt on it.

Both she and her husband were arrested on drunk charges. Trial is set for Monday.

Symphony Fund's Deadline Tuesday

Tuesday is the deadline for renewing subscriptions to the 1951-52 season of the Atlanta Symphony Orestra.

Atlantans desiring to retain same seats they had last season should mail renewals at once, Symphony officials said. Orders are also being received from new subscribers and preference will be given old subscribers only if they renew subscriptions during the regular period. Office of the Symphony is located in the John Lucas Co., building, 233 Peachtree, N. E.

Atlantan Hospitalized With Ax Wounds

Leo Stevens, 24, of 279-R Piedmont Ave., N. E., was admitted to Grady Hospital Sunday night with a four-inch gash in his face.

Police said James Lymon, 23, of 132 Alabaster Alley, N. E., explained to them Ed Robinson, 55, of 174 London Lane, hit Stevens with an ax when Stevens tickled the bottom of Robinson's feet. All three are Negroes.

The Australian wool industry began in 1804 with introduction of Merino sheep from the flock of King George III of England.

HILLBILLY CINEMA?

Hollywood Producer Plans Georgia Film

By PAUL JONES

The Hollywood producer who made "Steel Helmet" into the top movie based on the Korean War said here Sunday night that he soon will begin filming a "very special" picture in Georgia—probably in Atlanta.

Robert Lippert, head of Lippert Studios, one of the most enterprising independent studios in Hollywood, said the title was a closely-guarded secret. But, he said, the movie will be based on the activities of folk and hillbilly bands.

Known for his original screen ideas and his ability to recognize box office hits in story form, the energetic Hollywood showman, who also operates a large chain of theaters, gave close attention to a number of stories, scripts and ideas which were attractively displayed in booths arranged at the Biltmore Hotel where the Motion Picture Theater Owners and Operators of Georgia will open their annual convention Monday.

As he approached a booth which contained a number of pictures of Former Gov. Eugene Talmadge and a book based on the life of the late governor, Lippert said: "Someone likely will make a movie based on his life—but not me. He was too controversial a figure."

As the theater owners and operators —more than 300 strong —gathered at the Biltmore the story of Eugene Talmadge appeared a strong possibility as an all-Georgia movie. The Theater Owners and Operators convention which is emphasizing as its theme in its 1951 convention: "Make Another Georgia Movie," pointed to the success of "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain," "Swamp Water," "The Biscuit Eater" and "Gone With the Wind" as strong box office attractions.

Stories about the turpentine industry, published novels, unpublished scripts and ideas were colorfully illustrated and many authors were on hand to try to sell their stories to the movie producers and film representatives who will gather Monday.

Pretty girls representing more than 20 Georgia cities will be in the booths to hand out literature and to explain stories, give information about local geographical situations and to assist the producers in getting better ideas about their home communities.

State Not Using New Tax Revenue to Pad Payrolls

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Before the state government starts spending your sales tax money July 1, you might like to know whether the tax money you paid last year is being used to add more and more people to the state payrolls.

A spot check of audits of five of the major departments indicates state agencies have been holding the line on the number of employes since the high mark was reached during the 1950 political period which followed the 1949 "emergency tax increases."

The state has relatively few more employees now than it had in the June quarter of 1950. Workers are being paid better—hundreds of them have come under the merit system—but there has been no splurging on higher salaries.

Chief exception to the hold-the-line trend is the Welfare Department, which is increasing its payroll more than $500,000 annually in recruiting more workers at the Milledgeville State Hospital and in other institutions. Another exception is the Revenue Department which is being enlarged to collect the sales tax.

Fewer than 100 employees have been added this fiscal year by the combined five big agencies checked. Combined salaries of these agencies have increased about $67,000 annually, most of the increase going to the expanded welfare program.

Several agencies, notably the Highway Department, have reduced the number of employees.

Dropping back two years to the nonpolitical period of 1949, however, the comparison shows an increase of 800 workers for the five departments surveyed. Many of these were added after the passage of the "emergency tax increases" in late 1949.

Agencies studied included the education, highway, welfare, revenue and agriculture departments and the state patrol.

The board of education has just expanded its vocational education program, bringing about an increase in payroll. The state patrol has decreased the number of workers, but is increasing troopers' pay five percent this quarter. The revenue department hired 40 temporary workers for the sales tax unit.

There was a decrease in the number of highway department employees and also a decrease in the department's payroll. The agriculture department also cut the number of employees this year. The welfare department increased its general administrative staff in addition to adding workers at Milledgeville.

The Highway Department has 2,331 persons employed today, as compared with 2,376 last year and 2,192 in 1949. It is paying out approximately $190,000 less this quarter than it did for the June quarter of 1950, however, due to a reduction in its construction program.

The Education Department has 579 persons employed now, including 50 South Georgia Trade School persons training Army personnel. A year ago it had 556, and in 1949 it had 550. The Department is spending about $50,000 more in salaries for the current quarter than it did a year ago.

The Agriculture Department has 314 employees, fewer than the 331 of last year but greater than the 186 of two years ago. Its payroll this quarter is about $7,000 higher than in 1950.

The Welfare Department, with its various institutions not including Milledgeville Hospital, has 479 employees this quarter as compared with 387 last year and 320 in 1949. The Milledgeville employees increased from 1,236 in 1949 to 1,519 last year and 1,551 today. The Department's payroll has increased approximately $170,000 in the current quarter over the same period of last year. Of this, the Milledgeville employees' pay accounted for about $43,000 of the increase. The Blind Factory payroll went up approximately $40,000. Regular administration increased about $25,000 to a total of $123,000. Salaries at Gracewood went up about $20,000 to a total of approximately $50,000.

GEA Chief Boosts South's Literature

J. M. Cherry, president of the Georgia Education Association, said Sunday he thought it was time for professional recognition of Southern contributions to American literature.

Speaking at a prose workshop of the Atlanta Writers Club at the Atlanta Historical Society, Cherry pledged the co-operation of the GEA in bringing about publication of more Southern material.

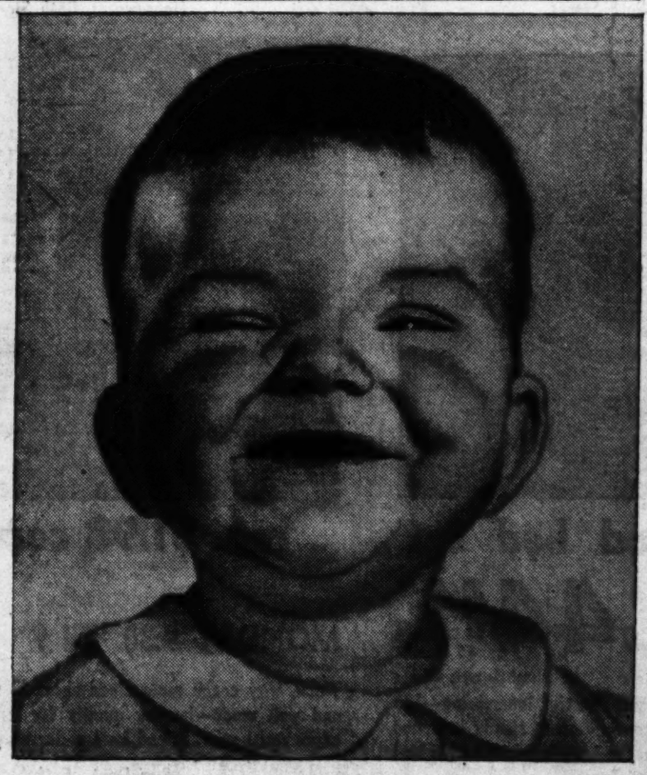

He commended George Slappey, former GEA delegate to the World Organization of Teachers, for his efforts toward obtaining a UNESCO research seminar in the field of independent production of Southern history. Such a seminar will be set up in the South this Fall and an Atlanta group is working to have it established here.

Life in a Baseball Factory Where the Base Hit Is Born

ATHENS, May 13—Twenty-five years ago, a Midwestener began to look around for ways and means of augmenting the small woodwork business he had set up down by the Central of Georgia tracks in Athens. By tedious process, he and a handful of workers turned out tool handles, for axes, shovels, screwdrivers and such, but perhaps the presence of one employee in particular set Clay Hanna to thinking.

The employee had been the superintendent of a baseball bat factory in Greenville, S. C. The Greenville factory had started as a fingerling in an industry nearly monopolized by the Kentucky company that had made "Louisville Slugger" known from San Diego to Ogonquit. It had fought against heavy tides without making any conceivable progress.

BISHER

With this sort of evidence against taking off on such a flyer, Clay Hanna cranked up and went. He must have reasoned that somebody had to make bats for the little fellow who played on the skin fields and the kids' leagues that were beginning to see daylight then.

Hanna's pioneer has now grown into the second largest bat manufacturing plant in the country. It rocks along in the old Central of Georgia passenger depot—many times enlarged since the beginning—down back of the feed, seed and hardware district of Athens' business section. Clay Hanna came out of Indiana, stopped a spell in Columbia, S. C., and landed in Athens during the early innings of the first World War.

He has since passed on but the industry is still Hanna, from President Bob to a sister who is vice-president and secretary, and the first person you'll meet when you step inside the office door is Mrs. Bob Hanna, who is her husband's secretary.

From Crosscut Saw to Chico Carrasquel

Few citizens realize the care and handling that goes into the manufacture of a basehit. And this includes the uniformed heroes who use the bat as their tool of trade.

It brings in the Catskill Mountains of New York, where a couple of strong-backed lumberjacks force the teeth of a crosscut saw into the resistant grain of a Northern Ash. The Hannas have their own forests near Kingston, N. Y., for this is where the world's finest Ash is grown. For its weight and its toughness, Ash is the choice bat timber even if in the sports sections you still see it maintained that your hero was swinging a willow. Their own plants turn out Southern Ash, used in lower quality clubs, near Nashville, Tenn. For Hickory, the choice softball bat timber, there's another Hanna operation set up near Selam, Ala.

The raw materials make the trip to the Athens headquarters in round billets about three inches in diameter and roughly 40 inches long. Within 10 seconds, what in appearance is nothing more than a piece of firewood can be turned into an anti-pitcher gun by running it through a snaggled-tooth machine set to produce only a certain style bat.

This is only a bat in the coarse stage. But within the day it will have made the carefully conducted, hand to hand trip down the long building through the inspector, the sanding room, the dipping room (where it gets its color), another inspector, the stamping room (where it gets its label) and the lacquer room. It comes out a glistening product ready to be shipped to a D league club in Texas, an A league club in Colorado, a college in Utah, a sporting goods store or to Chico Carrasquel, the Chicago White Sox shortstop.

In peak season some 8,000 bats will make this Hanna tour daily. Some two millions make it a year.

Whim and Fancy, Sweat and Blood

The baseball bat industry thrives to a great extent on names. When a sandlotter looks for a bat, he goes for a style great hitters have used. He looks for a Williams, or Rizzuto, or DiMaggio or Appling's name on it. Signature models, or those that bear the players' autograph at the business end of the barrel, are any bat company's choice stock.

Shortstop sized Johnny Broadnax, once business manager of athletics at Georgia, runs this end of the Hanna operation. Luke Appling was Hanna's first big signature catch, signed up two decades ago before he left Atlanta for the Chicago White Sox. When he was unseated by Carrasquel, the alert Broadnax had his Latin successor in line before Chico ever left Venezuela for spring training.

A letter arrived last week from a Yankee outfielder who had used a Hanna on a friend's tip. He'd got four-for-six that day and was moved to place an order for a stick of the same model. A college player in Colorado wrote reporting a streak of 15 hits in 21 at-bats with a special black model.

By whim and fancy bats are sold. Something more than that goes into their manufacture. And the manufacture of basehits. Sweat and blood.

Record-Setting Vols Await Southern Foe

By EDWIN POPE

Tennessee already has established a psychological edge on its NCAA sectional playoff foe, whoever it may be.

All the Vols have to do is rest, wearing their well-fitting Southeastern Conference crown. But their yet-to-be-determined Southern Conference antagonist must worry (1) about nailing down a playoff spot and (2) facing the prodigious plate and pitching power of Cy Anderson's club.

Tennessee has had the SEC bauble nailed for better than a week. But it crashed on through last week with four straight victories over Kentucky to etch a new Dixie Dozen record of 16 straight victories.

Its final record is 16-1, leaving Alabama two and a half games back at 14-4. The Vols' only SEC loss was 15-3 to Florida on March 16.

While Silent Cy preens a Gibraltar-steady throwing corps of John Huffstettler, Billy Joe O'Kain, Billy Joe Bowman and Ace Adams and a sharp-hitting crew headed by gridders Bert Rechichar and Herky Payne, another conference club heads in the opposite direction.

That is Vanderbilt, already an unwilling record-setter for consecutive league losses with 13. The Commodores have two chances this week to perfect in reverse their all-games record. They haven't won in 16 tries, all told, but play at Middle Tennessee Tuesday and Murray State Saturday.

Clemson's Tigers, Maryland's Old Liners and a couple of other clubs yet to be determined will compete Friday and Saturday at Greensboro, N. C., for the Southern Conference Baseball championship.

The Tigers won the Southern Division crown with 16 wins and two defeats. They closed out their regular campaign Saturday by routing South Carolina, 16-5.

Maryland scored victories in all five of its loop outings last week to sew up the Northern flag with 11 triumphs and three lickings. The Old Liners celebrated Saturday with a 4-1 nonconference conquest of Johns Hopkins.

Winging down behind Tennessee and Alabama in near-final standings come Ole Miss, third; Florida, fourth, still with two conference games to play; LSU and Auburn, tied for fifth; Tulane, seventh; Miss. State, eighth; Georgia, ninth, and the final three—Georgia Tech, Kentucky and Vanderbilt—facing extended action.

Tech meets Kentucky here Monday and Tuesday. Florida finishes against Rollins Friday.

THIS WEEK'S SCHEDULE

Monday—Kentucky at Georgia Tech.
Tuesday—Kentucky at Georgia Tech; Vanderbilt at Middle Tennessee.
Friday—Rollins at Florida.

Pirates Return Pitcher to Seals

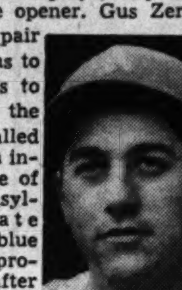

PITTSBURGH, May 13—(AP)—Con Dempsey, 27-year-old right handed pitcher purchased by the Pittsburgh Pirates from San Francisco on a 30-day trial, was returned to the Seals Sunday.

A's Clip Yanks Twice, 5-4, 9-6

Sharp Fielding, Zernial's Clouting Quells Bombers

PHILADELPHIA, May 13—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics swept a doubleheader from the New York Yankees, 5-4 and 9-6, Sunday.

Sharp fielding, including two nice plays by pitcher Carl Scheib and five double plays, helped the A's win the opener. Gus Zernial clouted a pair of home runs to lead the A's to victory in the nightcap, called at the eighth inning because of the Pennsylvania State Sunday blue law that prohibits play after 5:59 p. m. EST.

Carl Scheib

Yogi Berra, Yanks' catcher, ran his consecutive game-hitting streak to 13 games by getting two hits in the opener and a home run in the second game. The home run was Berra's fourth of the season.

Eddie Joost, the A's shortstop, was held hitless in two official trips to the plate in the nightcap, halting his consecutive game-hitting streak at 12.

Ferris Fain was the big run in the A's attack in both games, getting three hits in each tilt to lift his batting average to .379.

Red Sox Shell Nats, Win, 10-1

WASHINGTON, May 13—(AP)—Mel Parnell restricted Washington to seven hits and coasted to A 10-1 victory Sunday as Boston unloaded an 11-hit attack including home runs by Verne Stephens and Ted Williams.

The Senators scored their only run in the first inning when Mike McCormick singled Irv Noren across from second base, but Stephens opened the second inning with a home run over the right field fence off Bob Kuzva, the loser. It was the second homer Stephens has hit at Griffith Stadium in his major league career.

The Red Sox shelled Kuzva in the fourth inning, when they capitalized on his wildness to score four runs. Matt Batts walked and Parnell sacrificed before Dom DiMaggio blasted a double to center, Batts halting at third.

14 Sprinters In Toboggan

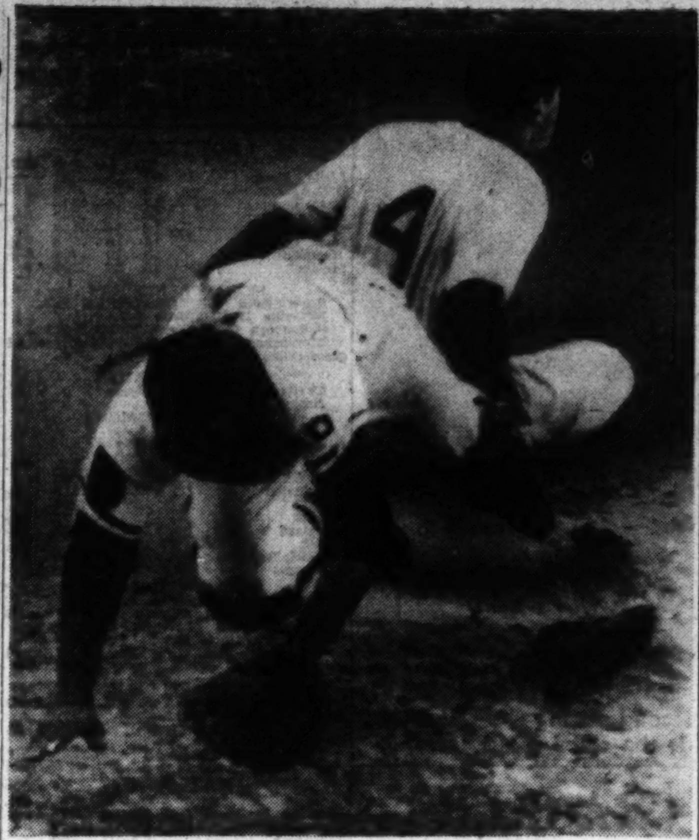

NEW YORK, May 13—(AP)—Fourteen classy sprinters are scheduled to start in the $20,000-added Toboggan Handicap Monday as beautiful Belmont Park opens its 34-day Spring meeting.

Three horses appear to have an edge in the six-furlong dash down the Widener straightaway course—Mrs. Andy Schuttinger's Ferd, Mrs. Louis Lazare's Sheilas Reward and F. Ambrose Clark's Tea-Maker.

Ferd is high weight under 126 pounds. Tea-Maker, disqualified for interference after winning the Jamaica Handicap last week, carries 123, with 122 for Sheilas Reward.

Others entered are Casemate, 119; War King, 110; the Elm Crest Farm entry of Bull Page, 105, and Navy Chief, 108; Hyphasis, 110; Big Story, 106; Sing Step, 111; Jumbo, 110; Delegate, 111, and Magic Words, 118.

Twenty-one stakes, with an added value of almost $500,000, will be raced on the flat and over-the-hurdles during the meeting.

Ramsdell Wins 1st As Reds Take Two

Ailing Cards Lose by 7-2, 6-3; Adcock Homers Twice

CINCINNATI, May 13—(AP)—Willard Ramsdell won his first game of the season for Cincinnati Saturday, 6-3, after Joe Adcock's two homers and effective redleg pitching proved too much for a thrown-together St. Louis team, 7-2, in the opener of a double-header.

The Reds won three of the four-game series. Kenny Raffensberger protected the first game for Howie Fox after the Reds' hurler pulled a back muscle in the seventh.

Ramsdell's teammates handed the four-time loser a five-run pillow in the third and notched another marker in the seventh to make up for a fourth-inning St. Louis run.

The Cardinals, terribly weakened by loss of men because of the flu and injuries, tried gamely to rally in the ninth of the last game.

The Reds crowded three runs into the first inning of the opener on a walk, double, outfield fly and Adcock's bases-empty homer. That lead was shaved to 3-2 in the next frame when Stan Musial and Joe Garagiola singled, Solly Hemus doubled and Dick Cole flied out to the infield.

In the third, the Rhinelanders put the game beyond recall as Adcock banged loser Max Lanier's first pitch for a three-run homer.

Grady Hatton walked, stole second and streaked home on Johnny Wyrostek's safety for an insurance run in the seventh.

Cubs Take First, Pirates Second

PITTSBURGH, May 13—Homers by Chicago's Hank Sauer and Johnny Cusick paced the Cubs to a 6-0 victory over Pittsburgh Sunday in the final half of a double-header. The Pirates won the first game, 2-1.

Murray Dickson held the Cubs scoreless for five innings of the second game. But in the sixth frame, shortstop Stan Rojek let Wayne Terwilliger's grounder get past him with two out. Sauer then drove in Terwilliger with an unearner homer. Cusick added another tally in the seventh with his circuit clout. Chicago had a big ninth inning with runs scored by Andy Pafko, Dee Fondy and Mickey Owen.

Braves Knocked From Loop Lead

BOSTON, May 13—(AP)—Carl Furillo's three-run homer clinched a 12-6 victory for the Brooklyn Dodgers over the Boston Braves Sunday. The Dodgers' victory ousted the Braves from the National League lead. Each team used four pitchers.

Travs Defeat Crackers Twice

Walker Protests 4-2 Loss; Little Rock Takes Second, 6-2

By JESSE OUTLAR

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 13—Most silent place in Little Rock, which isn't noted for noise, was the Atlanta clubhouse Sunday afternoon after the Travelers dealt the Crackers a 4-2, 6-2 double blow.

You could have heard a pin drop before Dixie Walker started to explain why he protested the first game. Of course, Dixie didn't do it, for he was already under the showers. Coach Whit Wyatt made the formal complaint in the ninth inning of the game, but he, too, had been banished.

Fireworks started in the eighth, when Walker was chased after vigorous argument over a close decision at first base. The Cracker pilot even got on his knees in his plea to Umpire Gerald Van Keuren. But all Dixie got was the thumb for the third time this season.

Peb Portsider Al Yaylian walked Jack Dittmer and Ray Williams with none out to set the stage for the dramatic ninth. Mgr. Gene DeSautels went out for a conference with his hurler. Then came the controversial play.

Walt Linden lined to Yaylian, who stabbed the ball, then dropped it. Al quickly recovered and threw to first to double Ray Williams. Van Keuren ruled that Laylian held the ball long enough to make the out official. Otherwise, Williams would have been safe as he slid back into the bag.

Practically no one, including the umpires, noticed that DeSautels made a visit to the mound for a conference with Yaylian.

Attention of the 6,306 customers was focused on the heated argument at first base, which resulted in Wyatt's ouster.

But, accoring to the Southern Association rule, a manager can't confer with his pitcher twice in an inning without removing himself or the pitcher. And, it was on that basis that Wyatt protested before he made his delayed exit.

There was no doubt about the short game. Milo Johnson, ace of the Peb staff, throttled the reeling Crackers on six hits to wrap up his sixth triumph. He has lost only once all year.

Couple the dual verdict and the Travelers now hold a two-and-a half length lead over Atlanta, which trailed by a mere point when the series started.

Walker doesn't know what to do about the spin his boys are in. They dropped three in a row after winning the first game from the Travelers and finished with 4-8 on the dismal road tour.

There wasn't much suspense in the first game Sunday. Yaylian spaced eight safeties, never allowing the Crackers two hits in a row.

The Travelers collected nine off Elmer Toth, who tumbled for the first time after registering three wins.

Meanwhile, the Travelers bunched six of their licks into the second and third innings, scoring twice in each round.

Hal Simpson opened the second with a double to right, Johnny Grice beat out an infielder and R. C. Otey followed with a single. However, Country Brown nailed Simpson at the plate with a fine throw. Thereupon, Larry Ciesielski dumped a two-run double.

With two down in the third, Toth passed Ken Humphrey and Simpson and singles by Red Cronin and Grice brought them over.

Thereafter, Toth allowed only three safeties—one an infield tap—as he hurled five scoreless stanzas.

Atlanta grabbed the lead in the second inning of the short game, when Jack Dittmer unloaded his second homer in two days and his third of the season.

But Johnson, perhaps the league's top hurler, didn't let another runner reach third until the seventh. Singles by Dittmer and Aucoin faked a rally, but a quick double play removed the threat.

Andy Elko, making his first start since May 4, went down to his first setback of the year as the Travelers settled the issue with five in the third.

The Travelers had bumped Andy for one run in the second and then really went to work. Simpson's double, which Aucoin gloved but couldn't hold, brought two runs home. Singles by Otey and Duke Doolittle drove in the other three.

Cracker hurlers didn't get Grice out officially all day. He had two singles, a walk and sacrifice in the first affair and two passes and a sacrifice in the second.

A three-day turnout of 14,278, largest here in years, witnessed the Crackers' miserable stay. Peb supporters, who haven't won a pennant since 1942, think they're

Larsen Trims Ted Schroeder

LOS ANGELES, May 13—(AP)—National Champ Art Larsen southpawed a 6-8, 7-5, 7-5, 6-3 triumph over veteran Davis Cupper Ted Schroeder Sunday in the finals of the 65th annual Southern California tennis championships.

Larsen, from San Leandro, Calif., kept Schroeder off balance with prodigious vollying at the net. Schroeder also was unable to match Larsen's agility in covering the court.

Schroeder, who sells ice boxes at La Crescenta, Calif., was third seeded in the tournment. He beat Larsen last September in the finals of the Pacific Southwest tournament here.

Records Fall at Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, May 13—(AP). Freddy Agabashian, veteran race driver of Albany, Calif., demonstrated again Sunday that old ideas of fast running at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway have become obsolete.

Agabashian qualified at 135.029 miles an hour for the 500-mile race May 30.

It would have been a record except that Duke Nalon of Sherman Oaks, Calif., and Lee Wallard of Tampa, Fla., already had erased the 10-mile speedway standards Saturday.

Only three cars qualified Sunday: Sam Hanks of Glendale, Calif., qualified at 132.998 and Walt Brown of Massapequa, L. I., N. Y., at 131.907.

Medalist Ragland Paces East Golf

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 13—(AP)—Medalist Bill Ragland of Chattanooga and Princeton University paced three other competitors into the semifinal round Sunday in the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf championships at the Yale golf course.

Ragland, Jack Nies of Georgetown, Paul Harney of Holy Cross and Lincoln Roden of Yale survived two preliminary rounds. The semifinals and final are scheduled Monday.

Peacock Pigeons Top Two in Race

Pigeons from the loft of Tommy Peacock finished first and second in the Charlotte, N. C., to Atlanta race staged by The Gate City Racing Pigeon Club Sunday.

The winner's time was 1,289 yards per minute. Russell Stripplin's birds finished second and third. Next Sunday's race will be a 300-mile affair from Greensboro, N. C., to Atlanta.

Don Liddle Returned To Crackers

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 13—Little Don Liddle, who southpawed through a 7-7 season with Atlanta in 1950, has been returned by Milwaukee and will join the Crackers early in the week.

Liddle, a fast-baller with control trouble, replaces Larry Lassalle on the Cracker pitching corps, which now numbers eight.

Lassalle, who made only one start this year, was farmed to Boston's Denver club Saturday as the Crackers cut down to the 19-player limit. The club can carry 22 players for the first 30 days.

Jubilee Stakes Canceled by Jockey Club

BALTIMORE, May 13—(UP)—The Maryland Jockey Club Sunday canceled its May 26 Jubilee Stakes at Pimlico, planned as a special match affair between the top four finishers of the Kentucky Derby and the forthcoming Preakness.

The announcement that the race was off was made by Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, President of the Jockey Club.

Meanwhile, a field of only three horses was being primed for Monday's $7,500 Preakness Prep, a race which may produce the post-time favorite for the Preakness on Saturday.

Brookmeade Stable's Bold was the popular choice, but there will be no wagering because of the size of the field. Other starters will be Hampton Stable's Alerted and King Ranch's Sonic.

Reckord said that the Jockey Club made the decision to call off the race after being informed that Count Turf, Derby winner and only remaining expected Derby starter in the Jubilee, was running a fever and had not been out of his stall for four days. Reckord said Trainer Sol Rutchik communicated with Jockey Club officials today and informed the club of the horse's condition.

Of the other three Derby finishers that had been invited to participate in the Jubilee, Phil D was not considered an entry after the horse suffered an injury at Churchill Downs.

Sam Wilson, owner of Derby runner-up Royal Mustang, said he was passing up the Jubilee in favor of getting his mount ready for Belmont. The other Derby finisher, Ruhe, is expected to go to the post in the Peabody Memorial at Chicago May 30.

Reckord said the Jockey Club in planning the proposed Jubilee Stakes had taken a "calculated risk," but that illness and other commitments of the Derby finishers prevented their being entered.

SHORT NOTES — Atlanta observes an off-day Monday and opens a nine-game stand at Ponce de Leon Park against New Orleans Tuesday. Memphis and Little Rock follow the Pels at Poncy. . . . Little Rock Manager Gene DeSautels was beaming Sunday. His wife is over the borderline after a serious operation. Outfielder Pat Haggerty, Southern Association sock champ in '50, is expected to arrive from Toledo this week, and First-Baseman Ralph Atkins may become a Traveler again. . . . Ex-Cracker Al Flair, who has been swinging a heavy club for the Rocks, ruptured a blood vessel Saturday night and was on the sidelines Sunday.

Elmer Toth had seven assists in the first game, only one short of the record for nine innings. Elmer handled all his chances in the first six innings. Peb pitcher Al Yaylian had six assists and a putout . . . Yaylian snapped two Cracker streaks in the first game. Hank Ertman didn't reach first on a hit or walk for the first time this season (29 games). Ray Williams failed to connect and his successive hitting spree ended at nine games . . . Three off-season bartenders were at work in the second game. Both starting pitchers, Little Rock's Milo Johnson and Andy Elko, and Umpire Frank Girard all set 'em up in the winter . . . Incidentally, Girard had to retire from the first game after being hit by a foul tip off Hal Simpson's bat, but came back in the second tilt.

SOFTEST TOUCH

Broadway Mob Hails Derby Winner's Owner

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, May 13—(INS)—The punters along Broadway have been second-guessing themselves ever since Count Turf won the Kentucky Derby.

"I should have known," said one punter," that Jack Amiel would come up with a winner. Everything that guy touches turns to gold."

He was referring, of course, to the owner of Count Turf. But, strangely enough, neither he nor any other punter begrudges Amiel his good fortune.

And when one of the Broadway mob has nothing but kind words for a man, that man must be a regular.

Amiel is all of that. He also is the softest touch on Broadway and a fast man with a buck in any league.

His colt won $98,000 for him in the Derby and he won a hatful in the machines. That's quite a chunk, but the dough doesn't mean half as much to Jack as the thrill of winning the classic.

He started spreading money around like a celebrating sailor after cleaning up in a dice game, and he has been spreading it ever since.

You see, Amiel simply can't say no to a hard luck tale. He knows what it means to be poor and he won't ever turn down a poor man he knows is down on his luck.

They say Jack is lucky. Sure he is. He was lucky when he bought Count Turf as a yearling for $3,700.

But there has been luck along the road to fortune.

He was born in New York 42 years ago and went to Public School 184. He started to help out the family budget when only 10 years old by selling candy in a movie theater.

From there it was but a step to "get your peanuts, popcorn, chewing gum, candy and cigarettes" in the ball parks.

And at 15, an age when most boys are still in school, he was in business for himself.

He first grabbed the concession for selling stuff in the Golden Rule Theater in the Bronx and when that venture succeeded, he spread out to other theaters.

Came the World's Fair in 1939 and he opened not one, but three restaurants and they were the most successful on the grounds.

Here and there along the way he picked up parcels of real estate with the shrewdness that has charcterized him all his life. And today he has three successful resturants going for him.

He also has Count Turk going for him and a bunch of other horses. He has been in the game for a dozen years but the Derby was his first big jackpot.

He has a lovely wife and two fine children, but, he says wistfully:

"I don't know when I can see them. Everybod wants to see me since the Derby. Sometimes I wonder how my pals can drink so much champagne—on the house, of course."

Browns Release Schacht, Lutz

ST. LOUIS, May 13—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns cut their roster to 24 men Sunday, then brought it back to the 25 limit with the acquisition of Pitcher Bob Hogue—secured on waiver from the Boston Braves.

The released players were Pitchers Sid Schacht to the Braves and Procopio Herra and Infielder Joe Lutz to San Antonio.

Herrera, young Mexican hurler, goes back to San Antonio on option.

Lutz also was sent to the Missions, on a conditional basis. He played first base in 14 games with the Browns.

Alex City Beats Valley On Allen's 3-Run Homer

Special to The Constitution

ALEXANDER CITY, Ala., May 13—Johnny Allen slammed out a three-run homer in the eighth inning Sunday and gave Alex City a 4-1 Georgia-Alabama League victory over Valley.

Both teams scored once in the first and the knot was not dissolved until Allen stepped up for his big clout.

The victory was the fourth for Raul Villimea against one loss. He struck out four, walked three and gave up seven hits. Alex City's top batters were Charles Rodriguez and Nat Haber, with two for three.

ROME 9 GRIFFIN 8

Rome, May 13—Bob Rucker doubled in the eighth inning, got to third on an out, then stole home to give Rome a 9-8 decision over Griffin here Sunday.

Rucker's double followed a three-run circuit knock by Claude Shoemaker, which put the game into an 8-8 tie. Shoemaker, regular right fielder for the Romans, took over the mound in the seventh.

Manager Leon Culberson led the Rome batsmen with three for four, including a double. Pimento Catcher Roy Drews homered in the eighth and got a single in tree trips and Mose Sabrine added a triple.

Chattanooga Pounds Pelicans By 9-1, 15-3

Get 25 Hits in Afternoon; Volunteers Also Take Two

By BILL FERGUSON
United Press Sports Writer

The hard-hitting Chattanooga Lookouts have forgotten temporarily about sliding back into the Southern Association cellar. Now they're looking for an opening in the first division.

Chattanooga's big bats shook everything but Lookout Mountain Sunday as the Tennesseans swept a home double-header with New Orleans, 9-1 and 15-3, to move into fifth place.

The Lookouts, who only last week were embedded in the Southern cellar, pounded out a total of 25 hits in the two games to record their 13th victory against 18 setbacks.

Chattanooga's Norman Brown hurled a nifty three-hitter as the Lookouts banged away 13 safeties to take the 9-1 decision in the opener.

In the seven-inning nightcap Ed Brooklyn limited the Pels to six blows while Chattanooga gathered 12.

The Vols went wild in the opener as they peppered four Bear hurlers for 18 hits while Red Barrett hurled a six-hitter to win, 18-0. It was Barrett's fifth win of the season.

Rookie Paul Schneider, who just arrived from Springfield, Mo., grabbed his second straight relief victory as Nashville bounced from behind to take the short second game, 8-7. Schneider came in during the seventh inning as the Vols trailed, 7-3.

The twin killing allowed Nashville to replace Birmingham in the No. 2 spot. The Barons split with the cellar-dwelling Memphis Chicks.

Birmingham pounded out 19 hits to take the slugfest opener, 15-13, but dropped the short second game, 5-2. The second game was called at the end of five innings because of darkness.

Tech Nine, Wildcats Play Today

Fresh from two victories over Georgia, Coach Pittard's Georgia Tech baseball team launches its final series of the year—a two-game stand against Kentucky—Monday afternoon at 4 p. m. at Rose Bowl Field.

The Jackets carry a 10-11 record into the season's final set. Kentucky, beaten Friday and Saturday by pennant-winning Tennessee, brings a 7-9-1 mark into the series. Within the SEC, Tech has won seven and lost 11, Kentucky has won four, lost eight and tied one.

It will be the second series of the season between the teams. Earlier, at Lexington, they divided a twin-bill, Tech taking the nightcap, 5-4, after losing the opener, 4-3.

Tech third baseman Bob Lusk collected four hits again Georgia over the week end to boost his batting average to a sizzling .499 for the season. Bobby North at .330, Lew Andrews at .324, Chappell Rhino at .316 and Powell Sheffer at even .300 are the Jackets' other big guns at the plate. Lusk leads the team in runs with 29, hits with 40, doubles with nine and runs batted in with 25. Dick Harvin paces the club in triples with four, while North, Sheffer and Bob McCoy share the home run lead with two each.

Bill Holt (0-1), Bainbridge soph, is Coach Pittard's probable hurling choice for Monday's game. Tuesday, the Jacket pilot plans to start all his seniors, meaning that reliefer Herb Bradshaw (4-1) will open on the hill. Either Al MacLeod (2-1) or C. M. Newton (2-4) hurls Monday for Kentucky.

Pittard Sunday corrected an erroneous version of the Saturday's victory over Georgia in which Clyde Young was listed as the winning pitcher for the second straight day. Buddy—not Clyde—started against Georgia Saturday after Clyde had beaten the Bulldogs Friday. Herb Bradshaw got credit for the Saturday triumph when he entered in the sixth.

Prep Net Meet Set at Piedmont

Play in the City high school girls tennis tournament resumes Monday on the courts at Piedmont Park. Starting time is 3:15 p. m. or as soon as those competing can gather from school.

Play for both singles and doubles championships will continue Tuesday and Wednesday. The opening round was played Wednesday.

'Shootka, Shootka'

And Russians Did, Often Enough To Take Europe Cage Title

PARIS, May 13—(AP)—"Shootka! Shootka!"

That's what players on Russia's basketball team scream at each other during a game. And they yelped the loudest Saturday when, before 18,000 fans, they won the European championship with a 45-44 victory over Czechoslovakia.

The Russian attack is spearheaded by Anatole Koniev, who shoots with either hand. He averages 20 points a game.

If Koniev doesn't push the ball in—and the Russians go in for one-handed push shots—then Otar Korkidja usually does.

Like most Russians abroad, the basketballers live in seclusion at the Soviet embassy, eating their meals there.

They take the game seriously. Coach Victor Spandarane says they don't drink or smoke, take long walks and, in general, "like a very simple life."

AMATEUR MOUND MAGIC

Seven Hurlers Here Whiff 107 Batters

Mother's Day was strike-out day on the Sunday Atlanta Amateur Baseball Federation front. Seven hurlers whiffed a total of 107 batters, an average of almost 16 per flinger, and two of those were beaten.

Ralph Bearden fanned 18 Cedar Grove swingers and allowed only seven hits in an Eastern League game, but his Rex mates bowed, 6-0, as Jack Andrews scattered nine blows and struck out seven.

Rip Mathis of Lakewood sent a third strike past 17, but East Point, tied with Tell for the Flint River League lead, shaded his Lakewood nine, 4-3, as Bubba Hamilton, his mound foe, whiffed 19.

Lefty Hoover Tally, who has struck out 27 batters and given only nine safeties in his last two starts, got 12 on third strikes as Tell toyed with North Clayton, 10-2.

Wee Wiley Walker hurled the top game of the day, an 18-strikeout two-hitter that gave Piedmont Park a 12-2 National loop verdict over Gaylord.

Hubie Pickens struck out 11, pitched a seven-hitter and banged five singles in five trips as the Bethel Rebels tamed Stockbridge, 24-2. Cousin Ray Pickens rapped a triple, home run and three singles for six to help Hubie.

Perry Gantt of Doraville whiffed 12 and allowed only five blows as Decatur Standard Oil fell, 15-6, in the North Atlanta League.

Charlie Bowen's Travelers Protective nine won its fifth game without defeat in the Georgia League, shelling the Candler Park Vets, 13-2, on Harvey Robertson's seven-hit, eight-strikeout stint.

The East Side Cards came from behind in the same loop to nick the Candler Park Civic Club, 9-8, in ten innings as Boot Foster allowed only four blows in seven innings of relief and followed Bill King's tenth-inning triple with a game-winning single. Bill King clouted two triples and two singles in six times at bat.

Grant Park and Exide Battery remained undefeated in the National League, Billy Moore's gang smacking LeMas Jewelry, 11-8, and Exide slashing Talerico's, 36-6, as Charlie Holt, Roy Hunt, Pete McCain and Lamar Altman accounted for 16 of the winners' 28 blows. Holt had a perfect five for five.

Bolton Post 156 slugged out 25 safeties to bowl over Forest Park, 21-10, in a Chattahoochee League slugfest. B. J. Baxter went the route for Bolton, being tagged for 17 hits. Bo Nunro of Stockbridge went him one better, going the route and being socked for 26 Bethel Rebel hits.

Wrestling Gorilla Steps Out to Dine

Am-Bam, younger brother of Joe, the boxing gorilla who will appear on Promoter Paul Jones' wrestling program Friday night at the City Auditorium, caused quite a stir downtown Sunday night when he dropped in at a popular eating establishment for a dish of ice cream.

Am-Bam showed excellent table manners despite the fact that a huge crowd gandered at him from the sidewalk. He was accompanied by his trainer and owner, Robert Noell.

The baby gorilla weighs 80 pounds and is two-and-a-half years old. Big Brother Joe, who will box Tiger Kirkland 10 rounds or less Friday, tips the beam at 190.

Dale Morey Wins Greenwood Golf

GREENWOOD, Miss., May 13—(AP)—Dale Morey, of Dallas Texas, defending tournament champion, downed Eddie Merrins of Meridian, Miss., 5 and 4, in the 18-hole championship match of the Fourth Annual Greenwood Invitational Golf Tournament.

Morey was 4 up on Merrins at the end of the first nine holes. The match ended on the fourteenth hole.

Both golfers treated their gallery to brilliant shooting in the first nine of the championship match.

Argentines Win

DUBLIN, Ireland, May 13—(AP). Argentina defeated Ireland, 1 to 0, Sunday in a fast, clean soccer game before 42,000 in Dalymount Park Stadium.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Sam Snead Captures Crown In Greenbrier Open With 263

Condensed From Wire Services

Sam Snead whizzed around the old White course at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Sunday in a six-under par 64 to capture the Greenbrier Open with a 72-hole total of 263.

Jim Ferrier, of San Francisco, who started off even at 199 with Snead on the final round wound up with a 68 and total of 267.

Snead was off and running from the beginning of the last go-round, rolling in three birdies on the first nine. He took only three strokes on the par-five 12th and annexed a birdie on the 13th. Otherwise he matched par and never got into trouble.

Being a "stool pigeon" has been legalized in the Southwest Conference. Faculty committee of the conference, in its annual Spring meeting at College Station, Texas, admonished each of the seven member schools to report even the slightest rumor that any athlete is getting more than the conference law allows. The ceiling is board, room, tuition, institutional fees and $10 per month.

Chicago's Johnny Bratton will seek to add New York recognition to his NBA welterweight title Friday night when he collides with Cuba's Kid Gavilan in a 15-round championship bout. Bratton won the NBA crown when he defeated Charlie Fusari. New York will recognize Friday's winner as World Champion. The 9 p. m. (EST) bout will be broadcast by ABC and telecast by NBC.

A Yonkers raceway spokesman said Sunday an announcement is expected Monday on the probe which the New York State Harness Racing Commission is conducting at the track. There have been reports of an attempted betting coup.

The 1952 National Championships of the U. S. Figure Skating Association will be held March 26-29 at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Navy sailed its way out of a tight spot Sunday to edge Princeton, 131-129, in the America Cup Regatta. Georgetown placed third with 126 and defending champion Kings Point trailed in fourth with 119 as the dinghies pushed hard against a 12-knot wind on the Severn River at Annapolis.

Charles Polich, of Caspian, Mich., moved into second place in the singles division of the American Bowling Congress tournament at St. Paul Sunday with a 739 total.

GIAA Elects Deck, McNabb

Russell High Principle L. L. Deck, 1950-51 vice president of the GIAA, will head the organization during the 1951-52 school year. He was elected by coaches from the four State regions over the weekend in Athens, succeeding Atlanta's Roy Davis.

Elected as vice was Harold McNabb, principal of Albany High. Sam Burke of Thomaston is the group's executive secretary.

At the same meeting, Marietta coach James (Red) Pressley was elected to the executive committee from Region Four. Charlie Waller, now an assistant coach at Auburn, formerly represented the region.

Torgeson Named Braves Delegate

BOSTON, May 13—(AP)—First Baseman Earl Torgeson succeeds Tommy Holmes as player-representative of the Boston Braves. The announcement was made Saturday night.

Rex Barney Walks 16 for Texas Record

FORT WORTH, Texas, May 13—(AP)—Rex Barney broke the Texas League record for bases on balls here Sunday night when he gave up 16 as the Fort Worth Cats bowed to the Houston Buffs and Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell. The score was 6-2.

The record was 14, established by Bonno, of Galveston, in 1899 and tied by Grodzicki, of Houston, in 1938.

Despite Barney's wildness, the Buffs were a long time beating him in the 2-hour and 45-minute contest. Until the eighth inning he had a 1-1 tie and had granted only two hits. When he loaded the bases in the eighth and then walked in the untying run and missed with his first two pitches to Jerry Witte, Bill McCahan replaced him.

Trojans Win Track Title

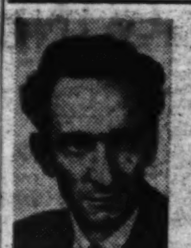

FRESNO, Calif., May 13—(AP)—Southern California's powerful Trojans Sunday held their 19th team championship in the 25-year history of the West Coast Relays.

Their win in the coast's biggest athletic carnival here Saturday night—the sixth stright for Coach Jess Mortenson — re-emphasized that the Trojans are the team to beat in the National Collegiates in Seattle next month.

A crowd of 14,000 watched Southern California parade a wealth of track and field talent in piling up 84 points in the intercollegiate division and 67½ in the open-collegiate class.

UCLA was second in both divisions, with 48 3-5 points in intercollegiate and 45 in open collegiate.

Monday Music Menu Maintains Quality

By PAUL JONES

Our mail bag would indicate that, while teevee has knocked most of our radio listening for a healthy loop, Monday night's great line-up of music programs, still has a tremendous pulling power.

Almost every day the mailman brings a letter from some reader saying he'd like to know more about what's being played on the serious music programs.

And, there are legions of folks who follow the radio dramas just as avidly.

Monday night traditionally has been music night on WSB since we can remember. The Telephone Hour, Firestone Hour, Railroad Hour not only feature the top artists of the nation, but their selection of music is superb.

This Monday night, for instance, Gordon MacRae will be joined by soprano Mimi Benzell in Sigmund Romberg's "Nina Rosa" during the the Railroad Hour broadcast at 8—WSB-NBC. . . . Ferrucio Tagliavini will be guest soloist on the Telephone broadcast at 9—WSB-NBC, when he sings "Una Furtiva Lagrima," by Donizetti and "Ed Anche Beppe Amo," by Mascagni. . . . Paul Lavalle and the Band of America will feature "Trooping of the Colors" in Armed Forces musical salute at 9:30—WSB-NBC, when the band plays the marching songs of all major service branches. . . . Eugene List, brilliant young American pianist, will be soloist with the Boston Pops orchestra at 10 when he plays Cesar Franch's Symphonic Variations for Piano and Orchestra. The orchestra will mix classics with a medley from "Annie Get Your Gun."

The Voice of Firestone, which has been a simulcast since the cable came through, will be heard on radio at 8:30 and on WSB-TV at 7:30. Rise Stevens will sing "Songs My Mother Taught Me," "Lover Come Back to Me," and Lara's "Novillero." Music on both shows will be identical.

TELEWISE—The only celebrity to stump the What's My Line panel—Dizzy Dean—will join George V. Allen, former White House wit; H. V. Kaltenborn and John Cameron Swaze, NBC's crack TV newscaster on the "Who Said That?" quote game at 8—WSB-TV.

Screen actor Dick Foran stars in Paul Vincent Carroll's "The Old Foolishness" on Studio One at 9—WAGA-TV. Beatrice Straight and John Newland will team in another top teevee drama, "The Pomegranate Seed" on Lights Out at 8:30—WSB-TV. . . . Lux Video Theater at 7—WAGA-TV spotlights Harry W. Junkin's thriller, "Local Storm," with Betty Field in the lead.

Fun, charades and surprises keynote the Paul Winchell-Jerry Mahoney show at 7 on WSB-TV when the two play the guessing game, "What's My Name?" . . . Connie Sawyer comedienne and song-satirist, will be guest on the Garry Moore Show at 12:30—WAGA-TV. . . . An interesting study of "Plant Life in the Okeefenokee" will be offered by WSB-TV's "Live and Learn" show at 10 a. m. Dr. Arthur Cohen, of Oglethorpe University, will be in charge of the show.

A School Change in the Making

It is good that sentiment is growing among legislators for a change in the administrative setup of the Georgia school system.

Only a quick look at the present organization is needed to confirm that a change should have occurred long ago and is mandatory now with the increased responsibilities of the schools and the public demand that greater appropriations result in commensurate improvement in school instruction.

The immediate past president of the Georgia Education Association, Kankakee Anderson, has declared it is impossible to administer a school program the size of that contemplated with the present organization.

How this antiquated system functions, when it does, may be summed up briefly as follows: Members of the state school board, a constitutional body, are appointed by the Governor for staggered terms. The state school superintendent is elected by the people.

Generally speaking, the board holds over-all responsibility and lays down policies for the superintendent to follow. But the laws are so overlapping and confused that no one, not even the attorney general, is willing to say from month to month and from crisis to crisis whose authority extends where. Enough confusion is generated by the simple fact that a superintendent deriving his authority from the people is under supervision of a board named by the governor.

Obviously the board ought to be elected by the people and the superintendent appointed by it. Similar changes should be made in local school systems.

There is, of course, the problem of persuading capable persons to offer themselves as candidates for the school board. Such important posts cannot be left to run-of-the-mill politicians. It will be up to the school people and to responsible citizens to see that men of integrity and ability become candidates and are elected.

Some legislators prefer election of the school board by the General Assembly. That would be preferable to the present method, but the fact remains that almost invariably the incumbent governor actually chooses those whom the General Assembly elects.

At this stage the important thing is that a change definitely is in the wind. And the schools and the people will benefit.

Some Reminders About the British

The British decision to stop exports of rubber to Communist China, at least for the remainder of the year, ought to be welcomed in this country as another manifestation of a change in sentiment.

A cynical view of "it's about time" will serve no purpose except to add fuel to the unfortunate friction that has been growing recently between the two countries, especially since General MacArthur said exports through Hong Kong were materially aiding the Communist Chinese in Korea.

We do not put ourselves into the position of defending all particulars of British participation in the Korean War. But the fact remains that the English-speaking nations form the keystone of the hope of the free world. If disagreement ever is allowed to split Great Britain and America, then the alliance of the democratic countries is seriously endangered.

We in this country feel keenly that Britain has only about 22,000 members of the UN armed forces in Korea while this country has about 300,000. It is a fact for which Winston Churchill reproaches his own country.

There are other factors, though, which ought to be considered. About 120,000 British troops are fighting the Communists in Malaya in an action which may have as great an ultimate effect as Korea. Moreover, Great Britain is only a few miles, and a few minutes, from Russian bombers. If America were similarly situated, would citizens of this country tolerate the sending of thousands more troops to the other side of the world when the menace was poised at our own back door?

These are facts that ought to be remembered in any criticism of Great Britain, though they are not to say that criticism is thereby unjustified.

We agree with Mr. Churchill, for instance, that continued British recognition of the Peiping regime is an anomaly that ought not to be tolerated. Perhaps the original British aims—of providing a listening post and a medium through which Peiping might be weaned away from Russia—were sound ones. But if so they long since have lost validity.

Neither can any case be made now for admission of Red China to the UN, or for giving up Formosa to the Communists.

And it is difficult to see how Britain seriously could make an issue out of rearmament vs. the welfare program.

Yet, it must be equally puzzling to the British that this country, with an abundance of meat, allows the price to go beyond all bounds of reason.

And though the situation is being corrected now, the British could hardly understand how this country, calling upon Britain and other free nations to rearm, virtually monopolized the raw materials markets and, with its superior financial resources, bid prices so high as to make it almost impossible for Britain to compete.

Even this country's diplomatic linen is not spotless in our relations with Britain and other allies. Our State department in the past has been prone to spring decisions, such as the projected rearmament of Germany, upon our allies with no prior notice or discussion.

We do not cite these factors as excuses for British lagging in rearmament. But we do believe the American public ought to make every effort to understand the British position rather than lash out in blind and venomous criticism.

Americans ought to remember too that the British have not, in 10 years, had enough to eat, enough to wear or enough fuel to keep them warm. If they are sometimes bitter over the demands from this side of the Atlantic, these facts ought to be considered.

Most of us over here hold no brief for the Labor government, but it is no more fair to hold every Briton responsible for the mistakes that are made than it would be for the British to hold every American individually responsible for the mistakes of Harry Truman.

The overriding fact is the British are our firmest ally and when the showdown comes we can count on them. And we cannot afford to forget that it was the British people who held the fort of freedom alone in 1940-41 while America was getting ready.

Electricity and Rural Progress

A report by the Department of Agriculture that 19 out of every 20 farm homes in Georgia are furnished with REA electric service shows our state is well up with the rest of the country in this respect and ahead of many states.

It was only a few years ago that electricity in the farm home was a rarity.

It is good to know Georgia is in the forefront of this development which is one of the chief factors behind the farm revolution in progress for the last two decades.

Give and Take

The Editors: The President currently celebrated his 67th birthday, and Joe wanted to bestow as many atomic candles upon him . . . to make sure he'd show up missing on his 68th.

Personally, I was unable to send Harry a bargain basement tie, but there is one thing he might do for me (and millions); that is, put his ever-promising clamp on prices, so I won't have to buy my next pair of shoes on installments. MILTON FRISCH.

Atlanta.

Tomorrow, Not Yesterday

The Editors: The issue of most concern to me, and I'd think to most Americans, is not who was wrong in Korea last September, November, or last week, but who is wrong today and will be wrong tomorrow if policies aren't changed.

Washington should remember well Billy Mitchell who had a plan. A plan right or wrong is better than no plan at all. At least we will die fighting.

The Maginot Line of France would've held until now had there not been the corruption in Paris, the like of which is in Washington today. And damn a man whose only offense is to call his attacker an S. O. B. I can imagine the Reds behind the border are beginning to feel like dogs for cursing us about the limit of our State Department offensive to date.

Of all the MacArthur blunders mentioned by this (40-year soldier May 4), none would rank with a (U. S. A., 1951-France, 1941). Let's hope MacArthur remains blunderer No. 1

Regarding TB Hospitals

The Editors: About the article in The Constitution May 2 regarding establishing a "TB" hospital in Fulton.

Without the least reflection on the management of Battey, which is believed to be efficient, nevertheless, simple common sense will tell you Battey is no place for a "TB" hospital or, in fact, any kind of hospital. U. S. selection notwithstanding.

Battey is near two rivers and partially in a semi-swamp, becoming so damp that the oak flooring has to be renewed on account of rotting out due to extreme dampness, which is said to be an extreme detriment to the treatment of "TB."

As to location, Alto and Battle Hill, in the judgment of an average layman, were far superior to this semi-swamp which, unfortunately, retards treatment.

It is inconceivable how anyone can disagree with Dr. Aven that Fulton County should have its own "TB" hospital.

At Last, a Ceiling on Thumbs

Reductions ranging up to twelve cents a pound on some cuts are scheduled under retail ceiling prices which go into effect at the nation's meat markets this morning.

Who said there was no beef in Gilead?

The advent of the price rollback at the butcher-shops is welcome news to the nation's housewives who, having tired of meat-substitutes, were casting about for meat-substitute substitutes.

A lot of people who like their meat rare, I mean, have been getting it increasingly rarely. We had meatless days before but never so many, hand-running.

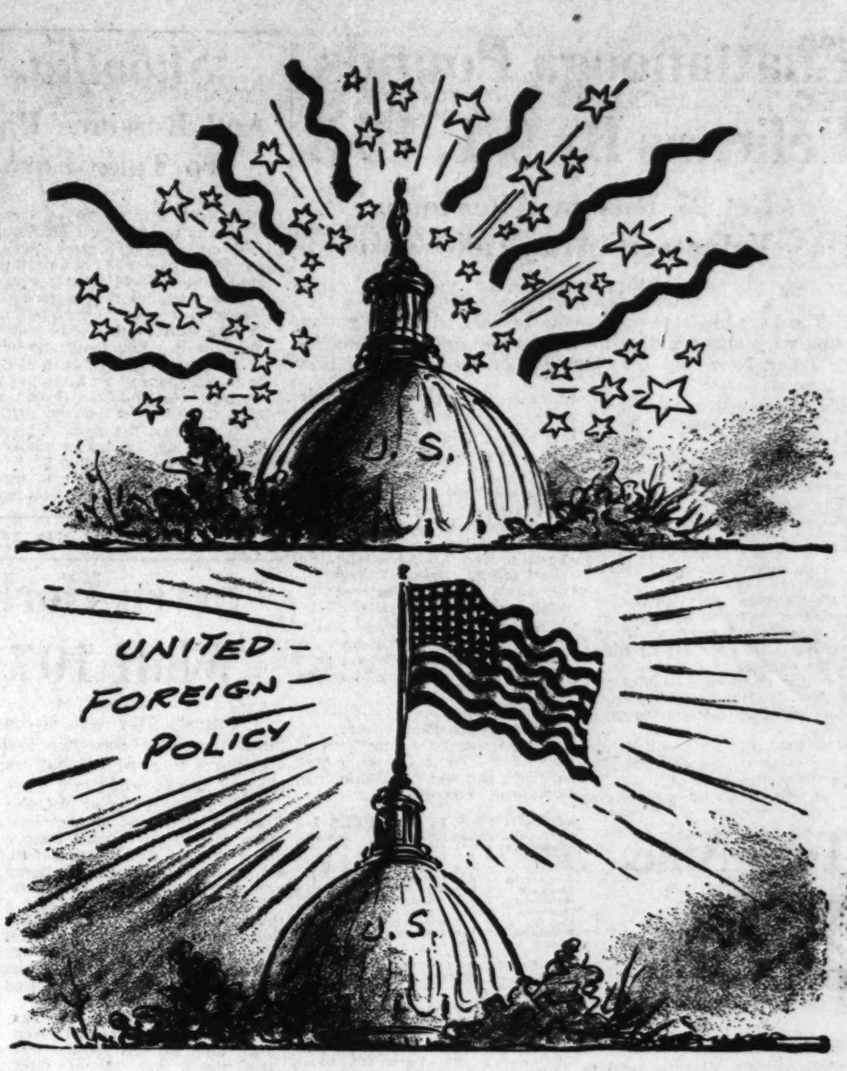

The government's attempt to control meat prices comes nearly eleven months after the beginning of the Korean war, a period during which beef increased from seven to eight cents a pound on the hoof and even more a carat on the plate.

Uncle Sam, to mangle a metaphor, is locking the barn door after the cow jumped over the moon.

Of course, in all fairness, it should be pointed out that the government did take one previous action calculated to stem the bull market in meat: Its credit restrictions served to restrain some of us who had been buying our Sunday roasts on the installment plan.

Now, however, the OPS is requiring the posting of dollar-and-cent price-ceilings and the neighborhood butcher will have something other than his conscience to guide him.

Incidentally, even under the new ceilings, ground meat will sell for 65 cents a pound. So don't hold your breath while you wait the return of that old friend, the five-cent hamburger.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

A Clearer View On Chiang Kai-shek

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Defense Marshall's testimony before the Senate Far Eastern policy investigating committee cleared up one major point of controversy regarding the Korean war.

This concerns the failure of our military command to accept the offer of Chiang Kai-shek for use of a part of his Nationalist forces on Formosa against the Communist aggressors in Korea.

Heretofore various reasons have been assigned to our refusal to accept Chiang's offer of aid. The most conspicuous of these, and the one which seemed to carry the greatest weight, was that we refrained from using the Nationalist forces at the start for fear of bringing the Chinese Reds into the fight. We did not want to do anything that would aggravate intervention by the Chinese Communists.

To put Chiang down in Korea and thus give the Nationalist leader a foothold on the Chinese mainland, it was argued, would be a red flag in the face of the Chinese Communists.

That was a tenable theory up to the time the Chinese Reds intervened last November. After that the reason appeared no longer to carry sufficient force. Among those who had led the clamor from the beginning for utilizing Chiang's men, renewed demands were put forth for bringing the Nationalists into the fighting.

Climax The final climactic thing which set off the President's dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur was the letter he wrote to House Minority Leader Joe Martin making vigorous complaints against the decision of the Joint Chiefs of Staff not to use Chiang's forces. On the surface, great weight seemed to attach to MacArthur's point that, the Chinese Reds already having intervened in Korea, there was no longer any sound reason why we should deny ourselves the Nationalist reinforcements that had been proffered.

It was a point that carried some appeal until the testimony of Secretary Marshall was made available. What he revealed has thrown much more light on the situation. It now develops from his testimony that the fear of bringing Red China into the war was always a secondary consideration. The primary reason had to do with the reliability and dependability of Chiang's troops.

Secretary Marshall disclosed that at the outbreak of the Korean conflict last June 25 serious consideration had been given to proposals for accepting Chiang's offer to send some 33,000 men to Korea. To that end we sent a large military mission to Formosa to survey the situation. The mission, made up largely of MacArthur's own staff officers, went into the matter thoroughly. What we were concerned about was whether, from the standpoint of training, morale and equipment, Chiang's forces could be relied upon to stand up.

We wanted to make sure, in particular, that the same thing that had happened before in China did not happen again. We did not want to put Chiang's men down in Korea only to see them go over to the Communists. Many of them had been away from the Chinese mainland for several years and there may have been a temptation to them to lay down their arms and join the Communists with a view to returning to their former homes, their families and friends.

Adverse Report After spending some time in Formosa the mission reported adversely on the use of Chiang's men. The contents of the report have been withheld from the public for military reasons, but it is significant to note that even General MacArthur subscribed to its findings. He evidently regarded the use of Nationalist forces as a risk not worth taking.

This, it should be carefully noted, was in July or August of last year. Some three months later when the Chinese Reds swept across the Manchurian border in November, MacArthur changed his tune. Hard pressed to meet the attack, he began to call for authority to bring in Chiang's troops.

Such blunderers we are. Scarcely a day but there's some apologizing to do.

Don't let it worry you overmuch. Only worry if you fail to be sensitive to your shortcomings.

Life is a complex. Every one by now should know this. Each of us is involved in so many relationships and obligations that it is all but impossible to keep full faith with every one of them.

It is comforting to know that if we love one another with a love divinely nurtured, we may still err in judgment or deed; but we will be accepted on the plane of our achievements more than on that of our failures.

Grant unto us, O God, the mind of Christ in our dealings one with another. Renew within us a right spirit.

How About 'Kennesaw Parkway'?

On the quest for a fitting name for the Four-Lane Highway to Marietta, I have a comrade. Or is it safe to use the word "comrade"? Some McCarthy-minded individual might come along to impugn our motive and say we intend to name the left lane only. Anyway, I have reinforcements. Chess Abernathy, in his "Off the Chest" column in The Cobb County Times, urges "all Cobb County citizens to flood" this column with ideas. Then the manager at Brumby Press throws in a few notions of his own. The double-track from Atlanta could be called "Bell Boulevard," "Bomber Boulevard" or "Lockheed Highway," Chess suggests. Former Congressman Malcolm Tarver worked to get the superhighway, as did John Heck, Cobb commissioner who was a member of the State Highway Board when the groundwork for the road was laid.

If Brother Abernathy had to give a casting voice, he would go along first wtih Wayne Hinson's "favorite son" nomination and vote for "Brumby Boulevard" in honor of a great guy, Otis Brumby. The favored son failing to poll enough strength, Chess would release his delegation to the support of "Kennesaw Mountain Parkway," which he says could be shortened to "Kennesaw Parkway."

He concludes, "We hope a good name is found that will stick . . . but it will be mighty difficult to get one that will replace that popular phrase, "The Four-Lane."

OTHER SUGGESTIONS: Northen Highway, suggests J. H. Medlock, 539 Grant St., Atlanta, "in memory of Georgia's Governor Northen." Mrs. C. B. Nolan of Morrow would name the road "The Ivy (var. IV) Trail" because, she says, as the ivy vine clings to everything it touches, so do we good Georgians cling to the red old hills and "trail along in our good old way."

William E. Hutchinson wants to get up to date on the naming of this glorious highway and call it "MacArthur Way." "We will at least have the majority of our population on our side, and I am sure the general would not object," says this gentleman whose letter is postmarked Kingsport, Tenn.

But "Truman Way" would be more appropriate, according to trade journal editor Clyde Lamar, who commutes in my company daily. Clyde favors the Truman tag because he says the four-lane is crowded with drivers who don't seem to know exactly where they are going.

SPEAKING OF NAMES, who knows why Cooper's Creek, which rises in Mulkey's Gap near the Union-Fannin county line, was so christened? If you know, write and tell Ella Cooper (Mrs. Frank) Garner of Toccoa, Ga.

Mrs. Garner, who does "News and Views About People You Know" for The Toccoa Record, has written me that she is trying to trace the Cooper line. Her grandfather was George Anthony Cooper, a Confederate captain.

Hew to the 'Point 4' Line

WASHINGTON—The so-called Point 4 program originated by President Truman in his inaugural address is, as we know, designed to provide technical assistance and know-how to underdeveloped nations to modernize agricultural methods, promote industrialization, improve health and education and the like. It is, inherently, a self-help program, aimed at helping such nations to help themselves. It is thus in the best traditions of democracy and in sharp contrast with outside imperialism and exploitation which too long has been the practice and the cause of much of the world's present distress. Already, with very meager appropriations, a fine beginning has been made under the program, now directed by Dr. Henry G. Bennett, former president of Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Now, however, it is feared that the democratic, self-help concept might be changed if success comes to an attempt now being made to transfer the program from the State department to the Economic Co-operation Administration, which supervises the Marshall Plan. A decision is imminent on this proposed shift.

This is represented as more than a controversy over jurisdiction by those familiar with the objectives of the Point 4 program. In it they see a danger that the program might become a cover for business operations on the old pattern by powerful interests because of their natural influence within ECA, which deals essentially with business and industrial matters.

The State department, it is contended, is the logical agency of jurisdiction because of its over-all, long-range direction of foreign policy.

Inspiration for transfer of the Point 4 program seems to have come from the report a few weeks ago of the International Development Advisory Board appointed by President Truman, headed by Nelson A. Rockefeller, though such a conclusion does not appear necessarily to follow.

What that board recommended to the President was creation of one over-all agency, under a single administrator, in which all foreign economic activities would be centralized, but specifying that it should operate under over-all foreign policy as laid down by the Secretary of State on behalf of the President and under general mobilization policy laid down by the defense mobilization director. No such agency is being created.

The board did note a series of recommendations about means to encourage private investment abroad, including tax incentives, bilateral tax and commercial treaties, underwriting of transfer risk on foreign dollar obligations, an affiliate of the International Bank for Loans to Private Enterprise, and an assistant administrator, preferably a businessman, charged to encourage maximum and most effective use of private enterprise.

The Rockefeller group, itself, in discussing Point 4 program objectives, argued eloquently for retaining its self-help, democratic status, as follows:

"The United States was built upon faith, more specifically, upon faith in people, in their ability to govern themselves, and in their capacity to advance their common interest through their own labors. . . . in offering to work in partnership with all those who seek to forward this freedom, there can be no thought of imposing our institutions upon other people.

"The concept of freedom is and always has been a liberating one, a revolutionary idea that rejects the inevitability of poverty and injustice and demands continuous improvement. It rejects the claim of any who in the name of 'progress' or 'equality' or even 'liberty' impose their own dictatorship upon people. We believe that liberty thrives best under genuinely democratic institutions.

"Our concept of economic development, it will be seen, carries with it land and other reforms where the people feel them needed, a living wage fair and rising labor standards, full participation in the benefits accruing from increased wealth or income, the removal of discriminations based on race, color, nationality, religious belief, caste or sex. It also includes freedom of speech, freedom from want, the right of trial by jury, the right to vote, the right to self-organization, the right to work, the right to strike. It also includes training in democracy to enable all of the people to take an active part in public affairs."

In this there is no single word of encouragement to old-time business imperialism, with its exploitation of lesser-favored people for private profit. And we should be sure that our Point 4 program comes under no influence that will belie these splendid objectives laid down by the Rockefeller committee.

Didn't Have to Go—They Could Starve

When the Trustees started to raise the second contingent to settle Georgia, it was done with great fanfare. Exaggerated descriptions of Savannah and the new colony led the emigrants to believe that life there was a bed of roses, so more than a thousand applications for transportation to this Utopia poured into the Trustees' land office. General Oglethorpe, in England to personally escort the new settlers to America, had other ideas. He needed men to establish military posts against the threatened Spanish invasion from Florida and here was the answer to his problem! When the ships arrived off the Georgia coast, the captains refused to detour to the south so the people were transferred to small boats and forced to row for five days, down the inland waterway to the Altamaha. All food and liquor was placed in the leading boats so the others followed or starved. To land in this wilderness without food or firearms was certain death. Oglethorpe followed the expedition and founded the military town of Frederica on St. Simon's Island.

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, May 13—In its first four months and ten days, the Democratically-controlled Eighty-second Congress has enacted only 28 public laws and is behind the law production output of the Republican-controlled Eightieth Congress, which President Truman denounced as a "do nothing Congress."

None of the major platform planks upon which President Truman won election in 1948 for a second term has been approved by this Congress, and there are no indications any of them will become law, at least during the current session.

Of 37 specific legislative recommendations by the President upon which the House keeps a running box score, only three have become effective as a result of Congressional action since January. In baseball terms, it could be said that the President's batting average, so far as Congress is concerned, is a meager .081.

None of the three White-House-backed measures which ran the congressional gauntlet successfully could be described as a major campaign promise. Two of them affected only soldiers or veterans of the war in Korea, one granting a free $10,000 life insurance policy to all serving in our armed forces over there and the second granting medical, burial and pension rights to veterans of the Korean War equal to those already authorized for veterans of World War II.

The third congressional victory for the administration was, in a sense, a "negative victory" for it concerned the President's reorganization plan affecting the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and substituting a single administrator for the old five man board. Opponents of the plan were in the majority in both the House and Senate, but they could not rally a constitutional majority in either chamber—218 in the House or 49 in the Senate—to defeat the reorganization order.

IN THE OUTPUT OF LAWS GENERALLY, the present Congress has passed 28 public laws and 27 private laws. However, it is only four and one-half months old. This compares with 60 public laws and 38 private laws enacted by the Eighty-first Congress in the same period, and 47 public laws and three private laws approved by its predecessor, the Eightieth Congress.

But of the 28 public laws thus far enacted in 1951, only four may be said to be of broad national concern. One authorized a huge naval expansion program, while another extended for 90 days the power of the Federal Government to control rents. A third laid down the rules under which the government might renegotiate defense contracts to save money. A fourth amended the McCarran Internal Security Act so as to permit admission to the United States of displaced persons who fall under the category of "involuntary" members of Fascist, Communist or other totalitarian organizations.

The record of the present Congress is a source of considerable concern to the White House, which, naturally, is anxious to gain legislative approval for as much of the presidential program as is possible. In influential quarters on Capitol Hill, it is asserted that some of the blame for lack of legislative progress properly should be laid to the President, who has not, these sources declare, done all that he might have done to improve and cement his relations with members of the House and Senate, Republicans as well as Democrats.

AT BOTH THE WHITE HOUSE AND AT THE CAPITOL, active consideration is being given to plans for improving legislative liaison. To meet this need in part, the White House recently added former Rep. John Carroll, Colorado Democrat, to its staff.

Under the Legislative Reorganization Act, Congress tries to end its first session by July 30, but it is quite apparent this deadline will not be met this year. With only six weeks remaining before the end of the fiscal year on June 30, none of the major appropriation bills yet has cleared both Houses.

Only a few of the big money measures have passed the House, and each of these has suffered major, and, in the view of the Administration, damaging reductions and restrictions.

The President's request for more than $16,000,000,000 in new taxes, later cut to $10,000,000,000, to keep the budget in balance, still is under study by the House Ways and Means Committee. Amendments adopted thus far make it clear that the new taxes will not be effective for all of the 1951 calendar year, and that the revenue raised by the increased rates and excises will not produce even the $10,000,000,000 additional requested by Mr. Truman.

An emergency aid measure to alleviate famine in India has been before the Congress since Feb. 12, when Mr. Truman submitted a special message, but neither house has acted so far. The original plan was to give India a total of 2,000,000 tons of food grains, but it was clear that this would be defeated if brought to a vote. The measure pending before the House authorizes a loan to India for the purchase of this amount, while a Senate bill would make half the quantity a loan and the other half a gift.

Dirty, Starving and Alone

SEOUL, Korea—Dear Ralph: Today I rode through Seoul, a battered, shattered, beaten city, almost empty of people except for the pitiful swarms of orphan children that wander the streets in gangs, crying to each Jeep and truck that passes, "Chop, chop," meaning food. We had some candy bars in the Jeep and stopped to give one to one little fellow when I happened to turn my head, and there through a broken window pane, a goat-whiskered old papasan, wearing horn-rimmed spectacles and one of those funny stove-pipe hats, was peering out. The old man's look seemed typical of Seoul today, a city fearfully watching and waiting for what is to come.

What that will be I do not know. We stopped the first Chinese drive north of the city, four miles or so. Now our tanks have patrolled 10 miles to the north and have found no resistance that amounts to anything. Yesterday I went up to the forward outposts of our main resistance line. What I saw was not encouraging. The GI just won't dig in. He scoops out a shallow hole, throws a few tree limbs and a little dirt over the top and thinks he is dug in.

They had mine fields and barbed wire out in front, but if they ever get any mortar fire on those holes, they are going to pull out. They can't stay there.

Their big defense out here is the artillery. Few times in war have so many guns been massed as we've got massed along the Han, and that makes me feel a little better about our ability to hold. Unfortunately, where I am sleeping, 20 minutes behind the forward foxholes by Jeep, a considerable amount of this artillery is massed. It fires off and on all night, making the tent shake and my cot rock. But it's a comforting sound to hear the big guns bang, their echoes reverberating back from the hills across the Han, a lot more comforting than to hear that crump that the incoming stuff makes.

That are many little side glances you remember. Yesterday, in the great courtyard of the Capitol here in Seoul—a huge grey marble building finer by far than most state houses at home and badly beaten by bombs and burned out with napalm—I watched a cannon firing for an hour. Its snout was pointed right over as lovely an oriental setting as I ever saw—a 100-year-old temple, surrounded by cherry trees in blossom.

Later, visiting a battery of .155 howitzers, I heard a great yakking going on around the number three gun. They had it dug in, and as it fired it shook the loose earth down and the falling earth uncovered the body of a dead Chinese soldier, buried in a shallow grave by the enemy as they retreated.

The cannon crew just shoveled some earth back over him and kept on firing.

For all the fury and the horror here, life goes stubbornly on. Folks plant rice in fields where the big guns are in place and firing, paying no attention to the noise and the blast. Women wash clothes in shallow rivers as tanks roar by.

The will to live, to till the earth, to keep on in the old habits of survival can't be blotted out easily in a country where all life stems from the land.

Spring has come and the apple trees are in bloom and the bleak hills are turning green again—except where napalm has scorched the earth so deep it will not be green again for years. I keep thinking of Sandburg's poem: "Pile the bodies high at Austerlitz and Waterloo—I am the grass, I cover all. Let me work."

That's about all for now, I guess. While things are quiet I'll go down to a little island to see the thousands of orphans we have flown there, safe and out of harm's way. I want to see kids fed and clean again. I've seen so many dirty, starving and alone.—HAROLD.

A Time for Great Rejoicing

They sat around a table on the second floor of a building on Pryor Street and smiled at one another happily. There was a little reading of minutes and a few introductions and talk by one person after another and finally somebody looked at a sweet-faced, gray-haired woman who came in late and asked, "What have you got to say, doctor?" Her eyes traveled from face to face and her words came out in a rush. "Nothing," she said, "I just came to rejoice with you all."

It was, in a quiet way, a time for rejoicing for that oddly matched group of citizens. There were a couple of self-styled alcoholics, a Jewish churchwoman and a Christian churchwoman, a psychiatrist, a sprinkling of social workers, some policewomen, a judge, a Jaycee and a preacher. A newspaper reporter and a photographer wandered in and then quite suddenly the thing that drew the group together, the cause of rejoicing, was in focus.

THEY HAD achieved something they all have worked for and dreamed of for years—tangible, forceful help for the community's "forgotten women." They had just been told that funds were available and a psychiatric social worker had been found and employed to work with women offenders in recorder's court—on a two-year demonstration basis—the first of its kind in the South.

"I can't tell you how happy we are," cried a churchwoman. "We see hope at last!"

Atlanta churchwomen of all denominations have probably been more faithful than any other group in remembering and trying to help the thousands of dreary, seemingly hopeless creatures who have no home more permanent than the city stockade. The churchwomen visit the stockade and present a program, with music and refreshments, each week. They try to find jobs for the women when they get out of jail and they offer what help and encouragement they can in rehabilitating prisoners. Their record with younger prisoners has been good—but not good enough to satisfy them.

THE BAFFLING thing is the city stockade is almost constantly filled with the same people. Well over two-thirds of the women who land in jail are repeaters, 41 per cent of those arrested in one year had been arrested five or more times, and one survey compiled by the Citizens Crime Prevention Commission showed some staggering cases. Forty-seven of the women arrested in one year had been in jail 20 or more times, 24 women were serving their 30th jail sentence and 11 had been arrested 40 or more times.

There was one gay 63-year-old who had been arrested 86 times during a period of eight and a half years.

Many of that number know no security outside jail. Forty per cent of them come from the poorest section of town. The younger ones—16 to 20 years—are mostly runaways from other Georgia towns or other states and the crime committed is, in the majority of cases, "drunk," or "drunk and disorderly."

The pattern for women offenders is almost uniformly conducive to a repetition of crime. Out of jail with no place to go, no home, no clothes, no job, a girl is easily drawn back toward the barroom where she got drunk or picked up money for a few meals by practicing prostitution.

The Crime Prevention Commission is looking toward the day when a home for women, similar to the Lighthouse for men, will offer a haven for a few days or weeks. But until that time comes, commission members are content to have a trained caseworker on the job in recorder's court, to talk to women, to find the basic, underlying causes which make them habitual jailbirds and to find help for them through one of the agencies already functioning.

Recorder A. W. Callaway called the employment of a psychiatric caseworker "humanitarian." Surely it is, as the lady doctor said, a time for rejoicing.

'Doc Jarnagin Day' in Athens

It was a big day for the livestock trade in Georgia when Dr. Milton P. Jarnagin was honored by having his likeness moved over into the official gallery of the university celebrities. And it was a big day for the learned doctor. He beamed from the canvas and from his person. Mrs. Jarnagin beamed too, as a matter of pride. And so did the daughter and the grandchildren, and about 350 former students and other friends who assembled at Athens to see the job well done.

The job was well done. Outside of a quizzical look on the part of the portrait, as much as to ask, "What goes here?" or, "Is this for me?" there wasn't a bobble. Harry Brown and Walter Brown and President Aderhold and Tap Bennett performed their duties well and with a spirit that only a Jarnagin dinner could engender. He has been amongst us too long and too happily to be serious with us along toward the end of his glorious career.

I neglected to inquire the name of the artist who did the picture. One thing I know, he is a right good one. He had the savant diked out in his stock-judging suit given him by the livestock association members years ago when his other suit fell apart through long association with the doctor and the neighborhood pressing club.

Also, he reproduced that quizzical look, before mentioned. And the likeness is Dr. Jarnagin's. It is no study. It is a man equally at home in the classroom and the feed lot, waiting, puzzled as to what will be brought into the ring, anxious to do the right thing by all parties.

And now for a serious word about our lifelong friend. Paraphrasing our man's own statement about the livestock business, we find that, "Too much Jarnagin is just about enough." He is the dean, no less than the dean, of the livestock business in Georgia.

He is No. 1; Ajax, if you please, in the alphabetical list of those whose contributions have brought Georgia's livestock values up into the major brackets. To tell the remarkable story in the doctor's own words: "In 1910 we had lots of six-year-old steers weighing 200 pounds. Now we have lots of two-year-old steers weighing 600 pounds."

Congratulations and best wishes to Dr. Milton P. Jarnagin and the lovely Mrs. Jarnagin. Theirs has been an enviable life.

Here's Where the Pounds Pay Off

First thing that people notice when they take over a Buick is the sure-footed stance this fine automobile has on the road.

You head into a curve and hold firm and true. You travel a turnpike without sway or wander.

While your wheels may dance when you hit a stretch of washboard gravel—your car holds its level course.

A lot of things account for this beautifully poised performance, but it starts with stalwart structure and ample weight—plenty of pounds where pounds are needed.

Please don't get us wrong. This isn't "deadweight." Though a Buick like the one pictured here tips the scales at more than two tons, it's as nimble as an antelope at play.

It has a generous hoodful of valve-in-head Fireball power—packing a powerful punch of velvet velocity.

It comes with the smooth magic of Dynaflow Drive*—a lightness of steering that's gently responsive to a lady's hand—a front-end geometry that's pure genius—the finest brakes ever put on a Buick.

And every wheel rides on shock-eating coil springs that are carefree and trouble-free for the life of your car.

You'll also find—by a few moments of simple arithmetic—that the pounds in this bounteous beauty pay off in another way. On a cents-per-pound basis, it will cost less to buy than anything else near its weight and power and size.

Why not visit us real soon—like the first thing tomorrow—and let us show you why you and your budget will both be happy with this Buick?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

DYNAFLOW DRIVE*—saves strain on driver and car
FIREBALL POWER—high-compression, valve-in-head engine gets more good from every drop of fuel
PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT—combines smart style and unsurpassed protection
WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS—provide greater clarity at night
TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE—steadies ride, improves driving control
4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING—cushions ride, saves servicing costs
SELF-ENERGIZING BRAKES—hydraulic—multiply pedal-pressure five times at brake drum
DREAMLINE STYLING—tapered, car-length fenders, gleaming sweepspears on most models
Plus: Self-locking luggage lid, StepOn parking brake, two-way ignition lock, Safety-Ride rims, Hi-Poised engine mounting, Body by Fisher

Trouble With the Neighbors

In The Clayton Tribune

A business man from Gainesville was in the Tribune office one day last week and he was very much disturbed over the report that Gainesville might lose the poultry trade with Florida. He says that the poultry industry in Gainesville fears that Florida might retaliate on account of some of the things that the Department of Agriculture has ruled in regard to trade with the State of Florida.

I declare, it looks to me like the department is making itself obnoxious to outsiders as well as to the people of Georgia. "No man lives to himself alone," and Georgia cannot live to herself alone. We need to co-operate with our neighbors and we need to have their co-operation, but they are beginning to think that we do not want their friendship, by the manner in which we are treating them.

I have noticed all my life that when a fellow is always having trouble with his neighbors that there is something wrong with him.

Hometown Board Backs Chief Bragg

Hawkinsville's Board of City Commissioners Sunday gave their Police Chief Thomas Bragg being held without bond in Perry in the Friday night shooting of two soldiers he had arrested for being AWOL—a unanimous vote of confidence.

Meanwhile, Houston County Sheriff C. C. Chapman said he expects the case to go before the Houston County Grand Jury Monday.

Bragg was jailed Saturday night on a murder warrant sworn to by the mother and widow of one of the slain paratroopers, Pvt. Louis L. Passmore, 27, formerly of Hawkinsville.

The other shooting victim was identified as Lon G. Asman, 21, of Woodlake, Cal.

Bragg claimed he shot the two unarmed, handcuffed paratroopers in self-defense.

The Police Chief said he picked up the pair at Hawkinsville after recognizing one of them as a soldier wanted by the Army for being absent without leave from Ft. Bragg, N. C.

He picked up the second soldier when he volunteered that he also was AWOL, Bragg said.

The officer was driving the men from Hawkinsville to Robins Air Force Base some 30 miles away when the shooting occurred in Houston County.

Bragg declared the two soldiers, handcuffed together, attacked him on a narrow bridge over a creek. Bragg's six-year-old son, sitting alone in the back seat of the car, was a witness to the shooting that followed.

Hawkinsville City Commissioners commended Bragg for his outstanding record as a law enforcement officer during his 12 years of service at a speical called meeting late Sunday.

Commission Chairman Bob Massee said he had made a "thorough investigation of the entire case and I am convinced Chief Bragg acted purely in self-defense and had no other alternative under the existing circumstances."

Cancer Drive In Fulton at Halfway Mark

Fulton County's two-purpose cancer crusade has reached more than 50,000 persons and has raised approximately half of its $100,000 goal, Harvey Hill, chairman, said Sunday.

Hill stressed the crusade has two major objectives:

1. To save lives now of cancer victims who can be cured.

2. To finance research, patient services and an educational program.

Hill said the drive would need "all the help that people can give" if the quota is to be reached.

He said funds were needed "more now than ever because the increasing awareness that early cancer can be cured has caused greater demands for services than ever before."

He explained funds contributed to the cancer crusade go for services to indigent patients through the 17-state-aid cancer clinics and the free cancer home here. He said they also were used for research and education to prevent needless cancer deaths.

Ten-year-old Jimmy Cosby, of Rockmart, is among the many cancer patients who have joined the 1951 crusade. Jimmy's arm was amputated to prevent the spread of cancer, but his cure will not be complete until five years after his last treatment.

2,000 Women Map Freedom Plan at Rally

HOUSTON, Texas, May 13—(INS)—Some 2,000 women from the United States and 24 other nations gathered in Houston Sunday night to map action for "a new birth of freedom" in the world.

The feminine assembly will discuss international and domestic affairs at the convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs which opens a five-day stand in the Texas coastal city Monday.

Mrs. Hiram Cole Houghton, of Washington, D. C., pointed proudly to the anvance registration of the delegates and said:

"No country will go to war with another country whose women know and love each other."

Mrs. Houghton, speaking on the eve of the convention, told newsmen that women "must take a more active part in straightening the disordered house internationally and at home."

The Federation leader said a resolution urging the adoption of universal military training will be one of the meeting's most important decisions. She said:

"Women want universal training for peace but not for war."

Well-Posted Young Briton

LONDON, May 13—(AP)—David Lees, four, came upon one of London's big, red letter boxes with the door open Sunday and climbed in.

His sister, Linda, six, closed the door behind him, and it locked.

Police and passers-by fed David candy and fruit through the letter slot and stroked his head to pacify him until a postal worker arrived with a key and released him.

Newsprint Price Boosts Called Gouge

Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, May 13—Sen. Johnson, Democrat, Colorado, Sunday said that the manufacturers of newsprint paper plan to announce a price increase of $9 a ton.

He asked Michael V. DiSalle, director of the Office of Price Stabilization, to "invoke the activity of our stabilization program to stop the new price gouge."

In a letter to DiSalle, Sen. Johnson said the $9 increase would bring the newsprint price to $115 a ton in New York and $123 a ton in the Midwest.

"In the last five years," the senator wrote, "the price of newsprint has been raised about $50 per ton.

"In 1950, the manufacturers of this commodity showed the greatest profits in their entire history. Now in the face of an effort to stabilize profits, we are faced with approximately a 10 per cent increase in newsprint.

"This means an additional cost to the newspapers of the United States of $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 annually."

About 85 per cent of the newsprint used in the United States, he said, is imported from Canada, and "although there are many manufacturers, the price is uniformly fixed and noncompetitive throughout the industry and the nation."

Johnson said that few persons realize the importance of newsprint to the general public and the effect of high-priced paper on the newspapers and upon their ability to give the news.

"Free and unrestricted dissemination of the news is not only the right but the duty of newspapers," the senator wrote. "The cornerstone of our freedom rests with the freedom of the press.

"The cost of labor, transportation, machinery, buildings and other costs has been constantly advancing. Yet the price of newspapers to the public has increased but very little."

Window Wishing By Mrs. M'Arthur

NEW YORK, May 13—(AP)—Mrs. Jean MacArthur went "window wishing" along Fifth Ave. this pleasant Mother's Day afternoon.

Through a closely knit system known as Co-ordinated Distribution, Shell keeps petroleum products flowing smoothly from distant oil fields and refineries to industry, the Armed Forces, and you.

KNIT TOGETHER – to fit your needs

Every day the petroleum industry delivers over 290 million gallons of petroleum products to meet the nation's needs. You expect and you get your share when and where you want it.

To fit your needs, Shell employs a sensitive system called Co-ordinated Distribution. This meshes crude oil supply, transportation, refinery output, and delivery of finished products. It knits the intricate machinery of petroleum production and delivery into an efficient assembly line stretching from the oil fields to you. And, as a result, petroleum products cost less here than anywhere else in the world.

Distribution anticipates the users' needs, and delivers the product where and when it is needed.

With production, refining, and distribution all joined "under one roof"—teamed to exchange ideas—Shell does its part to assure the most efficient flow of petroleum products to you.

To strengthen America:

Because they have plowed back over 10 billion dollars into new plants and equipment since the end of World War II, America's privately managed oil companies outproduce the world—are better prepared today than ever before to meet both civilian and military needs.

Hurry! Summer's almost here!

The warm spring air of Atlanta is busy with the buzzing of lawn mowers. The whirring sound of blades and the nostalgic smell of broken grass are churned in eddies of soft air, along with the songs of birds and childish squeals. Breathe the air deeply and you'll know that it's time to get ready for summer. It's time to prune and clip and work in the dirt, time to build a home outdoors.

IT'S A WEARY WAY FOR A WOMAN

Here's the proof. The "hard day at the office" is man-made myth. It's a snare and a delusion. Two people took steps to find out. Ed and Lyn Nash are an average couple with two small children and a dog named Babbitt. They have a house and a yard and all the problems of city life. Since Ed doesn't want his wife to "work," Lyn is "just" a homemaker, while Ed operates in a downtown office job. They wondered who really works the harder. In fact, they talked about it so much they decided to find out. Since walking is fatiguing, energy-consuming exercise, that seemed a way to figure who does the more. So they wore pedometers for two days, to measure who walks the more miles in a working day. Ed walks a half-mile to the bus each day and another half-mile from the bus line to his home in the afternoon. His work as regional director for a national corporation involves his walking three miles around town and in his office daily. The pedometer registers at four miles for him. Lyn, staying home with two-year-old Debi and six-year-old Jim, also follows an average day. She cleans house, she cooks, she does the laundry, she sews, she gardens, and she follows the baby around to keep her out of trouble. Her pedometer clocks up six-and-a-half miles in a day. It's a little different Saturdays, though. They both stay home. Ed has his home chores to do, and this Saturday he was painting the house. Counting up and down the ladder, he walked 7.2 miles. Things were a bit slower that day for Lyn. She walked only 4.6. She said, "I'd planned and prepared ahead for the week-end, and so had less to do Saturday. Besides, part of Ed's high mileage came because he was here to help run after the children!"

Women Bank Officials Hold Weekend Conclave

By YOLANDE GWIN

When a woman slipped her foot inside a bank office as a breadwinner back during World War I, she was taking a step in the right direction. And she has been high-stepping ever since, for today there are 165,000 women employees in the 15,000 banks in the United States. In them are approximately 600 women officials.

Some of the top-ranking women in the banking field will be coming to Atlanta Friday to attend the Southern Regional Meeting of the Association of Bank Women this week end. Headquarters are at the Biltmore Hotel.

Banking is one of the pleasantest fields in which a woman can earn a living, and even though it took two World Wars to accomplish the task, bank doors are opening for the ladies. They have proved to men officials that they are acceptable employees because they are making a real contribution to the field of finance.

For instance, in Atlanta, Mrs. Helen Pace Thompson holds the only full vice presidency of a bank (Fulton National). In discussing a woman's place in the financial world, she says:

"I think women entering banking should realize right away that they should not expect to receive any special favors because they are women. It takes practice to make perfect in any line of work and the fact that each year more and more women are being named to official posts is proof that it's the work they are doing that has put them there. Women have an understanding of people. I think this is one of their main assets in serving the public. A girl undecided about a career could well consider one in banking."

Miss Effie Butner is general chairman for the conclave, and the two-day meeting will be featured by a breakfast Saturday given by the Federal Reserve Bank officials; a luncheon at the Piedmont Driving Club and tea at Mimosa Hall. That night there will be a dinner at the Capital City Club given by the Atlanta Clearing House Association, Erle Cocke, President, and by the Fulton National Bank, of which he is also president. Sunday's luncheon at the Biltmore will climax the meeting.

Miss Marion E. Mattson, of Minneapolis, Minn., assistant cashier of the Northwestern National Bank and president of the National Association, will be present at the meeting. The Association, organized in New York in 1921, is the nation's only group of women bank executives. It purpose is to bring together women executives for a mutual exchange of ideas and experiences and to forward the interests of women in banking.

Miss Sara Evans, assistant manager of the fiscal agency department of the Federal Reserve Bank here, says:

"The rate that women are buying bonds is a definite proof that they are learning more about finances. When you consider that finances as well as bond holding touch every phase of a woman's investment life, it stands to reason that since they are learning more, the banking field appears more tempting as a job prospect."

One feature of the program for the visitors is that Mrs. Granger Hansell, a director of the Peachtree Bank and Trust Company of Atlanta, will open her historic home, Mimosa Hall, in Roswell for a tea and tour.

One of the outstanding speakers who will address the women bankers will be Miss Bess Bloodworth, consultant to the Woman's Bureau of the Department of Labor in Washington. She will speak at the Saturday luncheon on "The Position of Women in a Mobilized Economy."

East Lake PTA To Install Officers

Mrs. J. T. Steele, re-elected President of the East Lake PTA, will be installed at the meeting May 15 at 3 p. m. in the school auditorium.

Others officers to be installed include Mrs. Marvin Snelde, First Vice President; Mrs. Jack Hall, Second Vice President; Mrs. R. L. Wynn, Recording Secretary; Mrs. W. J. Dunn, Recording Secretary, and Mrs. J. C. Turner, Treasurer. Music will be furnished by the East Lake School Band.

Miss Shahan Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Louis N. Shahan, of Rome, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Harriette Shahan, to Clarence Rothwell Wilcox, Jr., son of Dr. C. R. Wilcox, president of Darlington School for Boys. The marriage will take place at the First Methodist Church of Rome June 22.

The bride-elect graduated in 1950 from Mary Baldwin College, and spent last Summer traveling in Europe. She is a provisional member of the Junior Service League and belongs to the Girls' Cotillion Club.

Mr. Wilcox graduated with a BS degree from Davidson College, where he was a member of Kappa Sigma. His mother, the late Mrs. Wilcox, was the former Janie Blanchard Simpson, of Lynchburg, Va.

FASHION ROUNDUP

Smart Girls Dodge Sun From 12 to 2

By SCARLETT BLANTON

We are told by leading dermatologists that it's a wise girl who protects her skin from the most dangerous rays of Old Sol, come Summer. The danger hours are from 12 to 2 when the rays are most direct . . . that's the time when the harm is done to delicate skin tissues, and like as not, permanent harm results.

So be a sun-maiden if you will, but use common sense about it. Don't sit out in the sun and bake, hour after hour, expecting to turn overnight into a toasted almond . . . more than likely you'll look like a parched peanut.

Take your tanning easy . . . go out at first, for only half an hour, and gradually increase the time. But before you get berry-black, hear this. It's no longer stylish to be that brown . . . the look for the beach this Summer is cafe au lait . . . creamy, faun brown, no darker!

Over-exposure to the sun may give you a deep mahogany tan, but take a second look at your skin. It's all dry, rough, and wrinkled, from over-cooking.

Mascara Safety

While you have sand and sea on your mind, here's a beauteous safeguard . . . a waterproof mascara, for those nymphs who intend to look dewy-eyed "in the swim." They promise that it won't smudge or run, until you take it off yourself, with cleansing cream.

Big Eyes

Still on the subject of eyes, if yours aren't as big and intriguing as you would have them be, why not make the most of the eye-makeup situation. Use a goodly portion of mascara on the upper lashes, with a pencil line near them. Mascara should be applied only on the tips of the lower lashes, however, and no eye shadow should be used at all. You will have big eyes, in a moment with a few deft strokes.

Cologne Stick

As to good "scents" for Summer . . . nothing can beat those marvelous cologne sticks . . . fragrant wands of solid cologne fan an aesthetic pick-me-up on a hot day. They appear in a new size, this Summer, small enough to fit into your purse, as well as the bigger home-and-office size. Cologne sticks come in little frosty glass or metal containers, airtight with caps of rubber or plastic.

Miss Manis Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Manis, of Crystal Springs, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Hannah Rebecca Manis, to Dr. Randolph Berry Green, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gardner L. Green, of Mount Berry, the marriage to take place in June.

Since her graduation from Shorter College, Miss Manis has taught in the Rome schools. Her mother is the former Anna Lee Wheeler, of Cohutta.

Dr. Green's mother is the former Flora Humphrey, of Newport, Vt., and his father was for a number of years president of Berry Schools. He was graduated from Berry College, and studied dentistry at Northwestern University. He served 26 months in the U. S. Navy Dental Corps, and is now practicing dentistry in Rome.

B'nai B'rith To Install Mrs. Harris

Mrs. Michael Harris, incoming President of B'nai B'rith Women of Atlanta, and her officers for the following year, 1951-1952, will be installed at a luncheon meeting Monday, at 12:30 p. m. at the Progressive Club.

Mrs. Harris

The remainder of the afternoon's entertainment will be a card party for the ladies.

Alexander Miller, Director of the Southern Office of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, will install Mrs. Harris and a slate of some 50 additional officers and committee chairmen will be automatically installed as well.

Building Along These Lines

Lines on paper are an essential link between ideas and construction. It's the job of our draftsmen to create those lines . . . to give ideas visible form.

Our draftsmen are skilled technicians, building on paper all the structures needed to supply you with electric service — power lines . . . substations . . . generating stations . . . service buildings. Construction crews tomorrow will follow the lines they draw today.

Our draftsmen—and 5,000 other employes doing their jobs conscientiously and well — are an important part of the reason why Georgians get the best electric service available anywhere!

We Want to Grow with You

As Georgia grows, so grows her need for power. It takes a sound business to supply electricity to nearly half a million customers. That's why it's important to you for the Georgia Power Company to continue to earn a living wage. So long as we do, we can provide the fine service you want, and we can grow to meet your future needs.

GEORGIA POWER "A CITIZEN WHEREVER WE SERVE"

Garden Clubs Slate Meets This Week

The Flower Arrangers' Club of Georgia, a group of women whose interest in flower arranging inspired the book, "Artistry in Arrangement," will be honor guests Tuesday at tea at Rich's Magnolia Room at 3:30 p. m., the date to coincide with the publication date of the book.

Founder and President is Mrs. C. Carl Sloan who, with other members, has contributed to the book on flower arranging, likes, and pet ideas of the members, and personal experiences in flower gardening. The book is dedicated to Mrs. Jesse Fort, of Griffin, who taught the matrons flower arranging several years ago. As a result of the class, the club was formed Jan. 12, 1950.

Besides Mrs. Sloan, other officers include Mrs. E. C. Houston, Vice President; Mrs. J. O. Martin, Secretary; Mrs. R. A. Manning, Treasurer; Mrs. Ira Smith, Scrapbook Chairman, and Mrs. Jesse Fort, Honorary Executive Officer. Members are Mrs. Edwin Catts, Mrs. Garnett Evans, Mrs. C. T. Greer, Mrs. C. E. Harris, Mrs. Binion Jordan, Mrs. Grover Meaders, of Macon; Mrs. J. F. Reynolds, Mrs. Chester Wilson, Mrs. W. T. Wood, of Macon, and Mrs. E. B. Worsham, of College Park. Mrs. Sloan and Mrs. Ben Harrison, President of the Garden Center, will preside at the tea table.

The Marietta Garden Council, Mrs. Jordan Gardner, President, will present a second in the Judging School series Wednesday, Thursday and Frinday in the Recreation Room of the First Methodist Church in Marietta. Mrs. Jesse Fort, of Griffin, will instruct the class in flower arranging; Mrs. Arch Walker of Spartanburg, S. C., will give the lessons in horticulture.

Atkins Park Garden Club meets on May 18 at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. J. H. Johnson at 1117 St. Charles Ave. Cohostesses will be Mrs. C. J. Dean, Mrs. Dupree Jordan, Mrs. J. H. Lorenz and Mrs. William A. Lynn. Miss Kathleen Mackay, medical artist at Emory University Hospital, will speak on "Garden Flowers in Color."

Camellia Garden Club meets May 15 at 11 a. m. at the Peachtree Branch of the Carnegie Library with Mrs. Marion Rivers, Mrs. W. C. Blandford, Jr., and Mrs. Henry Cabiness as cohostesses. The club project is the landscaping of the rear garden of the Library.

Durand Garden Club meets May 14 at the East Lake Country Club. Mrs. W. B. Redmond and Mrs. P. P. Harding, delegates to the recent convention of State Garden Clubs in Savannah, will report.

Garden Division of the Inman Park Woman's Club meets May 15 at the clubhouse at 1277 Euclid Ave., at 10 a. m. After the members assemble, they will leave in a group for the Tackle Club, at Pinehurst Farms in Conyers, where they will hold a picnic. Mrs. H. C. Pritchett will lead a discussion on wild flowers native to Georgia. After the picnic lunch, members will go fishing.

Green Gate Garden Club's annual flower show will be held May 18 at 563 Peeples St., S. W. The theme, "Milady's Memoirs," will be developed in all entries in the artistic arrangement classes. Horticulture will be emphasized and the educational division will be an interesting feature of the show. The show will be open to visitors from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Indian Creek Garden Club's flower show will be held May 16 from 3 to 8:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. E. F. Edwards at 2983 Lenox Road. Six neighboring clubs have accepted invitations to participate in an arrangement of formal balance. Mrs. Edwards will be assisted by the club President, Mrs. H. W. Gullatt, Mrs. Homer Westbrook, chairman of hospitality; Mrs. Harry Gwinner, general chairman of the show; Mrs. E. E. Whitaker, Vice President, and others. Friends of the members are invited.

Hawthorne Garden Club meets May 16 at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. John Charles Whitner at Sandy Springs. Mrs. I. W. Maclagan will be cohostess and Mrs. E. L. Gifford, Sr., will speak.

Garden Division of the College Park Woman's Club meets May 16 at 10:30 a. m. at the Woman's Club. Speakers will be Mrs. M. L. Lester and Cuthbert Killingsworth. Subject will be "Roses."

Ragsdale PTA To Install Officers

Officers will be installed at a meeting of the I. N. Ragsdale PTA May 15 at 8:00 p. m. by Mrs. Lee P. Rollins, retiring president of the Atlanta PTA Council. Miss Ira Jarrell, Atlanta School Superintendent, will speak on "Plan of Improvement in the Schools."

Students are enjoying the beautifully refurnished and redecorated cafeteria which was the PTA project for this year. The association also contributed to the dental clinic to be set up for the Southwest area.

DR. JOHN H. GOFF TAKES THE BYWAYS

"Revenuer or REA?"

Tracing Ancient Trails Is Professor's Hobby Job

Search for super highways if you wish. Dr. John H. Goff will take the byways, thanks. The older, the ruttier, the more overgrown a road is, the happier Dr. Goff is. For he's what you might call a "road hound."

This is one of a series of interviews with Atlanta men who have unusual pastimes, presented to help Home and Family readers develop new hobby ideas.

During the past two years, Dr. Goff, a professor in Emory University's Business Administration school, has traveled 5,000 miles mostly in the State of Georgia by auto and foot, tracking down old trails that the Indians and immigrants blazed.

"The names of the roads fascinate me," Dr. Goff explains, "for instance, Rogue's Road, Bonny Clabber Road, the Gold Diggers Road and Slosh Eye Road." Dr. Goff won't rest until he finds the story behind the Economy Road.

Besides the history Dr. Goff picks up in his trail tracing, he enjoys the chats he has with country folks along the way.

"In the mountains, they're kind of cautious. They sometimes take me for a revenuer," Dr. Goff says, laughing. "In South Georgia they treat me fine. They think I'm from the REA (Rural Electrification Administration or Georgia Power." even in mid-Winter.

Dr. Goff pursues his hobby on Summer vacation and weekends, even in midWinter.

"That cold day last Thanksgiving I was following the Old Greenville Stage Road down below LaGrange," he recalls. "I was rewarded by finding a beautiful stretch of ante bellum homes."

The old road came down from Ft. Daniels on Hog Mountain, past Oglethorpe to Buckhead, he said. Then it bore off to the Indian town, Peachtree, located where Peachtree Creek runs into the Chattahoochee, according to Dr. Goff.

Suntans and Company Drills To Highlight ROTC Night

By PAT LIVINGSTON

Atlanta's annual ROTC night will find military students respendent in suntans, stepping in close-order drill at Henry Grady stadium Wednesday night.

Presentation of the corps and battalion sponsors, final selections in company drill and awards to outstanding individual cadets will be made.

A patriotic comedy, "Sky High," will be staged by Grady seniors Tuesday night. O'Keefe seniors rollicked across the boards Thursday with their version of "Charley's Aunt."

Russell's Distributive Education and Glee Clubs are going all-out on All-Day picnics at Indian Springs. The Glee Club spread a lunch there Saturday and the DE Club goes next Sunday. Junior-Senior dance at Russell is Saturday night.

Girl students and teachers at O'Keefe and Grady will get golf lessons from the pros Friday, 3:30-4:30 p. m. at Grady.

Pre-school registration at Southwest DeKalb elementary school will be by appointment Thursday, 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Two doctors and five nurses will be at the school to examine the children, says Mrs. W. B. Gardner, health chairman. They will immunize the children if parents request the shots.

Mrs. Gardner urges parents to call her at EVergreen 1078 for an appointment to avoid crowding because the medical staff can examine only ten children an hour.

Scrub Flower Pots

A garden chore that pays dividends all Summer in approved appearances is the Spring scrubbing of flower pots. Earth in pottery frequently re-acts chemically to form white cloudy stain. A bucket of suds, scrub brush and a normal amount of elbow action usually banishes this stain.

Australians Guests Here En Route to London Sister

By ANNIE LOU HARDY

Flying here from their home in Sydney, Australia, last week were pretty, auburn-haired Mrs. I. C. Cook and her 13-year-old son, John, who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Blackett on Andrews Drive.

Mrs. Cook's mother, Mrs. Harry Leonard, was Mrs. Blackett's closest friend when the Blacketts lived in Bangkok, Siam. Her father-in-law, the late Sir Joseph Cook, was once Prime Minister of the Australian Commonwealth.

This is Mrs. Cook's first visit to the States. After her visit here, she and her son will fly to London to visit her sister, Mrs. Edward Krieg, who was Mrs. Blackett's guest here a few weeks ago, Mrs. Krieg's husband, a geophysicist, is in Saudi, Arabia, with Aramco Oil Company.

Mrs. Blackett gave a luncheon for her guest, and Mrs. C. C. Earley also entertained in her honor. Several informal parties are planned for this week.

MRS. HUNTER BELL will land in New York aboard the Queen Mary May 29, following a two-month visit to her mother, Mrs. R. J. Ripley, in London, England. Mrs. Bell was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. C. Lee Bowen, of Washington, D. C. On a similar voyage from England Mrs. Bell, the former Monica Ripley, first met Mr. Bell who was returning home after a tour of Europe with the Emory Glee Club.

SUE ELLIS and Dan Plaster, Jr., have chosen Army Day, May 19, for their marriage, and for that reason, Sue's parents, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Albert F. Fahy, will not be able to come from Weaver Air Base in S. Dak., for the nuptials. Hence her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Fahy, Sr., of Rome, will do the honors in their stead.

Mr. Fahy will give his granddaughter in marriage and at the reception to be held at the Woman's Club after the ceremony at Winship Chapel, Mrs. Fahy, Sr., will serve as hostess. Sue's A. D. Pi sorority sisters at the University of Georgia will assist in serving. Saturday Mrs. Fahy, Sr., and her daughter, Janie, gave a big tea at their home in Rome for Saturday's bride.

JACK HICKY returns Monday from Miami Beach, Fla., where he spent the past 10 days as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Hopkins, Jr., at their home on Sunset Island.

PRIOR TO HER MARRIAGE to Jay Smith, Jr., of Newnan, Daisy Lane Andrews is being widely feted in her fiance's home town. Mr. and Mrs. W. Pitts Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Hammond started the ball rolling by giving a dinner at the Hammond home. Mrs. Jay Smith, Sr., and Mrs. Joseph Brennan gave a tea at th Country Club, and Mrs. E. K. Mann and Mrs. Ellis Peniston entertained at luncheon. Other Newanites entertaining were Mrs. Charles P. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Edwards and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert McKoy.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Blackburn will be hosts at dinner at their home in Newnan May 19, and following the wedding rehearsal June 8, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Manget, of Newnan, will give a dinner party at the Piedmont Driving Club for the bridal couple.

MR. AND MRS. HOMER CARMICHAEL have returned from a two-week visit to Dr. and Mrs. James A. Wood, of Macon, at their Summer home at Sea Island.

MR. AND MRS. SEIXAS MILNER and their children, Lane and Pam, have moved into their new home on Wieuca Road.

MRS. W. W. ANDERSON and Mrs. Paul Reese have returned from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where they had an apartment for several weeks.

BERT OASTLER, president of the Alpha chapter of Omicron Delta Delta, gave a mother-and-son tea Mother's Day at the Druid Hills Golf Club, inviting the chapter members and their mothers. He was assisted by his mother, Mrs. Tom Oastler, and the fraternity sponsor, Miss Diane Dougherty.

Teeth Called Essential for Good Health

In my opinion one who hopes to enjoy v-i-t-e, better than average nutritional condition, better growth and development, higher average level of positive health throughout the life cycle, greater pep, preservation of the characteristics of youth—in short, V-I-T-E, must have from 28 to 32 teeth, his own or functionally efficient dentures.

So let this be clearly understood: No matter what the dentists think about it, I say good health begins in the mouth and in 99 cases out of a 100 the skill of the dentist is necessary to achieve it.

As father used to maintain, "all disease begins in the stomach." If I tried to shatter his theory by stating that typhoid fever begins in the intestine, father would inquire politely how the typhoid bacilli got into the intestine and I had to admit they were taken into the stomach in contaminated food or polluted water—and, ahah, then, the stomach would destroy the germs if it were functioning efficiently, wouldn't it? Well, I didn't know about that. . . .

I don't know about it now, but after some further study I have reached the conclusion that father had something there, only he had it by the tail.

Approaching the question from the standpoint of physiology and health rather than the standpoint of disease and pathology, I am convinced that health begins in the mouth.

For one thing, as you would know if you had studied physiology in elementary school, the food material from which we derive most of our energy, cooked starch, is digested largely by the ptyalin in the saliva during mastication of the food and for half an hour up to an hour in the upper end, fundus, of the stomach after the food is swallowed and before the portion in the fundus becomes too highly acidulated by the gastric juice.

For mastication two factors are essential. First, a complete equipment of sound teeth or efficient dentures. Second, food in a form one can enjoy chewing.

What I mean is not half-baked dough with only a suggestion of crust but thoroughly baked bread with thick brown crust; not boiled or mashed potato but baked potato and a stiff fine for eating the inside and leaving the jacket; not fruit juice but fruit; not refined, sweetened, doctored, enriched, accepted - by - the - American-Medical-Association cheaties but just plain wheat.

So far as care of the teeth goes I say give me food in a form I can chew, and the services of a good dentist whenever my teeth need the dentist's care, and you may have all the toothbrushes and dentifrices there are.

Tangled threads are easy to remove from the brush of your vacuum cleaner. Cut the threads once with a pair of scissors and they pull right off.

DISCUSSION

Disc Makers Rush Plans As Summer Season Nears

By HOWELL JONES

Competition between the big recording companies, always keen, is becoming razor sharp now that the usually dull summer months loom straight ahead.

Columbia and RCA-Victor, both of whom have staged spectacular races during recent weeks to get their versions of opera, special events, Broadway shows and classical music on the market first, have provided record collectors topnotch additions to their libraries.

Included in recent releases by the two big companies were recordings of the sensational opera success, "Die Fledermaus," General MacArthur's address to Congress, and scores of terrific pops recordings. In addition, both companies dug into their vaults to bring forth anew old recordings that have been considered collector's items for years, each trying to outdo the other.

Now, Columbia and RCA-Victor come up with another close race. This time its George Gershwin's monumental American folk opera, "Porgy and Bess."

RCA-Victor, with an April release, hit the dealers' shelves first, with an album of excerpts from the Gershwin epic. Starring Metropolitan Opera Singers Rise Stevens and Robert Merrill, along with the Robert Shaw Chorale and the RCA-Victor Orchestra, the album includes selections ranging from the poignant "Summertime" and the mournful "My Man's Gone Now," to the spirited "I Got Plenty O'Nuttin'" and "It Ain't Necessarily So."

Columbia, however, is recording the great folk opera in its entirety with an all-Negro cast, including members of the original 1935 cast. The recording, to be released soon, marks the first time the score has been waxed in complete version. Lyricist Ira Gershwin, brother of the composer, is assisting in the production.

Travers' Record

Patricia Travers, young American violinist, and Otto Herz, pianist, present works by Charles Ives and Richard Sessions in a Columbia 12-inch masterworks record just released (ML 2169).

The Ives score, "Sonata No. 2 for Violin and Piano," has three movements. It is alternately slow, but its melodic passages and fast stomping fragments show an amazing maturity. Bits of familiar hymns are heard in the third "Revival Movement." The artists interpret the music with sparkling competence.

The Sessions composition, "Duo for Piano and Violin," consists of three parts. It begins with a slow, flowing movement, which is interrupted by a fast, contrasting figure. The third part recalls the slow theme of the first part, and in turn leads to another fast movement.

Latest Releases

The latest release in Columbia's long—and growing longer—series, "Piano Moods," features Earl Hines and Joe Reichman. The two 10-inch, long-play records are worthy additions to the series.

Hines, assisted by rhythm accompaniment, plays "'Deed I Do," "When I Dream of You," "These Foolish Things," "You Can Depend on Me," "I Hadn't Anyone 'Til You," "Diane," and "Velvet Moon."

Reichman, called the Pagliacci of the piano, produces keyboard magic in his playing of "Blue Moon," "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby," "Whispering," "Where Or When," "If I Loved You," "Always," "Mam's Gone, Good-bye," and "All the Things You Are."

Bargain for Fans

Deriving its title from one of its songs, RCA-Victor's new album, "Songs My Mother Taught Me," offers Rise Stevens fans a real bargain. (WDM 1498).

The great mezzo-soprano of the Met never sounded better than she did singing a group of eight songs known and loved by almost everyone. She is particularly effective in the beloved "Lullaby" of Brahms and the touching "Mighty Lak' a Rose," the lyrics of which were written by the late Frank L. Stanton. She also gives outstanding performances of "Too-ra-loo-ra-loo-ral," "Danny Boy," "All Through the Night," "Flow Gently Sweet Afton," "Smilin' Through," and the title song.

These simple but melodic tunes exhibit the rich texture of Miss Stevens' voice to good advantage, and she is ably supported by the RCA-Victor orchestra under the direction of Milton Katims.

Your Stars Today

Sun in Taurus

General Tendencies—While most people will feel inclined toward business matters and correspondence today, still they may not settle down to definite decisions until late in the afternoon or may even postpone them until the first thing tomorrow morning. There are plenty of indications here for lively times if you are socially inclined, but you may be surprised by the attitude of new friends or by unforeseen expenses. It would be wise to watch your money all this month.

If It's Your Birthday—You may look wistfully toward travel and change all the rest of this year, but let me tell you that any sudden moves would be accomplished by corresponding costs without giving you any truly settled feeling. There are changes at hand in your circle of friends, no matter where you may live, and moving about will not modify this fact. There is important news coming to you in a letter—something which may make you change your mind before Fall.

Outlaw Fairy Tales!

BERLIN, May 13—(AP)—Snow White, Cinderella and Hansel and Gretel are "anti-progressive" and ought to be outlawed—or rewritten. This is the solemn pronouncement of the Communist newspaper, Maerkische Zeitung in the Soviet Zone.

THREE PERCENT TREASURY BONDS OF 1951-55 (DATED SEPTEMBER 15, 1931)

Notice of Call for Redemption

To Holders of 3 per cent Treasury Bonds of 1951-55 (dated September 15, 1931), and Others Concerned:

1. Public notice is hereby given that all outstanding 3 per cent Treasury Bonds of 1951-55, dated September 15, 1931, due September 15, 1955, are hereby called for redemption on September 15, 1951, on which date interest on such bonds will cease.

2. Holders of these bonds may, in advance of the redemption date, be offered the privilege of exchanging all or any part of their called bonds for other interest-bearing obligations of the United States, in which event public notice will hereafter be given and an official circular governing the exchange offering will be issued.

3. Full information regarding the presentation and surrender of the bonds for cash redemption under this call will be found in Department Circular No. 666, dated July 21, 1941.

The farmer's friend, Nickel helps check the wind and water erosion that have already destroyed about one-fifth of this country's tillable crop-land. Nickel alloys add strength and toughness to critical parts of implements used in contour plowing, terracing, ditching, reforestation, and other soil conservation operations. Truly, Nickel and Nickel alloys are good "friends of the land."

International News Photo

The flood fighter's friend, Nickel helps engineers regulate the disastrous floods that cost taxpayers millions a year in damaged homes, job lay-offs, ruined crops. On many big dams, for example, the stems operating giant control valves are Monel—tough, corrosion-resisting Nickel alloy.

Whether you're fighting dust . . .

. . . you have an "Unseen Friend" in Nickel

This country's great "land army" of dust fighters, flood fighters, forest fire fighters needs Nickel for vital parts of equipment used to conserve your natural resources.

You find this long range planning in everything International Nickel does . . . year after year. For example . . .

With surface ores running out, it dug down, down, down into old Mother Earth . . . to develop additional *sub*surface ores.

To process them, it is revolutionizing mining, smelting, refining techniques . . . building huge, new plants . . . and adding miles to its underground rail trackage.

In all, Inco invested $100,000,000 in the past ten years. With more to come! As a result, millions of pounds of Nickel are being supplied for defense requirements, for Government stockpiles, and for essential civilian needs.

Servel's 'Silver Anniversary' Models Now on Display

FOR FOND MEMORIES—Snapshots are fun to take. But the real pleasure comes from looking at the finished prints. To keep them fresh and bright for years to come, ask for Gaston's Memory-Pak at your nearest Gaston Snapshot Service Station.

YOUR PICTURES KEPT CLEAN

Take Care of Those Snapshots With Gaston's Memory-Paks'

"You may never get the same picture again—so guard it well," is the advice of Gaston Snapshot Service, which has served Atlanta and the Southeast for the past 28 years, turning out these days twelve million snapshots a year. "For instance," says Gaston, "when you catch the baby in a cute pose . . . if anything happens to the negative, you can never get exactly that same pose. And so it goes with all snapshots."

Out of their many years of experience, Gaston's were first to bring Atlanta the ultimate in film developing and picture printing equipment. And then, to give top convenience and protection for precious prints, they brought the Memory-Pak to their customers in the Southeast.

This is a colorful plastic-coated album, with plastic binding, into which your near postcard size prints are firmly locked—but from which they can be quickly removed, if you wish to do so. The prints from each order are bound at the Gaston laboratories into an individual album, at no extra charge to you.

There are many advantages to the Memory-Pak idea. Colored bindings help you identify a special group of pictures. The plastic album covers keep the pictures fresh, clean and bright as they come from Gaston's processing. But above all, you get the advantage of a big picture, even from a small negative. A big picture brings out details, the expressions on faces—many things not revealed by the contact prints of small-size negatives.

Gaston is able to give you these big prints in their plastic Memory-Pak albums because Gaston has installed a battery of continuous roll print developing machines, the finest equipment ever produced for this purpose. These print developers are capable of turning out 4,800 pictures per hour, and they work through electronic scanning tubes, and other ultramodern devices, to get the most possible out of each negative.

Prints procesesd on this equipment are brilliant, with rich blacks, and delicate tones. And they stay that way, without fading, for many extra years.

So when you turn in your rolls of film—many of them especially important in these uneasy wartime days—ask your Gaston dealer to have Memory-Pak pictures returned to you. You can locate the nearest Gaston dealer in Atlanta by looking on the inside back cover of your telephone book, where they are listed geographically for your convenience. And there are other Gaston dealers in communities throughout Georgia and adjacent states, all rendering the same service.

It is worth your while to look up your nearest Gaston Snapshot Service Station, and to ask for Memory-Pak prints. . . . "They're Bound to Be Better." Gaston's Atlanta laboratories are located at 14 Alexander Street, N. W., and their phone number is WAlnut 7189.

'Dura-Stone' Brings New Beauty to Atlanta Homes

Literally Gives, 'A New Face to An Old House'

No one likes to see his home grow shabby and get that "run-down" look . . . although many property owners fight a losing battle as materials deteriorate and elements take their roll.

Realizing this, scientists have developed a remarkable product which literally "gives a new face to an old home." Called Dura-Stone, it offers homeowners a chance to rejuvenate the external appearance of their homes—to transform shabbiness and rough lines into charm and dignity.

The Interstate Roofing & Siding Co., with headquarters at 496 Piedmont Ave., N. E., authorized exclusive applicators for Dura-Stone in this area for the Lanonite Co. of America, announced today that more and more families are turning to Dura-Stone as the ideal home improvement and beautification material. Note the "livability" Dura-Stone imparts to the attractive home in the accompanying photograph.

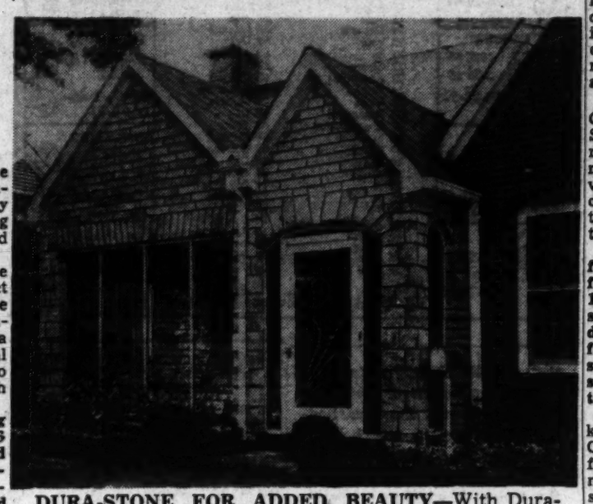

Approved by the American Society for Testing Materials and guaranteed for life, Dura-Stone is a scientifically blended stone-like veneer. An amazing feature of this material is that it is cast directly onto exterior wood, block, stone, masonry or stucco walls through the use of patented molds. Old homes, new homes, commercial buildings, etc., are all easily adaptable to Dura-Stone application.

Dura-Stone seals the exterior of your home or building so thoroughly with a cast stone "armor" that there is no infiltration of air from the exterior to the interior. The air space between the studs is protected by Dura-Stone from direct contact with the elements. This, together with the newly created dead-air space between the old wood siding and the Dura-Stone, eliminates the need of costly insulation in the side walls.

To a great many, the cost of natural stone is prohibitive. High quarry costs, transportation fees and erection estimates make its use generally associated only with homes of great initial cost. Dura-Stone, through its method of application by skilled Interstate Co. craftsmen, takes a "short cut" past these high costs. Thus, homeowners receive all the charm and dignity of natural stone through a cost-cutting cast stone veneering and molding process.

In addition to Dura-Stone, the Interstate Roofing & Siding Co. is also factory-approved applicators for Johns-Manville and Flintkote asbestos sidings and roofing materials.

The Interstate Roofing & Siding Co. cordially invites homeowners and property managers to visit their beautiful showroom and displays at 496 Piedmont Ave., N. E., near Pine St. Learn the facts about Dura-Stone before you decide. Or, telephone EM. 5636 (VE. 0894, nights and Sundays) for a courteous representative to call at your convenience. There is no obligation. Remember, a liberal budget-payment plan can be arranged to suit your requirements. FHA terms are available, and terms are offered with up to 15 years to pay. Dealers interested in a Dura-Stone franchise should contact the firm at the above address.

DURA-STONE FOR ADDED BEAUTY—With Dura-Stone, home owners receive all the charm and dignity of natural stone. To create unusual appeal, Interstate Roofing & Siding Company specialists used Dura-Stone for the patio and entrance of this lovely home, located at 1946 Palifox Dr., N. E. The Interstate firm, 496 Piedmont Ave., N. E., is exclusive Dura-Stone applicator in this area. Call EM. 5636 (VE. 0894, nights and Sunday) for full particulars.

New Motorless Refrigerator Is 'Yours for Years'

"Only Servel stays silent, lasts longer," said Harry H. Hurt, president of Georgia Distributors, Inc., in a special announcement today, calling attention to the Silver Anniversary line of Servel refrigerators.

Leading appliance dealers in Georgia are now showing the new Servel models in their display rooms. Incidentally, more and more families can now own a Servel refrigerator, as natural gas becomes available in greater volume throughout the various sections of the state.

"The purchase of a Servel refrigerator is an investment in the future," said Mr. Hurt. "The new 1951 Servel line represents the result of 25 years of research and development. Long after present fads and frills have gone out of style, the Servel Silver Anniversary line will remainn smart, attractive in any kitchen setting."

Modern motorless refrigeration keynotes Servel's exclusive design. Called "the modern miracle of ice from heat," there is not a single moving part in its entire freezing system. There is no machinery to wear out, nothing to grow noisy. Georgia Distributors, Inc., located at 754 Ponce de Leon Pl., N. E., is the Servel distributor for Georgia.

Eight handsome models make up Servel's Silver Anniversary line. There are two different models in the "Economy" group. They range in capacity from compact apartment-size models with six cubic feet of storage space to big family models with as much as 11½ cubic feet of space.

Another "first" for Servel is the 10-year warranty that the manufacturers have announced for every heat-operated refrigerator they make in 1951. This is the longest guarantee that any company has ever placed on an automatic refrigerator of any type.

"This 10-year warranty," said Mr. Hurt, "is backed by the proven performance of more than 3,500,000 Servel refrigerators that have been made and installed during the past 25 years. Many of the earliest models are still giving perfect, silent service after a quarter of a century."

COLD-SAVING CONVENIENCE—Less space outside, more space inside. It's one of Servel's new Silver Anniversary models (BR-1118). Sparkling '51 Servel models, distributed by Georgia Distributors, Inc., are now on display by dealers throughout the state.

To provide American families with additional storage space for increasingly popular frozen foods, every model in the silver anniversary line is equipped with a generous-sized freezer compartment. Three of the new models have a big horizontal, clear-across freezer compartment for ice cubes and frozen foods, and one of these —the Royal Tudor Model BR-1118 —has a separate outside door that provides direct access to the huge two-cubic-foot freezer compartment.

Mr. Hurt also announced that a few dealerships for the Servel line are still available in certain sections of the state. Interested dealers are invited to telephone EM. 5681, wire, write, or visit Georgia Distributors, Inc., 754 Ponce de Leon Pl., N. E.

Max Wright Features Low Cost Air Conditioning Here

'Cool Comfort' Gains Approval From Merchants

Cool comfort—so desirable and such a welcome relief especially on hot, humid days—is now enjoyed daily by patrons and employes at the Pickrick, popular drive-in restaurant at 891 Hemphill Ave., N. W., where De-Hu-Matic Temperature and Humidity Controlled Air Conditioning has been installed by Max Wright, Inc., local air conditioning specialists.

Wright's evaporative air conditioning already has won wholehearted approval among merchants, hotels, stores and other businesses throughout this section. Max Wright, head of the firm, points out that this air conditioning, engineered and installed by his firm, actually banishes sticky, summer heat and replaces it with fresh, cool, clean air—at a fraction of the cost of mechanical refrigeration.

"We help keep the South cool with the lowest priced air-conditioning in America today," stated Mr. Wright, in a special announcement. "With 17 models for homes, offices, and businesses of all types, we can guarantee satisfactory air conditioning at an amazing small cost, compared to a mechanical system."

It was also pointed out that the "Wright" air conditioning has an ideal ventilating system. This is particularly desirable in night clubs, restaurants and other places where people congregate in large rooms—churches, undertaker chapels, etc.—anywhere there is body heat to be considered. Health authorities agree that in such places the air should be changed and fresh, cooled air substituted at regular one-minute intervals.

Mr. Wright said that his equipment can be installed for any and everybody who wants cool, clean comfort for home or business. Incidentally, this air conditioning unit is easily and quickly installed. Extensive ductwork is rarely required. No added electric line is needed. Installations are completed without disturbing usual business routine.

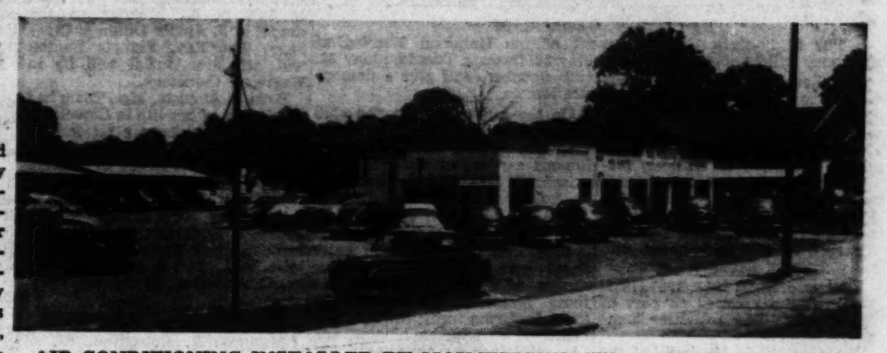

Another important feature is the simple thermal control. There are no electrical connections, no switches to hang or contact or points to bind. All parts are rust-proof and durable.

Remember—Max Wright's evaporative air conditioning saves you money, not only on the original investment, but also on operation and upkeep. Whether you be a manufacturer, merchant, professional man or homeowner, there is a unit for every air conditioning need.

If mechanical refrigeration is desired or required, Max Wright, Inc., carries a complete line of usAIRco units, recognized as one of the best established makes available.

For a free survey of your air conditioning requirements and complete, detailed information concerning price and cost of operation, call Max Wright, Inc., AL. 7471, nights and Sundays, VE. 7473. Write or visit the firm at 310 Ivy St., N. E. "Plan to do it without delay," urges Mr. Wright. "Let us show you how it is good business for you to provide healthful, efficient air conditioning for your patrons and friends.

"Don't wait until they start complaining about the heat!"

AIR CONDITIONING INSTALLED BY MAX WRIGHT—"We are highly pleased with the air conditioning and the service offered by Max Wright," says Lester Maddox, owner of the Pickrick, 891 Hemphill, N. W. Max Wright, Inc., AL. 7471, features complete air conditioning service, including engineering, installation and maintenance.

How To Get More Tire Miles? Have Them Recapped by Gordy

Recapping Shop One of Most Modern in South

With the national defense program restricting auto tire manufacture, motorists have been advised to conserve their present tires, to avert a possible shortage. One way to obtain extra mileage—as well as avoid the hazard of driving on smooth tires—is to have them recapped at Gordy Tire Company, whose recapping plant is recognized as one of the finest in the South.

Utilizing modern methods and techniques, the Gordy Tire Company recaps tires for any make and model car or truck and any size up to and including huge earth-mover tires. Their equipment includes 14 different size curing molds.

Located at 119 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., the Gordy recapping plant offers its services to dealers, garages, fleet operators and individual motorists. They feature 24-hour service. Firm officials emphasize that all workmen are factory trained, each thoroughly familiar with "what it takes" to do a satisfactory recapping job.

The Gordy recap shop uses cold rubber for recapping of both passenger and truck tires. The amazing development of cold rubber for recapping purposes adds thousands of miles to your tires. Cold rubber Thoro-Tred truck-type camelback, also used by Gordy, is made specifically for truck tires. To the sensational cold rubber compound is added the correct proportions of newly discovered carbon-toughening agents. This produces a camelback that will withstand the terrific punishment a truck tire takes—and still give longer mileage.

Gordy invites you to drive in for a free inspection of your tires. Remember—when a tire is worn too thin, it cannot be recapped and is worthless. Call ATwood 7531, or visit Gordy Tire Company, 119 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., corner Juniper St.

WORKING FOR MORE MILEAGE—Expert factory-trained workmen recap your tires in the Gordy recapping plant. Tires are recapped in all sizes up to and including 21.00x24 earth mover types. You are invited to drive in and see Gordy's recapping process yourself. Also, have your own tires inspected free.

EXPERT REPAIR WORK
Your Silverware Insured At Simmons Plating Works
When you leave your silverware at the Simmons Plating Works, on South Pryor street—or maybe you have what you regard a precious and valuable antique of some kind—just remember, every piece of such valuables is fully insured by the Simmons Company against any loss by the owner, and that protection is in force until the article is returned to you.
With that sort of satisfaction in your mind—and with the knowledge that any job of any kind of work entrusted to them is fully guaranteed to your satisfaction—then you can set your mind at rest on these two important things when you need repairs or refinishing on any of your silverware. A satisfied mind is worth-while when you entrust valuables to a concern—but with the Simmons firm there's nothing to worry about.
Does your silverware look a little worn or dented—does not have that bright silvery look? Or do you need some parts to replace what has disappeared in the years you have cherished perhaps a beautiful piece of silverware?
These are questions easily and simply answered. Just remember, that the Simmons Plating Works, 219 Pryor street, S. W., has always made a specialty of and maintained a department for making silverware parts which may have been broken or lost from any article. This department turns out a steady stream of handles, spouts, bases, lids and other parts to replace any of the missing parts to articles in your home, or to repair any number of such articles in large institutions such as hotels and large social clubs.
You pay only reasonable prices and get a guaranteed satisfactory job when you patronize this old and reliable concern that has definitely reached a top place in the leading plating concerns of the nation. Phone them at CY. 8646 and let them send a representative to your place of business or home and quote you a price for such work as you may desire to have done. There will be no obligation on your part.

Gammon Commencement Speakers Are Selected

By CLAUDE GEORGE, SR.

The Sixty-sixth Commencement of the Gammon Theological Seminary will be observed Sunday, May 20, through Tuesday, May 22.

The Rev. Noah W. Moore, pastor of the Tindley Temple, Philadelphia, will preach the Baccalaureate Sermon at 4 p. m. Sunday, after which the annual president's reception to trustees, faculty, seniors, alumni and friends will be held at the home of Dr. Harry V. Richardson, president, on the Gammon campus. The Rev. Moore later will be honored with the Doctor of Divinity degree.

Dr. George S. Mitchell, of the Southern Regional Council in Atlanta, will be the speaker at commencement exercises at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

The graduating class in which 13 men will receive Bachelor of Divinity degrees and three young women will get Master of Religious Education degrees, is one of the largest in the history of Gammon.

Among the honors to be bestowed during the exercises is one to the Rev. Robert W. Winchester, a member of the graduating class of 1901, who has worked continuously in the North Carolina Conference for many years.

M.R.S. Flower Show

The popular M. R. S. Club is making plans for the second annual city-wide flower show to be staged at the West Hunter Street Library from 5 to 8 p. m. Sunday, June 10.

The club, in preparation for the flower show, is presenting a program on flower arrangement at 8 p. m., May 18, at Davage Auditorium, Clark College. Mrs. Dudley Fort of Dudley's Florists in North Decatur will give instructions on flower arrangements, while Mrs. Mattie Greenwood, a club member, will give a demonstration.

On the same program, the club will present the film, "European Gardens," which shows in color famous gardens of Europe. Door prizes will be awarded. There will be no admission.

The Flower Show will be open to all interested individuals and groups who would like to enter floral arrangements. The four classes of arrangements are (1) those featuring one color; (2) those featuring roses; (3) arrangements of any Spring blooms, and (4) miniature arrangements not over three inches high.

The M. R. S. Club, an extension club of the YWCA, is composed of 20 young matrons, teachers, and other professional women. For additional information regarding the Flower Show, call Mrs. Marjorie Fowlkes, chairman of the Flower Show, or Mrs. Clara Reynolds, president of the club.

Ping Pong Tourney

The Recreation Center of the Radcliff Presbyterian Church is planning a ping-pong tournament Friday and Saturday with several other church recreational centers and the Butler Street YMCA taking part. The church, whose pastor is the Rev. Robert T. Newbold, is located at the junction of Houston, Fort and Irwin streets.

Carver Commencement

Te Rev. E. R. Searcy, pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, will be speaker at the Fifth Commencement exercises of the Carver Bible Institute, May 31, at Friendship Baptist Church. The graduating class is composed of 15 students.

The Bible Institute, founded in 1943 by Dr. Talmadge D. Payne, is located at 65 Haynes Street and has a staff of six full-time teachers and several volunteer teachers. Dr. Payne is director.

YMCA Nears Goal

The Butler Street YMCA will bring its 57th membership campaign to a close Monday. The organization was $7,000 short of its goal of $25,000 late last week, but "Y" officials hope the final report meeting at 7 p. m. Monday will show a decided increase.

The campaign for funds this year has been sparked by three teams — All-American, Nationals and All-Stars. According to the last report the All-Americans were leading.

Individual workers on the different teams who have attained their quota are Alex Harvey, Chief Aikin, Prof. W. L. Wheeler, T. M. Alexander, Robert R. Rankin, Ted Lewis, S. G. Sellers, W. L. Calloway and J. H. Calhoun.

MONEY
While You Wait
AUTO LOANS
The fastest and easiest way to get a loan is to borrow the money on your car. There is only one thing to do—park your car either in our lot or near our office, come in and show us proof of ownership. The entire transaction takes only a few minutes and you can drive away with the cash in your pocket. There is absolutely nothing else to it.
FURNITURE LOANS
SIGNATURE LOANS
You can get up to $1,000 on your signature. Immediate cash.
OTHER LOANS
No matter what type of loan you want, we make it a point to give you the money without delay.
We will be glad to reduce present payments on any loan or obligation you now have, and give you additional cash besides.

MONDAY MORNING PULPIT

Voting Booth Shaped By Sacrifice—Gibson

"Am I What I Vote For?" This sermon, preached in answer to this question, is one of a series which appear in the Monday Morning Pulpit. Dr. Gibson is heard on Thursday nights on "The Pastor's Study," a radio program of the Christian Council, on WSB, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday nights at 11:30 p. m.

By ARTHUR VANN GIBSON,
Pastor, Morningside Presbyterian Church

Last Fall, with more than a hundred of my neighbors, I stood in line two hours to vote. I reminded myself all the while there were many countries where I could not vote even if I should choose.

"It took thousands of years to shape that voting booth. Only by centuries of struggle was that lock fastened upon it to preserve my ballot in honor.

"One generation of men after another beat themselves against the door to this booth, and died upon its threshold before it opened to let me enter and choose my government.

"Dreamers and poets of liberty, martyrs and prophets of truth, soldiers and seamen, statesmen and philosophers, all who have labored and suffered in the costly human march toward freedom—these are my unseen companions beside this ballot box today."—Percy Haywood.

Dr. A. V. Gibson

He was right. You and I vote at tremendous cost. And here is the heartbreaking truth—hold onto your seats—

In 1944, a presidential year, only 18.8 per cent of eligible voters in Georgia voted.

In 1948, a presidential year, only 21.8 per cent of eligible voters in Georgia voted.

I hear a great deal today about graft and dishonesty in politics and government. Votes sell for a dollar, and people admit it. Names are voted off tombstones. Officeholders, we hear, are selected by party gangs before election.

If these things be true, who is to blame?

If men in office are dishonest, who is to blame?

Do we really want better government? We can have it if we will. Some thought woman suffrage was to be the salvation of politics. Things have grown progressively worse despite the efforts of women. If we refuse to vote, we vote nevertheless, and we vote for graft and corruption. We are what we vote for, in a very real sense. Do you remember the parable of the trees in Judges?

The trees went forth on a time to anoint a king over them; and they said unto the olive tree, Reign thou over us. But the olive tree said unto them, Should I leave my fatness, wherewith by me they honor God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees?

And the trees said to the fig tree, Come thou, and reign over us.

But the fig tree said unto them, Should I forsake my sweetness and my good fruit, and go to be promoted over the trees?

Then said the trees unto the vine, Come thou and reign over us. And the vine said unto them, Should I leave my wine which cheereth God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees?

Then said all the trees unto the bramble, Come thou, and reign over us. And the bramble said unto the trees, If in truth ye anoint me king over you, then come and put your trust in my shadow; and if not, let fire come out of the bramble, and devour the cedars of Lebanon.

Christians must accept responsibility as citizens—both as voters and as candidates for public office.

We can support measures that make for better government.

We can be careful to be Christian (which means starting now to train for the next election) when we come to the voting booth.

Democracy is the child of Christianity's doctrine of the worth of the individual. We do not need politics in religion, but religion into politics. God is looking to see if we are worthy of freedom. If you and I disregard our freedom, it will be taken away.

RELIGION IN GEORGIA

Confusion Indicated In Salvation Search

By THOMAS M. ELLIOTT

Church papers from all over the land indicate great confusion in the religious world as well as in the industrial and civic realms. This confusion is so persistent that a "pore" sinner finds it difficult to choose his way of salvation.

Group antagonizes group, one church works against another; fundamentalists and modernists are at loggerheads. There is a chasm as wide as the Grand Canyon between decisions as to what is moral and what is immoral. Different ways to salvation are offered, either through the blood of the Lamb or through somebody's church or ritualism. If one group says a thing is wrong, another group says it is okay.

If one group says the Holy Bible is God's word of salvation, somebody else says to the contrary. Men today seemingly can write their own Bibles. Where God says "ye must be born again," others say you must go by way of some special church. What is a "pore" sinner to do? Must this needless confusion continue?

In the meantime the forces of evil work 24 hours daily to promote substitutes and scatter confusion. Georgia has its quota of 57 varieties of "Christianity," none of which are of any avail, unless they are founded on the one Foundation that is empowered by the one Spirit from above.

Suppose we Georgians get wise, set the world a good example, and set aside so much of what Josh Billings calls "damphoolishness."

Unbroken Scriptures

In vain have I sought for one instance where John's Gospel, 10:35, is not true. John says "The Scripture cannot be broken." This is a marvelous thing, truly established in human history. Men disregard and violate Scripture teachings, but nobody yet has ever broken them. Sooner or later, in some way or other, those Scriptures rebound, and men are broken instead. This is happening today, and will happen tomorrow. And in Georgia, too.

God's Holy Bible is the one miracle book known among men. That's the wonder of it. Almost any mother's child can produce a book of some kind, but they are not miracle books like the Holy Bible that God wrote and inspired. Remember Hitler's book of 10 years ago, that he swore would set the world standards for a thousand years? Where is it now? You won't have to take off your shoes to count the total number of people who now pay any attention to what Hitler said. Hitler tried to tear up and destroy God's word; but the effort exploded in his face. Sic semper tyrannis!

The marvel that mystifies me is how that divine word of God has come to be fulfilled exactly, and is now in process of fulfillment on schedule time. Men scoffed at God's prewritten history, just as of today. Put history and Scripture in parallel columns, and check them. Every detail prewritten for the years up to now has been executed. If the Crescent Limited from New York to New Orleans, with a hundred scheduled stops along the way, makes 95 percent of them on schedule time, I am inclined to believe it will make the remaining ones the same way.

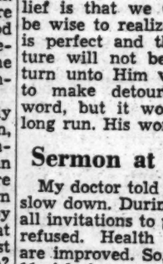

Just so with God's Holy Bible. As for me and my house, we will go along with that book of books. You don't have to add to it, or take away from it. My ardent belief is that we Georgians would be wise to realize that God's law is perfect and that God's Scripture will not be broken, or return unto Him void. We say try to make detours around God's word, but it won't work in the long run. His word alone is truth.

Sermon at Chamblee

My doctor told me a year ago to slow down. During this 12 months all invitations to preach have been refused. Health conditions now are improved. So, next Sunday at 11 o'clock, at the Chamblee Methodist Church, I shall again make the assault with intent to preach, and shall use as my subject, "Bible Teachings as to Heartfelt Sin and Heartfelt Religion." I don't know much about either of them; neither do you. But we can study the Bible teachings about them. If you never had an opportunity to hear me preach, next Sunday at Chamblee will be your chance. Eph. 5:16.

Navy Transfers Comdr. Johnson

Lt. Cmdr. Johnson

Lt. Comdr. R. T. Lampshire will relieve Comdr. Johnson May 23.

Comdr. Johnson has been engaged in private, commercial and military flying since 1925. He served with the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1941-42 and with the U. S. Navy ferry service in the United States, the Mariannas and Marshall Islands in 1944-45. He was executive officer of the Naval Air Auxiliary Station at Charlestown, R. I., in 1945-46.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

PRACTICAL PROGRAM CITED

Boulder Crest School Learns Healthy Living

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

Edward Grier Dick, principal of the school, said purpose of the program was "to make health a living reality—not just something taken from textbooks."

For example:

Boulder Crest pupils learn they should eat fresh vegetables . . . and they eat them. They learn they should wash their hands before meals . . . and they wash them. They learn they should cover their mouths when coughing or sneezing . . . and they cover them.

Dick said youngsters in the school meet once a week, discuss health problems and make plans for a "functional" health program.

COUNCIL MEETS MONTHLY

He said he believed the program at Boulder Crest also was "unusual" in that each class in the school was represented by a pupil on a Health Council which meets monthly to co-ordinate planning for better health.

Dr. T. O. Vinson, DeKalb County health officer, a public health nurse, the school dietitian, parents and teachers also are on the Council which works in cooperation with all health agencies in the community.

Dick said a card is kept on each child in the school, listing his height, weight and physical defects, if any.

GIVEN MEDICAL AID

Children who need medical care and are not able to afford it are sent to Grady Hospital, he pointed out. Those who can't afford nourishing school lunches are given them free through the federal assistance program. Children with eye defects unable to afford treatment are given it through the help of Lions clubs and other civic groups.

The health program at Boulder Crest School, which has 785 pupils, was considered so outstanding that it received recognition from the Parent-Teacher organization of the 13th district.

But the school does not plan to rest on its laurels.

He said a health workshop would be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the school. A public health doctor and nurse, parents and teachers will discuss plans and objectives for next year. Dick said any interested persons were invited to attend.

Atlanta SAE Men To Meet Thursday

The Atlanta Alumni Association of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity will hold a dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. Thursday at Peacock Alley on Peachtree Rd. Films will be shown by Lamar Wise, secretary of the Association.

Miss DeKalb To Be Picked

The DeKalb County Junior Chamber of Commerce will pick the county's representative to the annual Miss Georgia pageant at 8:30 p. m. Monday in the studio of Radio Station WGLS.

Candidates for the Miss DeKalb County title must be between 18 and 28 years of age. Entries may be made by calling Jack Anderson, chairman of the event in DeKalb County, at DEarborn 5673 or CRescent 7493.

Eucalyptus to Shade Platypus Honeymoon

NEW YORK, May 13—(AP). Time out for love was called today for this country's only platypuses—Cecil and Penelope.

The Bronx Zoo said that its two duckbilled, furry little animals won't go on public display as usual this Summer, but will go instead to a special, secluded "honeymoon cottage."

The cottage—or nest—will be made of eucalyptus leaves in a new move to encourage the platypuses to end their boycott on breeding which has continued since they were brought here in 1947. They use eucalyptus leaves for nesting material in their native Australia.

2 More Enter Council Race

Two more Atlantans, Edgar W. Wilson and C. Eugene Gilbert, have announced their candidacies for councilmanic seats of territories coming into the city under the Plan of Improvement.

Wilson, President of the West End Business Men's Association, seeks the Ninth Ward's Council post in the primary Sept. 12. Gilbert, president of the Northwest Atlanta Business Association, will run for the Eighth Ward's Alderman position.

Wilson, a merchant who lives at 1478 Willis Mill Rd., S. W., was graduated from old Boys High School and attended the University of Georgia. He was in personnel and public relations work before entering business in West End. He is justice of the peace for the 176th militia district, secretary of the Greater Atlanta Poultry Breeders' Association and served as chairman of the Adams Park Recreation Committee.

Gilbert, an attorney, resides at 1830 Fernwood Road, N. W. He was graduated from Mercer University and the University of Georgia. He received his law degree from the Atlanta Law School and has practiced in the northwest section for several years.

Gilbert served in the Pacific and European theaters in World War II and is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.
